CURTAIN DEPARTMENT.
This department is one of the most important in our establishment. In addition to the LARGE and varied STOCK at all times kept in this branch, fresh NOVELTIES are constantly being received from our home buyers, who frequently visit the most important manufactories, both in Great Britain and on the Continent, whereby we are enabled to place before the public goods never yet seen in the southern hemisphere, choice specimens of beauty in design and colours, realising the production of the old school of Flemish weaver. We believe no FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT can show so choice and extensive a stock of curtains. Our prices range from 4s 6d to £90, and our ability in being able to place before the public such a collection at the LOW PRICES quoted, is attributable only to the large demand and our increasing trade in these goods. In some of the latest shipments received, we would draw special attention to LACE CURTAINS for summer use. Amongst these will be found patterns to suit all tastes, and colours to harmonise with carpets and decorations. It is unanimously agreed among art critics that Eastern designs and colours offer a more varied means of decoration than the production of the Western world. CURTAINS of a pattern resembling the renowned fabrics of the East, woven in soft red, browns, peacock greens, light olive, indigo blue, buffs and chocolates, on dark and light grounds, are to be had in various qualities in richness and quality of texture, in price from 25s to 45s.
Another curtain of unexceptionable value is the ORIENTAL CROSS STRIPE. Skilfully-arranged tones of soft colours succeed one another in horizontal bands across the curtain, edged and finished with a tasselled fringe, the design on each side being equally perfect. Artistic and bold combinations of colour, old gold, golden yellows, indigo blues, soft silvery black, Indian reds, and warm browns, in prices from 4s 6d.
A few very choice specimens rich in tints, parti-colours, wide-banded stripes, interwoven with gold thread and tinsel suitable for Portieres, Door Hangings, &c.
FOR LINOLEUMS, PLAIN or FIGURED, SEE OUR GRAND STOCK.

TAPESTRY CURTAINS.
HANDSOME SILK AND WOOL TAPESTRIES in many and beautiful designs, with rich dados and borders in old gold, olive green, sage and lichen green, salmon colour, beautiful Indian pinks, peacock blue, electric, indigo, and turquoise blue, chocolate, and warm browns, carmine, and subdued reds, woven designs in natural and conventional foliage after the Japanese, Indian, Syrian, Arabesque, and Byzantine styles, 105s to £9 9s
A VERY CHOICE CURTAIN, silk and wool of fine texture, woven in self-colours of olive greens and soft browns, in bold designs, rivalling the ancient Gobelin Tapestry; price, £5 5s to £8 10s per pair
A SUPERBLY ELEGANT CURTAIN for drawing-room is a silk and plush, designed in the Adam's Style (corresponds well with the new fashionable furniture of that style). The centre space of richly-damasked silk, dado and border divided by plush bands and panelled out in appropriate designs in self-colours, golden yellows, old gold, peacock blue, &c. A similar Curtain, dado and border, with alternate horizontal bands of plush and damasked silk, exceedingly effective; price, from £9 9s to £20
A Large and Important Stock, consisting of Silk Chenille, Persian Pile Curtains, &c., &c.; exceedingly rich in colour and design, being copies of Ispahan, Farahan, and other Persian Art Fabrics
NEW ART CURTAINS, in favourite shades, intermixed with gold, 10s 6d per pair
HANDSOME ORIENTAL CROSS-STRIPE TAPESTRY CURTAINS, woven with gold thread, fringed, 3½ yards long, 16s 6d, 17s 6d, 21s; also, a superior quality, very rich in colour, 35s 6d to 45s
MOORISH AND EASTERN (design) Tapestry Curtains, with dado and border; principal colour—Reds, Browns, Beds, &c., on dark grounds, 3½ yards long, 21s, 25s, 28s 6d, 30s, 35s, 40s, 45s, 50s, 57s 6d, 63s, 66s, 72s, and upwards; the higher priced ones are unequalled in richness of colour. A Curtain similar in every respect, 4 yards long, from 90s, 105s, to 6 guineas and 7 guineas per pair
REVERSIBLE TAPESTRY Curtains, very strong and durable, in Oriental colourings, from 21s to 60s
SPECIAL TAPESTRY Curtains, with dado and border, conventional foliage, rich colourings, exceedingly effective, 105s, 115s, 126s. These Curtains contain many beautiful designs, treated in the Japanese, Arabesque, and other styles
TAPESTRY CURTAINS, in Silk and Wool, with dado and border, in Gothic and Byzantine styles, from £3 to
ELEGANT Tapestry Curtains, in artistic designs and superb colourings, with dado borders, with and without gold thread, 3½ and 4 yards long, from 65s and upwards
HANDSOME CHENILLE Curtains, rich Indian Colourings, plain centre, beautiful designs in dado and border, 45s to £20 per pair
SILK CHENILLE Curtains of superior design and colour, very durable
PERSIAN PILE Curtains, in rich Persian designs, leading colours—deep indigo blues, crimsons, browns, and olive greens in subdued tones, from £5 10s to £13 10s

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES. ECCLESIASTICAL JURISDICTION. In the Estate, Goods, Chattels, Credits, and Effects of GEORGE HOFFMAN, late of Darling-street, Balmain, in the colony of New South Wales, Gentleman, deceased, Intestate.
PURSUANT to the Trust Property Act of 1862, Notice is hereby given that all Creditors and other persons having any Debt or Claim upon or affecting the Estate of the abovenamed deceased, who died on or about the 20th day of September last, are hereby required to send in full particulars thereof to the Administrator, under cover to the undersigned, on or before the 24th day of December next, after which date the said Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased amongst the persons entitled thereto, having regard to the debts and claims only of which he shall then have notice; and he will not be liable for the assets so distributed to any person of whose debt or claim he shall not have had notice at the time of such distribution. Dated at Sydney this twentieth day of November, A.D. 1889. JONES and JONES, Proctors for the Administrator, Lincoln's Inn-chambers, 38, Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES. IN BANKRUPTCY. Re FITZ ALAN BOYD, ex parte THE NATIONAL BANK OF AUSTRALASIA.
To FITZ ALAN BOYD, of 27, Castlereagh-street.
TAKE NOTICE that a Bankruptcy Notice has been issued against you by the National Bank of Australasia, and the Registrar has ordered that the publication of this notice in the Sydney Morning Herald newspaper, and a copy of the Bankruptcy Notice enclosed in an envelope addressed to you at 27, Castlereagh-street, Sydney, and duly registered, shall be deemed to be service of the Bankruptcy Notice upon you: And, further, take notice that, if you intend to show cause against such Bankruptcy Notice, you must do so within four days from the publication hereof as aforesaid. The Bankruptcy Notice can be inspected by you on application at this Court. Dated this twenty-third day of November, 1889. WANT, JOHNSON, and CO., Solicitors for the National Bank of Australasia, Hunter-street, Sydney.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES. ECCLESIASTICAL JURISDICTION. In the Will and Codicil of DANIEL REGAN, late of Tamworth, in the colony of New South Wales, Storekeeper, deceased.
NOTICE is hereby given that the Accounts of the Executors of the Will and Codicil of the abovenamed deceased have this day been filed in my office, Supreme Courthouse, King-street, Sydney, and all persons having any claim on the said Estate, or being otherwise interested therein, are hereby required to come in before me, at my said office, on or before the ninth day of December next, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, and inspect the same, and, if they shall think fit, object thereto; otherwise, if the said accounts be not objected to, the same will be examined by me and passed according to law. Dated this twenty-first day of November, A.D. 1889. G. W. GARRETT (L.S.), Registrar. URQUHART AND STEEL, Proctors for the Executors, 48, Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

THE difference between advertising in the papers that WILL pay you and those that won't amounts to more in hard cash than any possible saving by competitive bids. The ability to produce BEST EFFECTS in LEAST SPACE makes money for the advertiser in two ways: while it increases the value it reduces the cost. To select the papers requires knowledge; to prepare the advertisement, skill; add to this commercial integrity, and you have all the essentials of success. If you think so, and are looking for a firm to place your advertising with, possessing such qualifications, we should like you to call or write. F. T. WIMBLE and CO., 15, Post Office-chambers.

FIRST.
That clause 37 of the Articles of Association be amended by the addition of the following words:—Provided always that any preferent shares issued under this clause may secure such preferential privileges, and such arrangement may be made for the retirement and absorption of the same as may be resolved on at such extraordinary general meeting as aforesaid.

SECOND.
That the capital of the Company be increased to £105,000 in accordance with clause 37 as amended of the Articles of Association by the creation and issue of £5000 in shares of £1 each, in the manner and with the preferential privileges following, that is to say:—
The 5000 new shares of £1 each to be created by this resolution shall be called preferent shares, and the holders of the said shares shall be entitled, in the event of the dissolution or the winding up of the Company, to the payment of the amount of the said shares or such amount as may have been paid on account of them at that time, out of the assets of the company, in preference to the holders of shares into which the original capital of the company was divided.
During the continuance of the company, a dividend, after the rate of fifteen pounds per centum per annum, shall be paid on the amount from time to time paid up in respect of such preferent shares at every half-yearly general meeting of the shareholders of the company, out of the net profits of the company, if such profits shall be sufficient; and if such profits shall not be sufficient in any half-year to pay a dividend at such rate on such preferent shares, then the same, or the amount deficient, shall be paid out of the future net profits of the company, and until so paid shall be a charge thereon.
The said preferent shares shall be first offered to the shareholders on the register of the company at par, in terms of Clause 38 of the Articles of Association.
The application of each shareholder for the said preferent shares shall be accompanied by a payment of one shilling per share. An allotment call of one shilling per share shall be payable on allotment, after payment of which the Board of Directors shall issue scrip for the said preferent shares. Any future calls on the said shares may be made by the board for the purposes of the company, in sums not exceeding one shilling each, and at intervals of not less than one month.
By order of the Board.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY, NOVEMBER 25.

In Banco.—(Before their Honors Mr. Justice WINDEYER, Mr. Justice STEPHEN, and Mr Justice FOSTER.)

FRASER V. PHENIX FIRE COMPANY.

In the absence of the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice WINDEYER delivered the reserved judgment of the Court, who heard the above appeal (consisting of the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Windeyer, and Mr. Justice Stephen), in the above appeal. This was a motion to enter a verdict for the plaintiff for £2750 in an action upon a fire policy for £3000. At the trial before the Chief Justice, His Honor formally directed a verdict for the defendant, with leave, by consent, to the plaintiff to move to enter the verdict for £2750. It was further arranged between the parties that all documents and all oral evidence tendered should be admitted, and that it should then be left to the Court to determine what was legal evidence in the case, and that from such legal evidence the Court should be at liberty to draw the same inferences of fact as a jury would be legally entitled to do. A plea of nul tiel corporation, to plead which leave was given at the trial, having been, at the suggestion of the Court, very properly given up, the only facts proved in evidence which are necessary for the consideration of the question before us are the following:—The defendant company's real name is the Phœnix Assurance Company of London. They carry on business in Sydney through the agency of W. H. Mackenzie and Co., who act for the defendants under a power of attorney authorising them to sign such policies of insurance against loss or damage by fire on buildings or ships as they may judge for the interests of the company, provided that no such policy should be subscribed or issued unless upon one of the printed forms transmitted from the head office in London. No power, it will be observed, is here given to W. H. Mackenzie and Co. to bind the defendant company in any other way than by the issue of a policy upon one of the printed forms of the defendant company. The plaintiff was the owner of an hotel at Broken Hill, of which one Elliott was the tenant, and one Willsmer, who at the time of the trial was dead, acted there as the agent for the defendant company. His duty as such agent was simply to receive proposals of insurance for the district of Broken Hill, subject to certain instructions received by him on his appointment as agent by W. H. Mackenzie and Co., and which, as far as they are material to the consideration of the case, were in the following terms:—"Proposals: When a proposal for insurance is being made, care must be taken to see that the form is filled up with accuracy in every particular; and in all cases where practicable, you will be required to make a personal inspection of the risk proposed to be insured, and fill up the survey form with the particulars as indicated therein, and any other information which you may think of value in estimating the risk, giving a ground plan of the block with all the company's risks marked thereon, as per specimen attached hereto. You will also be expected to state your opinion on the following points:—(a) The character of the proposer and apparent bona-fides of the transaction. (b) The danger likely to be apprehended from the nature and occupation of the adjoining buildings. (c) The rate which in your opinion should be charged. Completion: As soon as you have made the survey, you will forward both survey and proposal to this office, where it will be immediately dealt with, and an answer sent you without delay. Interim receipts: These will be sent on receipt of advice that proponent is satisfied with rate. But on no account is the receipt to be handed over until the premium is paid." For the discharge of his duties as agent he was paid by a commission on new premiums retained by the company, and by a commission on renewals. On the 1st September, 1888, Willsmer, having asked the plaintiff if he wanted the hotel insured, was informed by him that he did, for £3000, but he would not give more than £1 per cent. for it. Willsmer on the 8th September sent the following telegram to Mackenzie:—"Wire lowest price, £3000, on Elliott's two-story hotel, Argent-street; stone and brick throughout, weatherboard ceilings, thirty-one (31) rooms, cost £8000, iron and weatherboard buildings adjoining." To this Mackenzie replied:—"Accept £3000, Elliott's hotel, at fifteen shillings per cent." At this time W. H. Mackenzie and Co. knew nothing of Fraser, the plaintiff, and they never heard of his existence till after the hotel was burnt on the 5th November. Willsmer having received this telegram went to Fraser and told him that he was in a position to accept at 20s. per cent., at the same time showing him the first line of Mackenzie's telegram—"Accept £3000, Elliott's Hotel," but concealing the second line as to the price, which he said was private. The plaintiff then went through the hotel with Willsmer, and showed it to him. This being done a proposal form of the defendant Company was produced by Willsmer, which was filled up by him, Fraser answering the necessary questions put to him by Willsmer. The proposal form being then signed by Fraser, Willsmer asked him for a cheque for £30, upon which Fraser asked him for a receipt, which Willsmer said he would give him if a cheque was given. The cheque, however, was not then given, as Elliott, who was not present, was to pay the premium. Willsmer having then left Broken Hill for a short time appears to have authorised one Agnew (with whom he was dividing the commission on this premium) to close the transaction with the plaintiff. His letter to Agnew is as follows:—"Argent-street, Broken Hill, September 12, 1888.—Dear Agnew,—Fraser has agreed to give me 20s. per cent. re Elliott's Hotel, you close with him as I will be away. Have left my receipt with you and when you receive cheque give it to him and forward amount less commission to W. H. Mackenzie and Co., Bond-street, Sydney. Yours, &c., F. J. Willsmer." The document which he left with Agnew was as follows:—"Phœnix Fire Office, Bond-street, Sydney, September 12, 1888. Mr. Fraser. Dear Sir,—The above company having accepted, I have this day insured against fire main building of Elliott's Hotel, Argent-street, for three thousand pounds (£3000), risk to have effect and policy to be dated from the 28th instant, and to be in your name. I also hereby acknowledge having received the sum of thirty pounds (£30), being premium on above amount at rate of 20s. per hundred pounds. F. J. Willsmer, local agent." Agnew, on the 12th September, having received from Fraser Elliott's cheques for £26 5s. and £3 15s., the latter being no doubt for the commission, gave him the document above set out, which Willsmer had left with him. Agnew then sent a cheque for £26 5s. to Mackenzie, with the following letter:—"Broken Hill, September 15, 1888. The Manager Phœnix Fire Office, Sydney. Dear Sir,—Herewith is cheque value £26 5s. for insurance of £3000 at 20s. less commission on Elliott's Hotel, kindly issue policy dated 28th September, and forward at once. Stamp duty will be forwarded you at once. Faithfully yours, Fred. J. Willsmer, per B. A." Mackenzie having on the 24th September apparently received this, telegraphed to Willsmer, "Please send proposal for Elliott's Hotel by return post," and on the same day wrote as follows:—"Memorandum for F. J. Willsmer, Esq., Broken Hill. Dear Sir,—Your letter of the 15th instant to hand and contents noted. We thank you for cheque enclosed therein, and this morning wired you to send down proposal for Elliott's Hotel by the next post. Yours faithfully, W. H. Mackenzie and Co., general agents." No answer either by telegram or letter seems to have been sent by Willsmer to these requests for the proposal, and on the 12th October Mackenzie again telegraphed to Willsmer, "Company will not be liable for Elliott's Hotel until we receive proposal." This letter, and the letter and telegram sent by Mackenzie on September 24, taken in connection with the fact that Willsmer did not write or telegraph in reply saying that the proposal had been sent, go to show that no proposal was received by Mackenzie with the cheque, though Agnew, who admitted that no proposal was sent by him with the letter containing the cheque, swore that a proposal signed by Frazer was sent in an envelope the same day. As, moreover, Mackenzie swears that he never received the proposal, and was asserting that he never received it before any dispute arose between the parties, and as Willsmer never wrote or telegraphed to say it had been sent, we come to the conclusion that Mackenzie never did receive it, as he swears. On the night of the 5th November Elliott's Hotel was burnt, and on the morning of the 6th Mackenzie, before he heard of the fire (as he swears), sent the following telegram to Willsmer:—"No proposal has yet been received on Elliott's property as to what was required to be insured. The proceeds of his cheque have been held in abeyance since September 24, awaiting this information." The plaintiff now argues that, though no proposal has been received by Mackenzie, and no policy has been entered into by him, the defendants are liable upon the contract which he contends was made by Willsmer. As it is quite clear that Willsmer only had authority to receive proposals, which it was his duty to send to W. H. Mackenzie and Co. for their consideration and approval or rejection, it is impossible for the plaintiff to succeed, unless he can show that Willsmer had express authority to enter into a contract with him, and it has accordingly been contended on behalf of the plaintiff that this authority is contained in the telegram of the 8th September, containing the words, "Accept three thousand Elliott's Hotel." The inability of W. H. Mackenzie and Co. as agents to delegate such authority as they possessed to Willsmer, and their further inability to issue any policy except on one of the printed forms of the defendant company as provided by their power of attorney, making it a fortiori impossible for them to authorise Willsmer to enter into such a contract of insurance as they themselves were expressly precluded from making, would alone constitute in our opinion a complete answer to the plaintiff's case. We are, however, further of opinion that the telegram relied upon, as a matter of fact, did not give any authority to Willsmer to make a contract of insurance with the plaintiff. The meaning of the telegram sent by Mackenzie must be gathered from the telegram to which it is an answer. That telegram was simply an inquiry what the lowest rate was for which Mackenzie would insure Elliott's Hotel. Knowing what Willsmer's limited authority was, Mackenzie would simply infer from the inquiry that Willsmer wished to know the lowest rate which, if a proposal was made, the person proposing to insure could expect Mackenzie to take. It in no way informed Mackenzie that the plaintiff was even making a proposal to insure. For all that Mackenzie knew the information was simply required to enable some person to make up his mind whether he would send in a proposal to the defendant company, or to enable Willsmer to canvass a person likely to insure. As far as it gave Mackenzie any information as to the person who was thinking of making a proposal, the inference which he would probably draw from the telegram was that it was one Elliott who was proposing to insure, and from the terms of Mackenzie's telegram of November 6 referring to Elliott's cheque it would appear that he thought so. The telegram certainly gave no authority to Willsmer to make a contract specifically with Frazer, the plaintiff, and looking at the peculiar character of a contract of insurance and the amount of personal trust that is reposed by the insurer in the insured, it would be absurd to regard the telegram as a general authority to Willsmer to make a contract of that character with anyone that Willsmer chose to make a contract with. Yet, if the plaintiff's contention is correct, Willsmer would have had authority to make a contract for £3000 on Elliott's Hotel with any person who had an insurable interest in it, though he might have been tried and convicted of arson, with a view to defrauding an insurance company. The conduct of Willsmer, moreover, in getting the plaintiff to answer the necessary questions for the purpose of filling up a proposal form and then procuring his signature to it, and in forwarding it, as it is said, to W. H. Mackenzie and Co., all go to show that he understood the telegram, as W. H. Mackenzie and Co. intended him to understand it, simply as an authority to receive a proposal for £3000, and to deal with it in the ordinary way. It is undoubtedly a hardship upon the plaintiff that he has been brought into the position in which he is by Willsmer's misrepresentation that his proposal had been accepted, as well as by his lulling him perhaps into a false security by giving him a receipt which the plaintiff contends amounts to a contract of insurance, but it would be equally a hardship to insurance companies if they could be rendered liable by such unauthorised proceedings. The case in some respects is not unlike that of Linford v. the Provincial Horse and Cattle Insurance Company (10 Jur., N. S., 1066). In that case as here the plaintiff paid a premium to an agent who had authority simply to receive proposals, and at the same time signed a proposal form supplied to the agent by the defendant company, upon which the agent gave him a receipt in these words:—"On account of the Provincial Horse and Cattle Insurance Company, (Limited) Nottingham. Received of Mr. Linford, of Hedge's Grove, Hackney, the sum of 35s., insurance for cows." The plaintiff never having received a policy and some of his stock having died, on writing to the defendant company discovered that his proposal had never been forwarded to them. Having filed a bill in Equity to compel the company to grant him a policy of insurance, the bill was dismissed. Sir J. Romilly, M.R., in giving judgment, said:—"The question is whether the agent of an insurance company has authority, by the mere fact of agency, to enter into a contract to grant a policy of insurance without the sanction and approbation of the directors of the company; and whether, if he undertakes to grant such a policy, the company are bound to grant the policy. In my opinion that is not within the scope of the agent's authority. The duty of the company is to investigate the proposal made, and the officer who stands behind the counter, or behind the desk, is as much their agent as the person who acts as their agent in the adjoining town or in London. In all these cases he is an agent to receive the proposal, and to inform the person who makes it of the decision to which the directors come; but he has no authority to say when he receives the money that the policy shall be granted. It may be that such an officer receiving money on behalf of the company would discharge a debtor, but the money which the agent received was the premium for a policy to be granted, and the paper which the plaintiff signed shows that he agreed to pay the premium in exchange for the policy." As the proposal form which the plaintiff in this case signed evidently contemplated the issue of a policy, and as the receipt given by Willsmer spoke of a policy to be dated the 28th instant, it was the duty of the plaintiff, in the protection of his own interests, when he did not receive it within a reasonable time, to apply to Mackenzie for it, when he would have discovered that his proposal had not been received. It cannot be too frequently impressed upon persons seeking to bind others, through the action of agents purporting to act with authority, that they must satisfy themselves of the extent of the authority which the agent has, and that the misfortune must be theirs if they are betrayed into a loss by not having found out how far the agent is competent to contract with them as he professes to do. The observations on this subject of Lord Cranworth in the case of Pole v. Leask (33 L. J., ch. 155) are most pertinent to cases of this kind:—"Another proposition to be kept constantly in view is, that the burden of proof is on the person dealing with anyone as agent, through whom he seeks to charge another as principal. He must show that the agency did exist, and that the agent had the authority he assumed to exercise, or otherwise that the principal is stopped from disputing it. Unless this principle is strictly acted upon, great injustice may be the consequence; for anyone dealing with a person assuming to act as agent for another can always save himself from loss or difficulty by applying to the alleged principal to learn whether the agency does exist, and to what extent. The alleged principal has no similar mode of protecting his interest. He may be ignorant of the fact that anyone is assuming to act for him, or that persons are proposing to deal with another under the notion that that other is his agent. It is, therefore, important to recollect constantly where the burden of proof lies. . . . The prudent course for anyone dealing with a person acting as the agent of another is to require from the principal a distinct statement as to how far the agency extends. The person dealing with the agent has always in his own power the means of protecting himself, which cannot be said of the party sought to be charged as principal." In this case, the plaintiff having failed to establish that Willsmer had any authority to make a contract of insurance binding upon the defendant company, or to give the kind of interim receipt which is given when an insuring company has accepted a proposal, clearly cannot recover upon the strength of the contract, of which the receipt given by Willsmer is put forward as evidence; that receipt moreover not being an interim insurance, but expressly stating that the risk was to commence at a future date, and not being the kind of interim receipt given by W. H. Mackenzie and Company when one is issued. It will be seen upon examination that the case of Rossiter v the Trafalgar Life Assurance Company, 27 Bear., 377, has no real analogy to this. In that case there was no evidence to show that the proposal had not been received by Constable, the Sydney agent who stood in the place occupied by W. H. Mackenzie and Co. in the case before us, and all the other documents required substantially complying with the power of attorney under which Constable acted, the Court held that the contract was not only complete, but had been ratified by the defendant company. In this case it is clear that W. H. Mackenzie and Co. only received the money paid by the plaintiff conditionally to their acceptance or rejection of the proposal, according to the custom in such cases, and it is only fair to the defendant company to point out that the defence which they now set up, founded upon the fact that no proposal was received by them, was foreshadowed long before the fire took place. On receiving the cheque their agents, W. H. Mackenzie and Co., both wrote and telegraphed for the proposal, and not receiving it after a month's delay, they again telegraphed, pointing out that they would not be liable until it was forwarded. This telegram strongly corroborates Mackenzie's evidence that at the time he sent his telegram of the 6th November he had not heard of the fire, and that evidence we see no reason for disbelieving. So far, therefore, from there being any evidence of ratification of Willsmer's action in assuming to bind them, of which action indeed, as far as it can be argued that it did so assume, they were ignorant. W. H. Mackenzie and Co. seem all along to have been pointing out the necessity of their receiving a proposal, and to have been carefully asserting their freedom from any supposed liability till it should be received. As the Chief Justice reports that the reference to the Court was made solely with a view to the settlement of the case upon the question of insurance or no insurance, the rule must be discharged; but we presume that the defendants will, in the settlement of costs, give the plaintiff credit for the £30 which W. H. Mackenzie and Co. tendered to him, but which he refused to accept, and the non-payment of which into Court was an oversight that might have been remedied at the trial by allowing a plea to that effect. For the foregoing reasons the rule is discharged, with costs.

TRUSTEES, EXECUTORS, AND AGENCY COMPANY, LIMITED, V. SHORT.

Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Davis and Ames, appeared for the defendant, John Henry Short, and moved for a rule nisi for a new trial. The action, which was tried before Mr. Justice Windeyer and a jury of four in June last, was one of ejectment to obtain possession of 90 acres of land on Salt Pan Creek, Belmore. A verdict was returned for the plaintiff, and it was now sought to have the verdict set aside and entered for defendant, or a new trial ordered, on the ground that the verdict was against evidence and the weight of evidence.

Mr. Stephen submitted that the evidence on behalf of the defendant showed as strong a case of exclusive possession for 20 years as could possibly be proved. The evidence proved that there had been a grant of 90 acres of land, part of a grant of 120 acres at Salt Pan Creek, to one Frederick Meredith, and many years ago he mortgaged it to Dr. Henderson, and the plaintiffs represented Dr. Henderson's legatees. The evidence for the defendant was that the whole of the land was fenced round as far back as 1847, and it was then in the possession of a man named Norton, who was caretaker for Dr. Henderson. It might be presumed that Henderson put Norton into possession, and fenced the land round, and there was the framework of a hut there at the time. In 1847 or 1848 William Meredith, the eldest son of the grantee, went into possession of the land and put Norton out. He subsequently built a house upon the land and lived there for years with his family. Dr. Henderson died in 1850, and Meredith remained in possession of the land until the death of his wife, and upon his second marriage he went to live at Burwood, having previously settled upon his wife half the land in dispute, and which was described as "Meredith's farm." It was further proved that Meredith left his eldest son on the land in his interest and to work it, and Meredith himself visited the land almost daily. It was good timber land, and Meredith removed nearly all the timber. As late as 1874 Meredith's eldest son sold to a man named Benfield the right to remove the remaining green and dry timber, and Benfield took the timber from the whole of the 90 acres. From 1847 to 1875, a period of 28 years, the Merediths exercised these acts of ownership. In the course of that period the fencing fell into disrepair, and a number of people were called for plaintiffs to prove that they went upon the land and that it was known as "no man's land." Plaintiffs also called evidence to show that cattle and other stock came in upon the land in all directions, going down to the waterhole, but it was proved that in those days cattle strayed everywhere, and there was evidence that Meredith impounded the cattle. In 1878, on the death of William Meredith, his wife got the land subdivided. There was a fact in the case which the plaintiffs relied upon, and that was that a Government road was made through the property in 1861, at which time defendants had been in possession for 13 years, and in order to carry the road through the Government officials had to cut down certain panels of fencing on each side to give access and means of egress to the public. This road divided the property into two blocks, and Meredith had not the means of fencing both. He therefore resided on the northern block, leaving the southern, which was the land in dispute, unfenced. This land Mr. Meredith's widow sold to Short, whom the plaintiffs now sought to eject.

Mr. Justice WINDEYER said there was no doubt a considerable amount of evidence given in support of defendant's occupation of this land and as showing his intention of taking possession of it. On the other hand, there was a considerable amount of evidence given to show that this occupation of the land by defendant was not an occupation with the intention of dispossessing the owner whoever he might be. The evidence was that when the defendant went there this land was fenced in, and that having gone upon this land either with the permission of Henderson, or being tacitly allowed there by Henderson, he resided on the land and cut timber there. The fence afterwards either tumbled down from age or was burned down by bush fires, and no steps were taken by defendant to put it up again. It further appeared that after defendant had been there for some time a Government road was put through the land, and he occupied one side of the land where his hut was, more continuously than he did the piece of land on the other side of the road, which was entirely unfenced, the fence having tumbled down or been burned away without being replaced by defendant. None of it was improved or cleared for use and occupation by defendant, and none of it was ploughed for cultivation or used in any way at all. There was the barest possession shown by cutting timber upon the land. Plaintiffs, on the other hand, showed that there was a cutting of timber on all parts of the land, that all sorts of people used it, that cattle ran through it, and that to use the language of one of the witnesses, it was "no man's land," and of the same character as other pieces of land along the road. Having heard the evidence he could not say that the verdict of the jury was wrong. In fact, he thought it was right; and although a considerable amount of sympathy was expressed for defendant by those who conducted the case against him, he felt that the verdict having been given it was one that could not be disturbed. It was impossible to say that Meredith really intended to claim possession against all comers, or that he held it in that way, and there being evidence upon which the jury were entitled to act, if they believed it, and it being impossible for the Court to say that the verdict they gave was wrong, no good would come of sending the case down for further trial, because there would still remain the evidence before the jury upon which they were entitled to act. He left the jury, as far as he could, to determine from the evidence as to what was the intention of Meredith in occupying the land. Did he occupy it as was pointed out in the case of Laing and others v. Bain and others (Knox's reports, page 28), with an unmistakable intention of holding it against all comers, or merely as a trespasser? The jury took the latter view, and he could not say that their verdict was wrong. For these reasons he thought there ought to be no rule.

Mr. Justice FOSTER said there was clearly evidence in this case which would justify the jury in finding a verdict for plaintiffs. The question was whether the acts of Meredith were those of exclusive possession or acts of trespass, and there was strong evidence that they were the acts of a trespasser. The jury came to the latter conclusion, and he could not say that it was an unreasonable conclusion to come to in the proper discharge of their duty. Besides that, the Court must be influenced to a certain extent by the report of the Judge who tried the case, and his Honor being satisfied with the verdict, he did not think it would be right to interfere with it.

Mr. Justice MANNING said that judging from the evidence simply as it was placed before the court, without the report from his Honor, he thought he should have been better satisfied if the verdict had been the other way. There was one thing which Meredith did which was strong evidence of his intention to deal with this property as his own, and that was that he settled a portion of the land upon his wife, and if he had gone on dealing with the rest of the property as his own he did not think the jury would have had much doubt about the matter. But it did not appear that Meredith did anything with the rest of the property to show that he had settled down upon it, and there did not seem to be any improvement upon the whole land. Meredith lived in a bark hut, and there was no clearing or cultivation, and nothing was done by him which would hold him out to the world as the person claiming the land. On the other hand, there was evidence that he was challenged to do something openly to establish his title, and he declined to do so. The jury had the evidence before them upon which they acted, and he could not say that their finding was unreasonable. His Honor who tried the case was satisfied with the finding, and that being so he did not see what reason there was for allowing further argument by granting the rule, as there would be no more material before the court than there was now.

Rule refused.

PORTER V. MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF LEICHHARDT.

Mr. Want, Q.C., and Dr. Sly, instructed by Mr. W. H. Pigott, appeared for the appellants (defendants); and Mr. O'Mara, instructed by Mr. S. J. Bull, for the plaintiff to show cause. The action was tried before Mr. Justice Windeyer and a jury of four on the 23rd and 24th July last, and was brought by plaintiff, James Forsyth Porter, against the municipal district of Leichhardt to recover compensation for injuries received owing to the alleged negligent construction and maintenance of a flight of steps at the rear of the defendants' hall. It appeared that on the night of the 3rd October plaintiff attended the Leichhardt Concert Hall and took part in a charity concert. In connection with the hall there was a dressing-room, to which access was obtained from the concert hall over the stage, and this dressing-room was lighted up from the hall. There was a door leading from the dressing-room to a platform at the back of the building, and which was raised 3 or 4 ft. from the ground at the rear of the hall. From this platform there were steps leading down, and a little distance away from the steps there were some closets. Plaintiff, after singing one or two songs, went into the dressing-room, and after having some refreshment there, and, seeing that some of the aldermen had gone out by this door, he also went out and fell from the platform to the ground beneath, in consequence of which he fractured his leg. Upon this he brought his action against the defendants, and the jury gave him a verdict, with damages £500. Defendants now moved for a new trial on the following grounds:—1. That the verdict was against evidence, and the weight of evidence. 2. That under the circumstances of this case the defendants were not liable to the plaintiff. 3. That there was no breach of duty on the part of the defendants to the plaintiff in not lighting the lobby and steps where the accident to plaintiff occurred. 4. That there was no breach of duty on the part of the defendants to the plaintiff in not putting handrails to the steps where the accident occurred.

Mr. O'Mara was required before going into the evidence to argue the point as to the legal liability of the defendants. Mr. Want was not called upon to reply.

Mr. Justice WINDEYER said that it was not necessary to go into the question whether the plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence by which he brought this misfortune upon himself. The defendants gave very strong evidence to show that plaintiff fell, not over the edge of this platform which was unguarded by any railing, but that having gone out on to this platform he went into one corner of it, and then hearing other persons coming out of the room he had just left, he went to the steps down which he fell. As a matter of fact he was found some 7 or 8 feet away from the bottom of the steps, and he admitted that he was picked up where he fell. The defendants very strongly urged that as plaintiff could not tell how he fell he had really fallen in consequence of the intoxicated state in which he was. The jury, however, by their finding negatived contributory negligence on his part, and they gave him damages. The defendants now contended, as they contended at the trial, that they were not guilty of any negligence; but the contention on the part of the plaintiff was that he fell down the steps, or over the raised platform in consequence of there being no light outside the dressing-room door. Defendants submitted that there was no obligation on their part which in any way made them liable for the injury which plaintiff sustained. He was of opinion that the contention of defendants was correct. What was let to the persons who hired the hall for the occasion was the hall itself, and it might be also the dressing-room, which was lighted up by them. It appeared to him that it was no part of the contract to light up this platform outside the dressing-room, as plaintiff contended. He thought that when the defendants let the concert hall to the people who hired it they let it as it stood, and it appeared to him that the case came within that of Ivay v. Hedges, 9 L. R., Q. B. D., page 80. The case which the plaintiff endeavoured to establish here was that defendants contracted with him for the use of the back door and staircase, but in this he altogether failed. For these reasons there must be a new trial, though, of course, laying down the law as the Court did in this matter, any further proceeding by plaintiff would be futile, as the Judge would have to rule that defendants did not undertake to keep this place lighted.

Mr. Justice STEPHEN and Mr. Justice FOSTER concurred.

Rule absolute for a new trial, with costs.

Equity Chambers.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice OWEN, Chief Judge in Equity.)

PROCTOR V. MERCANTILE BUILDING L. AND I. COMPANY, LIMITED.

Mr. A. H. Simpson, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Hamilton, for the defendant company, and Mr. Tartleton, instructed by Mr. Mitchell, for the plaintiff. This was an application by the defendant company for a peremptory order against William Consett Proctor for payment of £845 and interest. The plaintiff contended two lots of land should be transferred to him. After hearing arguments, the Court granted the application, payment to be made within four days. Costs of application to be paid by the plaintiff.

MUSSON V. CUNNINGAR TRIBUTE COMPANY.

Mr. Knox who appeared for the company, asked that the liquidator should have leave to come in and defend, the plaintiff having previously got a decree by default.

Mr. Walker represented the plaintiff, the patentee of a chlorinating process, and opposed the application.

His Honor dismissed the application with costs.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice OWEN, Chief Judge in Equity.)

HORNSBY AND SON V. HUDSON BROTHERS.

Mr. Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. Simpson, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Hamilton, for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., and Mr. Lingen, instructed by Messrs. Dowling and Dowling, for the defendants.

It appeared from the declaration that the plaintiffs, a large manufacturing company in England, for more than 25 years had manufactured ploughshares of a particular make, and marked them with the letter "D," followed by a numeral indicating the size of the ploughshare; the ploughshares had acquired a great reputation in the colonies and elsewhere as the "D" shares, and were always known as those manufactured by the plaintiffs' company. In 1884 Mr. James Martin, as agent for the plaintiffs, obtained a certificate of registration in this colony under the Trade Marks Act, and in the month of May, 1886, assigned it to the plaintiff company. On the 21st May, same year, a fresh certificate was issued to the company by the Registrar-General under the Trade Marks Act. The defendants had been in the habit of selling ploughshares resembling in size and appearance those manufactured by the plaintiffs, and of stamping on them the letter "D" with a numeral, the plaintiffs' trade mark, or a colourable imitation of it. Large numbers of persons had bought ploughshares from the defendant company in the belief that they were buying plaintiffs' ploughshares. In the month of August, 1886, notice was given to the defendant company not to sell any shares bearing plaintiffs' trade mark, but in spite of such notice the defendant company continued to use the plaintiffs' trade mark. They therefore sought for an injunction restraining defendants from continuing the trade mark and selling the shares bearing it; that an account might be taken of the profits made by the defendant company in such ploughshares, and that the defendant company might be ordered to pay to the plaintiffs whatever might be found due on the footing of such account.

For the defence, it was set forth that the letter "D" had been used for the last 20 years by almost every colonial manufacturer of ploughshares, and they believed also by many European manufacturers, to indicate shares which fit into a plough foot of a particular shape, and that the letter was confined to denoting the shape of a ploughshare, and in no way distinguished the plaintiffs' ploughshares from those of other makers. They submitted the plaintiffs had no right to be registered for the trade mark, and that the "D" ploughshares were not known as the shares and manufacture of the plaintiffs. On the contrary, they urged that the plaintiffs sold their shares with their English trade mark, consisting of their name printed in a ring surrounding two horns with the letter "B" underneath. They further contended that many other firms used the letter "D" indicating the shape of the foot, and the numerals denoting the numbers of the sizes, sometimes with and sometimes without some other mark or design to indicate the particular maker—in fact plaintiffs' alleged trade-mark was public property. There was very little difference in the external shape and appearance of ploughshares by any manufacturers, the various letters of the alphabet being used by all manufacturers to denote difference in the shape of the foot. In most cases the defendants sold stamped shares with the additional mark "Hudson Bros., Ltd., Clyde," in a large ring, which entirely distinguished their shares from any of those bearing the plaintiffs' English trade-mark, and defendants claimed to be entitled to use "D," with a numeral alone if they saw fit.

His HONOR in delivering judgment said that the plaintiffs were seeking to restrain the defendants from using the letter "D" with or without the numeral upon the plough-shares manufactured by them. The defendants boldly claimed their right to put the letter "D" on the shares manufactured by them on the ground that the letters of registration were invalid, and that the plaintiffs were not entitled to the trade mark. Until quite recently such a thing as a "D" share was unknown here, and the question he had to determine was one as to the use of a mark which was originally put upon a share to denote its pattern or shape. Could that, by long association with the name of one particular maker, come to denote in the minds of the public that it was the manufacture of a particular maker? It appeared to him that the preponderance of evidence went to show that. Defendants' witnesses said they understood a "D" share to mean a Hornsby's. The evidence was overwhelming that with traders, farmers, and all connected with the use of ploughs the letter "D" denoted to them that the share was manufactured by Hornsby. He therefore thought that the grounds set up by the defendants to impeach the letters of registration failed; that the letters of registration were perfectly valid, and that the plaintiffs were entitled to restrain them from continuing to mark the shares with the letter "D." He thought the plaintiffs were entitled to the injunction asked for, and also for an account; but, in consequence of the long delay which had taken place between the obtaining of the letters of registration and instituting the suit, he thought the plaintiffs were only entitled to an account from the date of filing the claim.

ALLISON V. ALLISON.

Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., Mr. A. H. Simpson, and Mr. Walker, instructed by Messrs. Macnamara and Norton, for the plaintiff; Mr. Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. Lingen, instructed by Messrs. Bradley and Son, for the defendant W. H. Vivian; and Mr. Passmore, instructed by Messrs. Holdsworth and Evans, for the trustees of the will of William Allison, sen.

This is a suit by Wm. Allison, jun., for a declaration that the estate of the late Wm. Allison, sen., is indebted to him in the sum of £75,000, being half the purchase-money of the Canonbar station, New South Wales, for payment of which he had rendered himself liable.

The defence is in effect that plaintiff has no power to proceed.

The case was begun at a late hour, and was adjourned till Wednesday.

In Bankruptcy.—(Before the Registrar, Mr. HENRY.)

CERTIFICATE APPLICATIONS.

Re John Cahill Ryan. There was no appearance, and the matter was struck out.

Re Thomas Henry Turbridge. The application was adjourned till December 20, to enable the bankrupt to file accounts.

Re Emile Antoine Roby. An adjournment till Friday week was granted in this matter to allow the bankrupt to satisfactorily explain certain allegations set forward in the official assignee's report.

Re John Cass. This application was adjourned till December 20.

Re John Hy. Short. The bankrupt attended, and was questioned by the official assignee as to a settlement made upon his wife just prior to his sequestration, and a certificate was ordered to issue.

Re Aaron Cole. A certificate was granted, no objections having been raised.

Re Wm. Harris. A report of the official assignee was considered, in which it was stated that the bankrupt, before sequestrating, handed his estate to two trustees, and that he had failed to account for a sum of £48. No explanation of the matter was offered, and the certificate was refused.

Re Henry Wickham and William Samuel Foxall. This was an application by each bankrupt for certificate of discharge. The official assignee reported that the bankrupts had been carrying on business in a large way, and that a number of matters connected with the estate were of a most complicated nature; and that a proper report could not be made until A. H. Taylor, who had been financing the business, had been examined. The books furnished supplied no particulars with regard to these transactions. The application was adjourned to December 20.

HEARING OF ORDER FOR ATTACHMENT.

Re Michael Lester. An adjourned hearing of order nisi for attachment for not filing statement of affairs. The hearing was not proceeded with, the official assignee stating that the necessary document had been filed.

(Before his Honor Mr. Justice MANNING.)

ADJOURNED HEARING OF CREDITOR'S PETITION.

Augustus Timewell Fleay v. Thomas Isaac Boyd and George Kennedy King. The hearing of this matter was resumed, and the examination of the petitioner continued. Mr. Wise and Mr. Rollin appeared for the petitioner, Mr. Field for the respondents, and Mr. Cope for the trustees under the deed. Mr. Fleay was closely questioned as to his transactions with the respondents in connection with the Moorebank estate, and as to the promissory notes which he received from them upon sales of certain portions of the estate, and upon which he sought to obtain the bankruptcy of the respondents. It was argued from the respondents that all moneys received by them had been accounted for, and the act of bankruptcy was wrongfully alleged. After further argument his Honor amended the petition by adding the words—" or were about to suspend" and allowed the cost of the proceedings occasioned by the amendment. The hearing was adjourned till Wednesday.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.
MONDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge WILKINSON.)

GEORGE QUILTY V. R. J. POPLE.

The plaintiff claimed £20 for the wrongful detention of a hawker's van and other property, and the return of the van or its value in money. Plaintiff was nonsuited.

M'LEAN V. HILL.

In this case John M'Lean sued George Hill for £200, being the amount deposited with him for plaintiff's use on the boatrace between plaintiff and Neilson on July 5. Mr. Scholes appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. C. B. Stephen for the defendant.

Mr. Scholes said that a boatrace had lately been rowed between the plaintiff and Neilson for £200 a-side. The plaintiff and Neilson staked with Mr. Hill £200 each. An agreement was drawn up and signed, and Mr. Hill became stakeholder. The plaintiff was now suing Hill, as stakeholder, for his deposit of £200. The race was rowed, and before the money was paid over the plaintiff claimed from the defendant the return of his deposit of £200. The question was whether, at law, the money could be recovered on these facts, which he thought would be admitted by the other side, and it would be a case that might then be settled without evidence.

Mr. Stephen said that his facts were those of his learned friend, with some extension, which he thought would be agreed to, viz., that the moneys lodged with the defendant were lodged by other persons, than M'Lean and Neilson, who subscribed for the purpose. The first deposit was made by Messrs. Watson and Underwood of £25 each; the second was made by the same parties in the same way, and the third was made by the same parties each depositing £50. The money was deposited by Messrs. Watson and Underwood, and it was their money.

Mr. Scholes asked whether it would be admitted that the money was lodged with Hill for the plaintiff.

Mr. Stephen said he could not admit that, whereupon Mr. Scholes proceeded to call evidence, putting the defendant in the box.

George Hill stated that he was the stakeholder in the match; had seen the agreement produced, but had never read it; in connection with the race £200 was lodged with him on account of M'Lean and £200 on account of Neilson; the race was rowed on July 5, and witness afterwards received a notice from M'Lean to return his stake; received the money, he thought, from Mr. Belisario; the letter he received from the plaintiff was a protest against the paying over of the stakes in consequence of a foul which plaintiff claimed; did not know M'Lean in the matter; received the money from other people than the scullers; would hand the money over to whoever the umpire told him; if the umpire had said to him "M'Lean," meaning that M'Lean had won, he would have got Underwood and Watson's leave to pay him the money; and, if the contrary were the case, he would have got Deeble's consent on behalf of the other side; since the protest had paid the money to Deeble; did not get a guarantee from Deeble, and he did not promise to return the money to witness, if he was compelled to pay it; did not recollect having said while waiting outside the court that the case would not affect him as the money would not come out of his pocket.

At this stage the further hearing of the case was adjourned till to-day.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—MONDAY.

(Before his Honor the Chief Justice, SIR FREDERICK DARLEY, and a jury of 12.)

Mr. Gibson prosecuted on behalf of the Crown.

ALLEGED PERJURY.

Richard Fulligar was arraigned on an indictment charging him that he did at Sydney, on September 3 last, before Mr. Justice Windeyer, wilfully and falsely swear in substance as follows:—"They" (meaning John M'Farlane and his wife) "did not go to Lawrence's" (meaning thereby to reside at the house of one Charles Lawrence after they came down the country), "they went straight to the hut; he never lived at Lawrence's." Accused was defended by Mr. J. C. Gannon, instructed by Mr. Frederick Gannon. It appeared that at a place called Kingswood there was some land belonging to a man named Lord, and certain proceedings were taken to bring it under Torrens' title. After this application had been made John M'Farlane lodged a caveat, and by the caveat he set up a possessory title of 20 years to the land. In course of time certain issues were settled to be tried to see whether M'Farlane was entitled to the land. The case came before Mr. Justice Windeyer on September 2 last. During the hearing of the case John M'Farlane had to make out he had been in possession of the land for 20 years, and he gave evidence to the effect that he built a hut on the land. He then said he left Kingsgrove and went to Mudgee to be married. He came back immediately after the marriage on October 6, 1868, his wife being with him, and they went to live at the hut; having given evidence of this M'Farlane called the accused in support of his testimony, and he said that he remembered John M'Farlane coming down to Kingsgrove after his marriage in 1868; he met them some distance outside Kingsgrove; they were on horseback; they did not go to Lawrence's, but went direct to the hut; John M'Farlane and his wife were said to have gone to live at Charles Lawrence's immediately after the marriage, and Lawrence stated that he built the hut himself.

For the defence, evidence was called to prove that the accused met M'Farlane and his wife just outside Kingswood on October 6, 1868; he accompanied M'Farlane to a hut which was on the land, and for some months afterwards Fulligar worked there.

At half-past 4 o'clock the case was adjourned until the following day, and the jury were locked up.

JURORS FINED.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.
MONDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge M'FARLAND and juries.)

Mr. W. L. Merewether prosecuted on behalf of the Crown

THE CASE OF J. A. HUNTER.

Mr. G. Wallace made an application for a remission of the sentence of three years which was passed on James Alexander Hunter on Wednesday last for stealing the moneys of a co-partnership. Hunter had already been in gaol for two months, and if he was compelled to undergo solitary confinement it would seriously interfere with his health and affect his mind. He put in a certificate signed by Dr. Atherton that such results would follow.

His HONOR directed that a report should be obtained from the governor of the gaol on the matter.

GARROTING.

George Cassidy and Hugh M'Hugh pleaded not guilty to a charge that they did at Sydney on August 31 last attempt to choke Alfred Trevitt with intent thereby to enable them to rob him. There was a second count of assault and robbery against the accused. Mr. T. M. Slattery defended Cassidy, and Mr. T. M. Williamson appeared for M'Hugh.

The evidence for the prosecution went to show that a clerk named Alfred Trevitt was at the corner of Riley and Devonshire streets on August 31, at about 1 o'clock. The accused were with him, and they went into an hotel together and had some drinks. Trevitt then left Cassidy and M'Hugh and went into Prince Alfred Park on his way home. He had not gone far when a man came up to him, caught him by the throat, and nearly choked him. Cassidy and M'Hugh were in company with the man, whom he did not know. They knocked Trevitt down and took his watch and chain, and he was unconscious for some time. For days afterwards there were some marks on his throat, and it was with difficulty that he swallowed. The accused met him one day afterwards, and offered to return the watch and chain if he would allow the matter to drop, and he promised that he would try to do so. On September 3 a man named J. Tosser, who lived in the same street as Trevitt, brought him his watch and chain.

The prosecutor, Alfred Trevitt, gave his evidence with a certain amount of hesitation, and when spoken to about it said he had been "threatened by the push." Trevitt admitted that he had known the accused for some time.

Mr. Slattery complained that there were many particulars which Trivett now swore to which were not down in the depositions taken at the police court, and his Honor said that within his own knowledge he could safely say that justice had been defeated on certain occasions from the want of a better system of taking down evidence. If evidence was taken down in shorthand, it would greatly facilitate the proceedings of the law courts.

The defence was that the evidence in support of the case for the Crown could not be depended upon.

The jury found both the accused guilty of assault and robbery. Previous convictions were read out against Cassidy, who pleaded for leniency on the grounds of his youth, and that he was the sole support of an aged mother. He was sentenced to five years' penal servitude, with leave to petition at the end of three years. M'Hugh was remanded for sentence, as there were two other charges against him.

GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM.

Sardela, an African, was charged with having on October 27 last at Picton inflicted grievous bodily harm upon George Coulter. The accused, who pleaded not guilty, was undefended. George Coulter stated that on October 27, at about 5 o'clock, he was walking along the Menangle road, near Picton, when the accused ran up to him, drew a knife, and stabbed him in the back.

The jury found the accused guilty and he was sentenced to 12 months hard labour in Darlinghurst gaol, with leave to petition at the end of six months.

JURORS FINED.

John Ryan, 473, Bourke-street, Sydney; James Kinsella, Livingstone-street, Marrickville; William Thompson, 384, Sussex-street, Sydney, were each fined 40s. for non-attendance as jurors.

CASES FOR TO-DAY.

Michael Francis Walsh, larceny and receiving, six charges; George Agnew and others, breaking and entering and stealing, two charges.

POLICE.

Mr. G. O'Malley Clarke, S.M., presided at the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday. Robert Burns, 27, and John Griffin, 20, were each fined £3, or in default two months' imprisonment, for assaulting one George Carlyle, on Sunday morning last, in Ultimo-road, Ultimo. Annie Davis, 45, no occupation, was fined £2, with the alternative of 14 days' imprisonment, for having used obscene language in George-street West. Henry Croaker, 38, a grocer, and John Ross, 36, a barber, were sent to gaol for seven days, with hard labour, for begging in Glebe-road, Glebe. Albert Magnus, 30, a dealer, was ordered to pay 40s., with the option of 21 days' gaol, for assaulting a constable whilst in the execution of his duty. George Regan, 16, was fined 20s., or, in default, seven days' gaol, for having behaved in a riotous manner in Engine-street. Samuel Carter, 30, a labourer, was fined £2, with the option of two days' gaol, for assaulting a constable whilst in the execution of his duty. Agnes Marshall, 25, and Annie Carney, 24, were each ordered to pay £2, or in default 14 days' gaol, for using indecent language in Campbell-street and Wexford-street respectively. Ellen Tippen, 40, was sent to gaol for three months, with hard labour, for being an idle and disorderly person having no visible lawful means of support. George Shepherd, 51, was charged with assaulting William Talkes. The evidence was to the effect that prisoner went to the Night Refuge in Kent-street on Saturday night to get in, but was told he would not be allowed to do so that evening. Shepherd became abusive, and struck Talkes in the [illegible]. He also bit him, causing blood to flow from his cheek. Accused was fined £5, or in default two months' imprisonment. The same prisoner was ordered to pay 20s. damages and a fine of 5s., or in default 21 days' gaol, for maliciously injuring a coat, value 20s., the property of William Talkes. Lilly Walker, 26, was sent to gaol for 14 days, with hard labour for having no visible lawful means of support. William Sarsfield, 24, was sent to gaol for one month, with hard labour, for being a convicted drunkard, and for behaving in a riotous manner in Union-street. Banno Hansen, alias Wedekind, and Henry Peterson, were charged with being suspected persons, frequenting Hyde Park with intent to commit a felony. Constable Ross said he saw the two men in the Park, on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. When they saw witness, they ran away behind a clump of trees. Ross went after them and arrested them. When Ross first saw them the prisoners were standing near a man who was asleep on one of the seats. Hansen was sent to gaol for two months, with hard labour, and Peterson to six months, with hard labour. Owen Lloyd, for stealing, was ordered to be imprisoned for 14 days, with hard labour.

Mr. G. W. F. Addison, S.M., dealt with the business in the Charge Division of the WATER POLICE COURT, and Mr A. M. Fisher, S.M., presided in the Summons Division. William Reece, 34, seaman, was charged with deserting from H.M.S. Emerald. It was said that the man left the vessel in 1880, and that he had been at large ever since. The accused was remanded to the custody of the naval authorities, by whom he will be dealt with. Frederick Morgan, 53, seaman, was fined 40s., or seven days' gaol, for being drunk and disorderly in Argyle-street. George Spencer, 49, engineer, and James O'Brien, 24, labourer, were each fined 40s., or seven days' gaol, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Edwin Andrews, 55, labourer, was ordered to be imprisoned for a month, with hard labour, on a charge of having no visible lawful means of support. Mary M'Hurt, 35, no occupation, charged with having insufficient visible lawful means of support, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, with hard labour. John Ham, 54, carpenter, who was charged with having no visible lawful means of support, was sent to gaol for two months, with hard labour. John Brewer, 24, charged by warrant with fraudulently appropriating to his own use the sum of 10s., the property of Hugh Michael Sweeney, was remanded until Friday. Alfred Collier, 21, cabman, was fined 20s., or 14 days' gaol, for using indecent language in Oxford-street. Robert Wilson, 14, apprentice, was charged with deserting from his ship, the Firth of Clyde. The captain of the vessel said he was quite willing to take the boy back again. The Bench ordered Wilson to be taken back to his ship. Archibald Sterling Whyte, actor, was ordered to contribute the sum of £1 10s. weekly for the ensuing 12 months towards the support of his wife, Ellen E. Whyte.

Mr. C. Delohery, D.S.M., presided at the NEWTOWN POLICE COURT to-day. Thomas Walton, 37, labourer, charged with assaulting one Mary Ann Walton, was fined 20s., in default, 21 days' gaol. For using obscene language in Reiby-street, Newtown, Walton was further fined £1, with the option of seven days' gaol. Edward Korner, 14 years of age, was sent to the Vernon on a charge of habitually wandering about the streets in no ostensible lawful occupation. Mrs. Wright was ordered to pay a fine of 1s. with 5s. 10d. costs, with an alternative of 21 days' gaol, on a charge of assaulting Thomas W. Miller. William James Way was ordered to pay 15s. per week towards the support of his wife, Louisa Way. Henry Palmer was ordered to pay 40s. per week (instead of 20s. as heretofore) towards the support of his wife, Sarah Palmer. Cornelius Menehan was fined £1 and 2s. 6d. costs, with the option of seven days' gaol, for keeping dirty premises.

Messrs. G. T. Hunt, J. Whitworth, and H. Byrnes, Js.P., disposed of the business at the PARRAMATTA POLICE COURT. Catherine Egan was fined 10s. or 48 hours for being drunk and disorderly, and for using obscene language she was fined 40s. or 14 days. Maud Bourke, aged about 17, was fined 5s. or 24 hours for drunkenness. John Smith was fined 5s. or 24 hours for drunkenness, and 40s. or 14 days for using obscene language. Ellen Younger was fined 10s. or 48 hours for drunkenness, and 20s. or seven days for using obscene language. Susannah Barlow proceeded against her husband, James Barlow, for maintenance, and the defendant was ordered to pay £1 per week, together with professional costs and costs of court. W. G. Moss was ordered to pay the sum of 12s. 6d. weekly towards the support of his wife, and also to pay professional and court costs. He was required to find two sureties in £20 each for the fulfilment of the order.

SUBURBAN RAILWAYS VERSUS TRAMWAYS.

In the consideration of the question of railways versus tramways for the city and suburbs of Sydney which has been agitating the public mind so freely for some time, two or three points have never yet been adequately discussed. They lie at the root of the whole matter, and their exposure may help to a clearer understanding of the relative merits of the two systems of conveyance. It will be seen that in cost, in economy of time, and in comfort there can hardly be any comparison between the two services. The railway is so much superior to the tramway that the wonder is the city of Sydney has so long been content with its inadequate tramway accommodation.

Considering, then, first the cost of locomotion by the railways and tramways of the city and suburbs, we find that travelling by the railways is much cheaper than by the tram lines. If we turn to the report of the Commissioner for Railways for the year 1887 (the last published), we see from appendix 42, page 110, that the average receipts per mile per passenger on the suburban lines amounted to 0·64d., or very nearly two-thirds of a penny. These figures included ordinary passengers', workmen's, and season ticket-holders' journeys; the average mileage for each passenger being 5·30. Of course, the first-class passengers' fares would be higher than 0·64d., the second class fares would be lower. But first and second class passenger fares together averaged the figure named. Now, we have no corresponding return completed for the tramway traffic. Nevertheless we may make a comparison, of the substantial accuracy of which there is no room to doubt. There were in that year 29½ miles of city and suburban tramway lines open. The cost of travelling over those lines was 8½d. There were no workmen's tickets or season tickets to reduce the price and so disturb the estimate. Therefore, to travel over the complete mileage of the tramways the charge would be 1·08d. per mile, as against 0·64d. per mile, the rate on the railways. In other words, the rate for travelling charged on the tramways is 0·64d. per mile—or 68·2 per cent.—greater than on the railways. If we instance the single line from Redfern to Bridge-street, the charge is 2d. for 1½ miles, a rather higher rate than over the whole of the lines. But taking one line with the others, and thus making the comparison complete, it will be seen how much cheaper travelling is by the railway than by the tramway. But this comparison fails to do justice to the railways, for the reason that while the passenger travelled every foot of the mileage, for which the charge was 0·64d., the tramway traveller often did not ride half the mile for which he paid 1·08d.

To work out the mileage rate on the gross figures, we shall find some interesting figures. In the first place it is shown that the tramway passengers, in paying £212,229 for travelling 47,600,000 miles at 1·08d. per mile, paid £86,500 more than they would have paid for travelling a like distance by the suburban railway—an amount sufficient to pay interest on nearly £2,500,000 of construction capital. In the second place the figures show that the suburban railway passengers, in paying £158,886 for travelling 59,998,460 miles at 0·64d. per mile, paid £110,000 less than they would have had to pay if they had travelled by a tramway service at a cost of 1·08d. per mile.

There is another point in favour of the railways. The mileage fares of 0·64d. on the railway represents conveyance in carriages considerably superior to the tramcars. The tramcars would hardly be held to rank in comfort and cleanliness with even second-class, to say nothing of first-class railway carriages. The general rate of 0·64d. per mile represents both first and second class service. If the earnings per mile of the two classes of railway traffic could be separated, it would probably be found that the second-class passengers do not pay 0·50d. or a half-penny per mile, against the general rate on the tramways, with less comfortable carriages, of 1·08d., or more than a penny per mile. These facts go to show that the public in service rendered pay fully twice as much per mile for tramway as for railway travelling.

But so far we have only dwelt on the payments by the public. To get a complete view of the relative cost of the railways and tramways, we must see what results these payments gave to the Government; whether the higher fares on the tramways gave better returns than the lower fares charged on the railways. These, of course, will be shown by the net receipts. The Railway Report for 1887 shows that while the suburban railways left a very considerable profit to the Government, the city and suburban tramways left a loss. The suburban railway service in 1887 yielded net earnings amounting to £147,347, and gave a return of 7·93 per cent. on £1,858,000, the capital expended in construction and for rolling-stock. But if we turn to the tramway service, we find that from the revenue of £212,229 the net earnings amounted to £12,657 only, which on a construction capital of £731,582 gave a return of but 1·76 per cent. Thus from the Government point of view, as well as from that of the passengers, the suburban railways were more satisfactory than the tramways. If the tramway fares had been as low as the railway fares, instead of net earnings amounting £12,657, which fell short of the interest on the capital cost of construction by about £15,000, there would have been an absolute loss to the Government on the working of the tramways of about £74,000, besides a further sum of about £27,500 for interest on the capital cost of construction to be provided out of the consolidated revenue.

The foregoing calculations have been based on the figures in the following table, which so far as the railways are concerned have been obtained from the railway report. The figures of the tramways have been taken from the like source, except the miles travelled and the receipts per mile, which have been compiled in the way described.

—	Suburban Railway.	City and Suburban Tramway.
Miles travelled	59,998,460	47,600,000
Passenger fares	£158,866	£212,229
Average receipts per mile per passenger	0·64d	1·08d
Total earnings	£280,006	£214,125
Net earnings	£147,347	£12,657
Net interest on capital ...	7·98	1·76

It will be said, of course, that the suburban railways have had the advantage of a goods traffic, which, as a matter of fact, earned £101,277 out of the total revenue of £280,006; whereas, besides the ordinary passenger fares, the tramways are credited with yielding only £1896 of other revenue out of the total of £214,125. Of course that is not to be set as wholly in favour of the tramways. It is to a certain extent to be regarded as in favour of the railways, because it is service rendered by them in addition to the carrying of the people at a cheaper rate than is charged on the tramways. But even if we suppose that the stoppage of the goods traffic on the suburban railway would reduce the profit from 7·93 per cent. by one half to 3·96 per cent. on the capital cost there would still be a profit over and above the 3.50 per cent. at which the colony now borrows in the London market. On the other hand the tramways earning only 1·76 per cent. on capital cost, show a considerable deficiency. If in the absence of details we credited half the profit on the suburban railways to goods traffic, and thus reduce the amount by £73,500, we should still find the railway at the lower rates yielding the Government a net return of £51,000 more than the tramway with its higher fares, though performing the service of carrying a passenger 59,998,460 miles, against a like service of 47,600,000 miles in the case of the tramway.

The question of economy would not be completely considered if we did not look at the saving of time. That speed is regarded as of value may be seen by the desire to attain it in the building of costly steamships for the important ocean routes of the world; so that the record may be beaten even by an hour. To passengers by a Cunarder 1000 hours may mean £1000 or £10,000. It will be found that the average rate of travelling between Sydney and Parramatta in the ordinary railway trains stopping at every station is about a mile in 3 minutes and 48 seconds. The average rate of speed on the tramways, including stoppages, is about a mile in eight minutes. Considering that many of the suburban trains do not stop at all the stations, and consequently run more quickly, at least four minutes per mile is saved by travelling on the railway. Now, it will be found that the tramway revenue, on the basis of 1.08d. per mile represents the total number of miles travelled as 47,600,000. If this distance were travelled by the quicker locomotion of the railways at a saving of say four minutes per mile, passengers would economise time, which at 6d. per hour would be worth to them about £80,000. The money value of the time lost every year in using tramways rather than railways would pay interest on nearly £2,500,000 of capital expended in replacing the slower with the quicker means of transit.

We may sum up the difference between the actual cost of the tramways to the public and to the Government, and what would be the cost of railways on the basis of the suburban railway returns of traffic in the following form:—

—	Actual Results of Tramways.	Approximate Results at Suburban Railway Rates.
Miles travelled	47,600,000	47,600,000
Average receipts per mile per passenger	1·08d.	·64d.
Total passenger fares	£212,229	£125,765
Net earnings on working expenses (allowing 50 per cent. for goods traffic on railway)	£12,657	£58,400
Hours spent in travelling 47,600,000 miles ...	80,000,000	30,000,000
Cost in time of travelling at 6d per hour	£160,000	£80,000

No doubt the proper way to deal with the figures as indicating the actual cost of the tramways and the railways, is to deduct from the amount of the gross receipts of the Government the amount of the net earnings. If we take from the aggregate passenger fares received by the Government on the suburban railways, amounting to £158,866, the sum of £73,673 being half the net earnings, amounting to £147,347, crediting the other half to goods, we get £85,193 as the actual working cost of the conveyance of a passenger for 59,998,460 miles, reducing the actual cost of conveyance to ·34d., or about a third of a penny per mile. On the other hand, if we take from the total tramway passenger fares, amounting to £212,229 the net earnings, amounting to £12,657, we get £199,572 as the actual cost of conveying a passenger on the tramways 47,600,000 miles, reducing the charge from 1·08d. to 1·01d. per mile. Practically, then, the actual cost of travelling on the tramways is 1·01d., or about a penny, against 0·34d., or a third of a penny on the railways. The cost of working the tramways per passenger per mile is about three times as great as of working the railways. It is but a rule of three sum to show that if it costs £199,572 to convey a passenger 47,600,000 miles, which is the charge on the tramway, it will cost about £251,000 to convey him 59,998,460, the mileage travelled on the railways. And a simpler sum shows that £251,000 is about three times the amount of £85,193, the actual cost on the railways. This leaves a difference of about £166,000 in favour of the railway to carry a like traffic on the basis of the suburban railway fares. In this calculation it will be seen that the interest on the cost of construction and rolling stock is eliminated. Adding the interest on capital cost of the tramways, the net cost per passenger would be 1·11d. per mile; adding the interest on capital cost of the railway, the net cost per passenger would be 0·60d. per mile. If the difference of the interest at 3½ per cent. on £731,000, the amount of the tramway capital, be set over against the interest on £1,858,000, the cost of the railway construction capital, the advantage is reduced to £125,000, which still leaves sufficient at the colony's present rate of credit to pay interest on more than three and a half millions of money for the construction of costlier railway works. The tramways might be torn up and so much spent without loss to the public in replacing them with railways.

This calculation excludes the question of the saving of time, which, as we have shown, may be taken as representing a further sum of £80,000. It also does not take into the account the fact that the accommodation provided on the railways is much better than on the tramways. In economy, in speed, and in comfort, there can be no comparison between a railway service and a tramway service, and wherever the former is possible the latter ought not to be accepted. In the dense populations in and surrounding a great city there is always scope on the ground, under the ground, or overhead, for railways, especially in a climate such as this, which, in our summer weather, at all events, naturally indisposes to walking exercise. The figures given show that the question of first cost of a railway, large though it may be, ought to be viewed in the broad light which these figures supply. Because the cost of making a railway from Redfern to the Circular Quay or from Hyde Park to Bondi, Coogee, or Botany, might seem to be heavy in comparison with that of a tramway is no reason why it should not be made. The lower cost of working would ordinarily be found to give ample compensation. We see the suburbs of Melbourne in almost every direction connected by payable railways with the city, although there are competing tramways and omnibuses on all the lines. Everyone who has seen the two cities must admit that in the means of locomotion Sydney is far behind Melbourne. A good system of railways is the want of Sydney, and there ought to be no delay in extending them in every direction in which population will find settlement—north, south, east, and west. Certainly on entering upon any contracts for the working of tramways, the public interest should be safeguarded by reserving the right to construct and work railways, which, as we have shown, are so much cheaper than tramways.

PUBLIC HOLIDAYS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I beg to hand you a copy of the correspondence which has taken place between the Employers' Union and the Hon. the Colonial Treasurer, on the subject of public holidays, for the information of the commercial community. I am, &c.,

RAILWAY ACCOMMODATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Would you kindly allow the undersigned to raw the attention of the general public, and particularly the railway authorities, to the miserable accommodation provided on the 8.28 a.m. train from Petersham to Sydney? I daily notice plenty of first-class carriages provided; but I regret to state it is anything but pleasant to travel by second-class, only a couple of such cars being laid thereon. In consequence second-class passengers are obliged to ride on platforms, or wait for the next train, which would certainly amount to great inconvenience. Surely, sir, the Commissioners will study these people a little in the future.

I am, &c., SEASON TICKET.

The description of a simple remedy, by which a complete cure of deafness and noises in the head of 40 years' standing has just been effected, will be sent free to anyone who applies to J. H. Nicholson, 175, William-street, Melbourne.—[ADVT.]

ARRIVAL of the KAISER WILHELM II

THE PRIDE OF THE NORDDEUTCHER LLOYD.

A FLOATING PALACE.

"I never saw anything like her: in fact the splendour of her saloons is perfectly dazzling" was a remark passed by a well-known official who has been boarding ships for 29 years, and who was returning from Neutral Bay yesterday, after visiting the Kaiser Wilhelm II., the pride of the great firm of the Norddeutcher Lloyd, whose flag to-day flies at the main on board a fleet of 70 ocean-going ships. Nor was the eulogistic expression undeserved, for there can be no two opinions but that a new departure has been taken, and a very distinct one, by the owners of the line in sending out a ship which is fitted up in her passenger accommodation with as much refined elegance as any ship afloat. Compared with anything under the same flag seen in Port Jackson, the Kaiser Wilhelm II. is as the electric light is for brightness to the old-style ship's oil lamp, and this comparison applies with equal force to external attractiveness as to internal luxuriousness.

To those of the public who know the great national company of Bremen to which this gigantic but beautifully-symmetrical ocean-flyer belongs, only by those ships of the line previously seen in Sydney harbour, no adequate conception of the vast difference between the steamers can be obtained. Shipping circles are of course more or less aware of the rapid and well-based advance Germany has made in foreign commerce since the Norddeutcher-Lloyd, whose vessels to-day unite the four corners of the globe, came into existence in the old Hanse town. In the North Atlantic with the Aller, the Ems, the Trave, the Lahn, the Saale, Sachsen, Bayern, the Elbe (the lastnamed is now bound to Sydney), the fame of the North German Lloyd for magnificence and speed could not be restrained. With lines running to China and Japan, to the West Indies, to North and South America, with the East Asian line, with lines to Brazil and La Plate, to Baltimore, to New York, to Southampton, and on to these antipodes of the old land, always making quick, and punctual passages, wherever the flag of the company is carried it is not surprising that that fame has spread to the furthest parts of the globe. In the trade to Australia hitherto the names of the Salier, Hohenzollern, and Hohenstaufen are the best known, but it is now certain that a 12-knot speed and a 3000-ton ship are not any longer to represent the Imperial German mail steamer to Australia, and the Kaiser Wilhelm II. is to open the ball at a railway rate of from 16 to 17 knots on the home run. The Kaiser is thus the first grand representative of the leviathan class of 7000-ton ship which this wealthy company purpose shall cater for the freight and passenger trade between Europe and Australia. All honour to their enterprise will be the general sentiment. A visitor on board the new ship yesterday observed that the Germans are pushing their commerce everywhere the British go, to which it was forcibly remarked that the British pushed commerce with so much energy all over the world that the Germans are driven to do something to keep anywhere in the race for a foreign trade. A general idea of what manner of competitor in that race the Kaiser Wilhelm II., which to-day graces the waters of Port Jackson, is will be obtained from the following description:—

The state cabins are rooms, in a liberal acceptation of the term, and as there are only three occupants allowed to each, the comfort is manifest. A cabin measuring 12ft. by 9ft., and 9ft. 6in. in height, is a substantial factor in the question of comfort on a long voyage and in tropical latitudes. It is by this lavishness of accommodation that the new steamships of the Norddeutsche-Lloyd are distinguished. With regard to details, it may be mentioned that the Kaiser Wilhelm is constructed exclusively of steel, and the dimensions are as follows:—Length, 460ft.; beam, 51ft.; and depth of hold, 37ft. This gives her a gross measurement of 6947 tons, or about 500 or 600 tons larger than any of the steamships coming here at present. The builders are the Vulcan Company, of Stettin, at whose works were built the fast China steamships flying the Norddeutcher flag. The hull is beautifully modelled, and if it were only painted black instead of white—the distinguishing colour of the Norddeutscher-Lloyd steamers—the vessel's handsomeliness would show to more advantage. The hull is divided into 12 watertight compartments by transverse bulkheads. The stem is straight, and from the entrance there is a clean run to the graceful ellipsis of the stern, which, as in most modern passenger steamships coming here, is housed in, turtle-back fashion. The Kaiser is rigged as a four-masted fore-and-aft schooner, and the taunt polemasts, without any yards across, give the vessel a light look aloft. The feature of the Kaiser Wilhelm, however, is the saloon accommodation. The saloon is entered from the upper deck, and the vestibule leading to it is rich with panelling and carving in woods of many shades, the prevailing tone being rather dark. From the vestibule there are two entrances to the saloon—on the port and the starboard sides; and stairs lead up to another vestibule on the promenade deck, where the ladies' room and the music room are situated. The upholstering of the saloon is of blue leather and blue damask silk; the cabinet work is of various fine dark woods, and the portholes, which are unusually large, run round three sides. Between the ports, where the space is not occupied by buffets, &c., are oil paintings of various sizes and various subjects. In the decorations of the saloon there are very few blank spaces. Wherever a carving, or an oil painting, or gilding, or rich silk curtains, or a variation in the tone of the wood can increase the effect, it has been introduced with skill and taste. The floor is richly carpeted, and the columns above their carved wood bases are covered with plush. The punkahs are of the finest damask silk. Numerous small electric lights are sprinkled about in all sorts of odd places, some of them among the curtains which shade the ports. The oil paintings are by Lesker, who executed orders for the late King of Bavaria's palaces. The companion-way, or staircase leading to the promenade deck, is of light oak, with balustrading of ornamental scroll iron, entirely gilt. The upper vestibule flashes with gold and mirrors. Of the two rooms opening out of it, the music-room, which is forward, is resplendent with yellow damask silk, cabinet work in various shades of the same colour, and mirrors and paintings framed in gold scroll-work. The ceiling of this room is also covered with mirrors and paintings adapted to an elaborate pattern of gilt scroll-work. The ladies' room is similar, but the tones are pink, and the room is dotted with tables and settees. The promenade deck is 260ft. long by 15ft. wide, clear of the deck-houses on both sides, and free of all obstruction. It is covered in by a permanent wooden awning. The ventilating apparatus and the boats are all on the awning deck out of sight. The advantages of this fine promenade deck are obvious. There is room for deck-chairs, and ample space for tables, and all manner of arrangements convenient and pleasant in the tropics, and when, in addition to the roofing of wood, the sides and ends are enclosed with canvas the whole deck can be kept cool and pleasant. A number of small electric lamps are fitted in the awning deck, so that at night it looks very cheerful. At the after end of this deck is the first-class smoking-room, with a gentleman's lavatory adjoining. This room is large, airy, and elegantly appointed. The woodwork is unpolished pine, carved and gilt, relieved with mirrors, inlaid woods of a darker shade, and paintings on porcelain. The seats are covered with maroon-coloured Morocco leather. On the main deck and under the saloon are the staterooms. The staircase leading down is of light oak, of massive design and boldly carved. At the foot of this staircase is the reading-room, flanked by bookcases containing, not books, but rifles and bayonets, and in a line with these bookcases are long recesses, with tables and seats for writing and reading. All the surroundings are of light oak, and the upholstering is of green leather. On the port and starboard sides are the corridors, from which open most of the staterooms, baths, lavatories, &c., for first-class passengers. These staterooms contain two berths, a wardrobe, two washstands with their fittings, a chest of drawers, a writing table, and a couch. The portholes are 16in. in the clear, and there is an elaborate arrangement of artificial ventilation. The lower first-class saloon is a handsome apartment of light oak and gold, with medallion portraits in the panels, and with seats covered with maroon-coloured Morocco leather. A half-a-dozen openings, hung with portieres, lead out of it to special staterooms of extra large proportions. There are many ingenious contrivances conducive to passenger comfort to be met with, of which it is impossible to give an inventory. The first-class accommodation is planned for 140 passengers. The second saloon space is adapted for 86 passengers, and the dining saloon, although less gorgeous in its decoration, is not a whit less comfortable. The second saloon has its own smoking and music room, and nothing has been left undone to render it attractive. For third-class passengers there is berthing space for 600, and no overcrowding is permitted. There are baths, washhouses, lavatories, &c., provided for them, and the ventilation of this portion of the ship, as well as the ventilation all over, has been made a thorough study. Provision is made for the expulsion of foul air and for an unintermittent supply of fresh air, and in tropical weather it was found most beneficial. There is plenty of light as well as ventilation on board, and the darkest corners are lit up with the electric system. There are three powerful dynamos for generating the electricity, one for day use and two for night use. There are 600 incandescent lamps of 25·32 candle power, besides arc lights for various purposes. The massive machinery which propels this huge vessel was also made at the Vulcan works, where the vessel was built. They are on the triple expansion principle, and are as perfect as human skill and labour can produce. The high-pressed cylinder is 4 in. in diameter, the medium-pressed is 66in., and the low-pressed is 106in. The piston stroke is 5ft. 3in. The engines are of 7600 horse-power effective, and can drive the vessel at 17-knot speed when required. There are no fewer than seven steel boilers, besides a donkey boiler, and these are heated by 26 furnaces. In addition to the ordinary machinery for driving the vessel, there is also powerful refrigerating machinery, which, in addition to its other duties, manufactures some 20cwt. or more of ice each day, when the weather is hot. For cargo haulage there are noiseless hydraulic cranes and a number of steam winches, and there is hydraulic machinery for steering the vessel. Although of such huge proportions she is said to be as easily steered as any yacht. There are separate engines on board for various purposes, and the newest patents in marine machinery, including starting and reversing gear, are to be found in the spacious engine-room.

The voyage, just completed to this her terminal port, is perhaps a little disappointing. It was expected that the Kaiser Wilhelm would have developed a greater speed than she did, but she had not been in dock for eight months. The docking and cleaning process has been done at Melbourne. There were also delays en route, especially at Suez, where 1900 tons of coal were taken in, and at Colombo, where 200 tons of cargo had to be stowed away. The coaling could not be done at Port Said in consequence of the steamer's draught of water. In the Canal her draught was 24ft. 3in., but when she left Suez the draught was 27ft. With so valuable a property at stake, and with so many lives on board as there is likely to be, it may be accepted as a certainty that every provision conducive to the safety of person and property has been made. In addition to an effective water service for the suppression of fire, there are 12 large iron boats, besides smaller craft and a number of Shepherd's collapsible boats. The boats are fitted with automatic releasing gear, and each end frees itself directly it comes in contact with the water. The Kaiser Wilhelm is, in fact, complete at all points, and judging from appearances no cost has been spared in her construction and outfit. The command of the Kaiser has been given to Captain L. Störmer, who has been here in the Hohenzollern and Braunschweig, and who is one of the most popular masters in the Norddeutscher Lloyd line. With him as deck officers are Messrs. P. Wettin (chief), H. Siebert, G. Bolte, and C. Wolfemar. The chief engineer is Mr. H. Peters, whose position is one of great responsibility. He is certifying engineer for the builders, and with him in the engine-room are six other certificated engineers, and several assistant engineers. Mr. Peters has a firm faith in the future of the engines, and he predicts some rapid runs. Mr. H. Böttcher, who has been on the Australian line, is purser, and his experiences in dealing with large numbers of passengers was well exemplified on the present voyage. The Kaiser Wilhelm left Bremen on the 2nd ultimo, and Antwerp on the 5th ultimo. A call was made at Southampton for passengers, and a start was made thence on the 16th ultimo for Genoa, whence she proceeded to Port Said. The Canal was entered on the 19th ultimo, and after taking in a large supply of coal at Suez, the passage of the Red Sea was commenced at 9 a.m. on the 22nd ultimo. With the exception of a heavy gale of 18 hours' duration in the Bay of Biscay, the passage on the Mediterranean side was marked by generally fine weather. There was an intense tropical heat in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden, but it was soon forgotten under the cooler conditions of weather which were experienced afterwards to Colombo. A very fast run was made to Colombo. After taking in cargo the voyage was resumed on the 2nd instant, and in crossing the Indian Ocean moderate winds and quiet seas were met with in the region of the S.E. trades. This was a more agreeable experience than having to contend against head gales and heavy seas, as not infrequently happens on this portion of the voyage. After landing mails, passengers, and cargo at Adelaide, the Kaiser left for Melbourne at 2 p.m. on Saturday, and entered Port Phillip Heads at an early hour on Monday morning. There cargo and passengers were landed and the ship docked and cleaned. Departure was taken for Sydney at 10.54 a.m. on Saturday last from Hobson's Bay, Point Lonsdale abeam at 1.30 p.m. and pilot landed, Gabo abeam at 10.35 a.m. Sunday, Green Cape at noon, Montague Island at 4.28 p.m., Jervis Bay at 9 35 p.m., and slowed for pilot off Sydney Heads at 4.40 a.m. yesterday. The steamer anchored in Neutral Bay and coaling work was at once commenced. The agents, Messrs. Fred. Betz and Co., are anxious to get the ship away on Monday next. To-morrow, or perhaps to-night, the vessel will be berthed at the Circular Quay at the south-eastern part, and will be discharged and loaded as rapidly as possible. It is proposed to make a public day for visiting on Sunday next.

CRUISE OF H.M.S. EGERIA.

SEARCHING FOR REPUTED SHOALS.

DEEP SOUNDINGS—FIVE MILES DOWN.

H.M.S. Egeria, Captain C. F. Oldham, arrived yesterday from a lengthy surveying cruise along the proposed Vancouver cable route, and in various groups of islands. The cruise is thus reported in the notes taken from the ship's rough log, and it will readily be remarked that the work performed by the Egeria has been of an important and varied character during her absence from Sydney:—H.M.S. Egeria left Sydney for Auckland April 24, taking soundings en route, the greatest depth obtained being 2800 fathoms in lat. 33·40 S., and 156 00·45 E., the least being 496 in lat. 33·56 and long. 161·35¼ E. Arrived at Auckland on 3rd May, coaled, and gave leave to men before proceeding finally to the islands. Left Auckland on the 8th, and proceeded first to positions assigned on the chart to the Edith or Somine Bank and the Flosenger Shoal, where breakers were reported as seen. The soundings obtained round the position of the former varied between 1881 fathoms and 2291 fathoms, and round the latter from 2382 fathoms to 2400 fathoms, so it was evident no shoals existed in the assigned positions, or near them, as a careful search was made extending over some days and in fine weather. A course was then shaped for the Minerva Reefs (soundings being taken en route) to check their astronomical position and see if any material change had taken place, and the positions obtained by experience agreed with those already observed, and no changes had taken place as regards the reefs themselves. Tonga was reached on 23rd May, and the ship remained there till 3rd of June, leaving on that date for Pago Pago harbour in the island of Tutuila. During this cruise the deepest known sounding obtained by an English ship was taken, namely, a depth of 4530 fathoms, the position of it being lat. 17·04 S., 172·14¼ W. Arrived at Pago Pago on the 9th, left the 10th, arriving at Apia, Samoa, on the 11th. Coaled and proceeded to sea on the 16th, and Quiros Island was first visited and a plan of it made. Then a course was shaped for the Union Group, over which a protectorate was proclaimed, and from thence to Sydney, Phoenix, Birnie, Hull, Enderbery, and Canton Islands of the Phoenix Group, all but the two lastnamed were annexed. Surveys were made of Sydney, Phoenix, and Canton Islands, and plans of anchorage off Sydney and Canton Islands. Lines of sectional soundings to 1000 fathoms were obtained off several of the islands, to ascertain the slope of the coral reef to the bed of the ocean. Samoa was reached on the 18th of July, and having coaled proceeded to Pago Pago on 25th, to meet the Admiral. But the Orlando having returned to Sydney, a schooner from Tonga bringing the news, the Egeria left on the 3rd of August for Apia. Again filled up with coal, and sailed for Takafu, one of the Union Group, on the 6th. A survey of Takafu was made, and soundings and sectional lines taken, this occupying till the 20th, when a course was shaped for Fiji, along the proposed cable route, soundings being taken every 50 miles, the greatest depth obtained being 2606 fathoms (chocolate clay), in lat 15·00 S. and long. 177·35 W., and the least 839 fathoms (glob ooze and vol sand) in lat. 11·00 30 S., and 172·09¼ E. Suva was reached on the 28th, and the ship remained till the 11th of September, having a partial refit and to give leave to the men. Leaving on the 11th, the ship steered to the southward to the Alfred Reef of which no sign was seen, and a depth of 1876 fathoms obtained on charted position. From thence to the Salmon Reef reported awash, but soundings, varying in depth from 1076 fathoms to 1392 fathoms were reached here, so these dangers also appear to be non-existent. A little to the eastward of Salmon Reef, and due north of the Ono Islands a small volcanic bank was found, with some 266 fathoms on it. Nukualofa, Tonga, was reached on the 21st, the ship remaining there till the 2nd of September, when she left for Falcon Island, which was thrown up by an eruption in November, 1885, and is now gradually disappearing. It is practically a cinder heap and still warm. The temperature was obtained at different depths under the surface. A landing was effected and the astronomical position accurately fixed, and cairns built at fixed distances in a line across the greatest diameter, so that any ship again visiting the island could easily ascertain the amount washed away. Soundings were obtained to 118 fathoms all round the island. Three cocoanut trees, of about a foot high, were found growing on the island. The ship next visited Nomuka, one of the southern islands of the Hapai Group. A survey was made of it, and soundings taken between there and Tonga. Tonga was reached on the 4th of November, and having awaited the arrival of the Lubeck, orders were received to proceed to Sydney to pay off. The Egeria left Tonga on the 10th for Sydney, wind till the 16th from N. and N.W., and light S.E.; 16th to 24th fresh breezes between S.E. and N.E., gradually falling at noon on 24th, and shifted to S.S.E. with rain to arrival.

THE NORTH SHORE RAILWAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Although greatly interested, I have not, so far, intruded on your columns in reference to the above matter, but I would now beg your indulgence to reply to "Emu's" contribution in to-day's issue. Your correspondent has got hold of the wrong idea. The Minister's intention is simply to ask Parliament to resume the land, the Minister himself having personally no control whatever over its decision. I contend that "Emu's" suggestion as to the Cremorne route had been already acted upon before the present scheme was submitted to the House, when the Government carefully got all the information together before making their proposal in preference to all others. The keynote to the opposition to the proposal is sounded at the wrong end of "Emu's" letter, when, by way of conclusion, he urges the Government to submit the alternative route, one which I am sure cannot possibly have any superior advantage over the present one proposed, except to a few people centred round Cremorne, and to those who have been misled by ill-judged promises into paying excessive prices for vacant land.

I am, &c.,

November 25. HOUSEHOLDER.

STATE SCHOOL TEACHERS AND RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

An influential deputation interviewed Mr. Carruthers, Minister for Public Instruction, yesterday, representing several religious bodies. The deputation was introduced by Mr. F. Abigail, M.L.A., with whom were Messrs. Hutchison (Canterbury), Hawthorne, Lees, Wheeler, A. Allen and Schey M.s.L.A., Rev. Dr. Kelynack, Rev. Dr. Gilchrist, Rev. R. Dey, Rev. Mr. James, and several others.

Rev. Dr. KELYNACK, representing the Wesleyan body, said that the deputation wished to protest against enforcement of the 28th regulation under the Public Instruction Act. This regulation was as follows: "Teachers of all ranks are required to abstain from public discussions on religious or political topics, and from public controversy on the merits of the system of education now in force, as also from acting as local preachers, lay readers, or local correspondents of newspapers." They had not come to see the Minister without strong reason. The matter had been agitated in the Wesleyan Church time and again, and sometimes he felt irritant that they had not taken action before. He knew men in the Education Department who felt this regulation a sore and grievous burden to bear. He asked the Minister to take the matter into consideration, with a view to removing the restrictions and disadvantages they laboured under as teachers. An injury was caused to the department by the regulation, and a disability to the community.

Mr. S. E. LEES said that there were persons who would not take positions in the department on account of this limitation.

Rev. Dr. GILCHRIST said that as moderator of the Presbyterian Church his individual views were in favour of the action taken by the Wesleyan Church. The Presbyterians were ready to join in similar action. The Presbyterian Church had always been in favour of giving teachers the greatest freedom possible. In this particular case they had resolved not to enter upon the whole question brought up by the regulation, but to confine themselves to that part of the regulation which seemed more specially to interfere with the liberty of the teacher on the Sabbath day in doing work in connection with the church to which he might belong. He looked on the regulation as an infringement of citizens' rights. In the interior of the country the restriction was very greatly felt.

Rev. R. DEY, as representing the Congregational Union, said that it was a matter which had been before the Congregational Union at its recent annual gathering, and they felt that an injustice was being done to the State and also to the State school teachers. The Union had passed a resolution deprecating any restrictions.

Mr. Wheeler, M.L.A., Rev. Mr. Holding, Rev. Mr. James, and Mr. Alfred Allen, M.L.A., also spoke against the restrictions imposed by the regulation.

Mr. CARRUTHERS, in reply, said that the department had regulations which to a large extent restrained teachers from doing anything which tended to give offence to any section of the community, which on account of its immoral tendency might pollute the minds of the rising generation, but they were not in this regulation under discussion; such regulations were exercised when required. They had had the case of a teacher of a Public school who, in the exercise of his rights as a citizen, thought it was a proper thing to chop his wood outside a church door while service was going on. The department took action and stopped him from doing it. There had been a great deal of discussion on this regulation, and first of all, he was surprised there had not been more promptitude shown in the matter. This regulation had been in force for something like a score of years here; it was in force in England. When we took up our system of national education it was imposed here and had been in force from start to finish, and not one word had been altered. It had been acted on most rigidly. They could not point to the case of a single Public school teacher who had broken the regulation, and who, on the matter being reported to the department, had not been dealt with. The department could not act without information, but when attention was called to a case it acted at once. It had been the duty of almost every Minister of the department to let it be known that the regulation would be acted on in its entirety. A similar restriction was in force in Victoria, Queensland, and South Australia. The Council of Education had a regulation to the same effect. The promptitude he and the deputation had referred to should have been exercised years ago. The freedom of the subject was very well defined by "Blackstone" as not being the perfect freedom which a man could claim for himself; but the freedom gained by giving up certain privileges so that the whole community might live better. The Public Instruction Act struck a severe blow at the freedom of the individual, because it compelled individuals to send their children to be educated up to a certain standard, and provided State schools for that purpose, and therefore the general talk about restraining the liberty of the subject was a thing which did not exist. The State should have the fullest control over the teachers, not only in school hours, but over their general action in life, so far as it tended to affect the minds of the rising generation. This was necessary, so as to safeguard the children, and therefore the State was justified in making regulations which interfered with the liberty of the teacher in order to promote the efficiency of the service. The regulation, so far as he was concerned individually, had very little sympathy from him, and if he had to act as an individual it might be that he should act just as the deputation was; but he had to look before he leaped, to make inquiries and listen to arguments which were the outcome of the experience of years in relation to the working of this regulation here and in other countries. There had been very few objections from the teachers themselves. He had endeavoured to promote the right of teachers to come to the Minister and make their representations. The regulation could not be so strained as to prevent teachers taking part in Sunday-school work, and it was not the intention of the Department to apply it in such a narrow-minded way as to affect Sunday-school teaching. It must apply to political discussions, &c., and to local preaching, because in the latter case the Department had found that teachers were exhausted with hard physical work, as riding long distances for instance on Sundays, and were unfitted for educational work the following week. That was the experience of the Council of Education. As regarded the injury to the general community it was fair matter for consideration. However, the regulation was there when he entered office, and he had let it remain as a passive instrument in administering the law as he found it. He had done this much, and that was to ask the conference of school teachers sitting next month to let him know their experience in all parts of the colony of the effect of the regulation and its necessity. Sometime before the end of December he should be prepared to publicly announce what his course would be.

We have been furnished with a number of copies of documents in the Public Instruction Department which show that regulations similar to that complained of by the deputation have been in force for many years. The first is an extract from regulations of the Board of National Education, dated 1849, and is as follows:—"The Commissioners will regard the conduct of any teacher attending meetings held for political purposes, or taking part in elections of members of the Legislative Council, as incompatible with the performance of his duties, and accordingly dismiss him."

The second is an extract from regulations of the Board of National Education, dated 1853, and is as follows:—"The board will not appoint or continue as teacher any person who is a recognised minister of religion, or who acts in public as a religious instructor, the exercise of such a function by a teacher being calculated to excite religious jealousy, and thus to interfere with the impartial and national character of the school."

The third document is a copy of Circular No. 37, issued from the National Education Office, and dated 26th November, 1861. It reads as follows:—"To Teacher of the National School at —— Sir,—I have the honour, by direction of the Board of National Education, to acquaint you that some of the teachers in their service have recently, by correspondence in the public papers, and by other acts, created animosities which detract seriously from their own influence, and disqualify them for the positions they hold. In intimating to you the displeasure of the board at these proceedings, I am instructed to state, that it is required of a National school teacher that he so far observe neutrality with regard to public questions of a political, social, or religious character, as to abstain from every act tending to produce strife and ill-feeling, or calculated to distract his attention from his own immediate duties. 2. The board have no desire to scrutinise too closely the intentions of the teachers whose indiscretion has given cause for the foregoing remarks, but are willing to consider that they were actuated by a wish to serve the community. It may be observed, however, that in the performance of the duties attached to his office, the National school teacher has already laid out for him an extensive, but perfectly distinct field of usefulness, within which if he would succeed at all, his exertions must be restricted. There he can labour without danger of conflict with the opinions of others, and consequently without prejudice to his own position and influence. 3. It is impossible for a National school teacher properly to inculcate the principles of the "General Lesson" when he fails to perceive that, by exposing to public ridicule or disapprobation the doctrines, the persons, or the practices held in reverence by any religious body, he is acting in direct opposition to the spirit and teaching of that document. 4. But, while abstinence from public controversy on political, social, and religious subjects must be regarded as an essential condition to the reception and retention of an appointment in the board's service, nothing herein stated is designed to convey the impression that a National school teacher is debarred by his position from discharging to the fullest extent his personal obligations to the State, to society, and to the Church of which he may be a member; or that he is in any way restricted in the exercise of his civil or religious privileges. I have, &c., W. C. WILLS, Secretary."

Next comes a minute by the late Council of Education, to the effect that "They (Public schools) are intended to provide for the education of children of various religious denominations, without offence to the peculiar convictions of any. The whole of the teaching arrangements are made to support this view, and the teacher is required to so guard both his conduct and instruction as to inspire confidence in the parents of his pupils that he will not take advantage of his position to instil into the minds of his charge doctrines or observances differing from those of the denomination to which they respectively belong. But by assuming the character of a minister of religion, and therefore bound to preach doctrines characteristic of one denomination only, a Public school teacher forfeits the confidence of parents, and is likely to destroy that harmonious co-operation of different sects in school matters which it is the design of the Public school system to create and foster."

A regulation framed in May, 1883, read as follows:—"Teachers of all ranks are required to abstain from public discussions on political or religious topics, and from public controversy upon the merits of the system of education now in force, as also from acting as local preachers, lay readers, or local correspondents of newspapers."

THE FEDERATION QUESTION.

MR. GILLIES AND SIR HENRY PARKES.

The Premier has received the following communication from Mr. Gillies, Premier of Victoria:—

"Premier's Office, Melbourne, 22nd November, 1889.

"The Honourable Sir Henry Parkes, G.C.M.G., &c., &c., &c., Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

"Sir,—I am not sure that you expected me to answer your communication of Tuesday last, directing my attention to various public utterances of mine, urging you to 'do something to mark and distinguish your present position by making a great effort to join all the colonies in one.'

"I would not withdraw one of the utterances you have quoted—they express my sentiments now. You are the head and leader of the great mother colony, which has, unfortunately, stood aloof from such federation as was at the time possible, thus barring the way to Australian unity. If I solicited you often to step into the open and declare yourself and your purpose, it was with the wish and the hope that we could henceforward work together. I did not then, and do not now, contemplate that we are to be satisfied with the Federal Council, and there can be no difference between us in the opinion that nothing short of a fully organised federal government could answer the high purposes of a federal Australia.

"You have mistaken my meaning in thinking that I ascribed to you the intention, in your proposals, of discrediting the Federal Council; the context will, I think, scarcely bear that interpretation, and I am sure you do not entertain any personal disrespect for the members of the Council, who, I believe, are willing to move from 'good to better, and from better to best.'

"I have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient servant,

"D. GILLIES, Premier."

THE COMING SESSION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Under the above heading and after a careful reading of your leading article of the 11th instant, which called for earnest public attention, you on Saturday, the 16th, permitted a letter of mine—bearing on the arguments in said leader—to appear in your columns. "Thos. Peters" on the 20th instant secured the favour of the Herald for a letter of his, with the heading "Protectionists' Facts," purporting to be an answer to mine. You will have observed that "Thos. Peters" does not discuss the question at issue, viz., the work of the forthcoming session of Parliament, but flies off in nonsensical effusions against some object lessons to which I had called public attention—the absence of the carriages of wealthy men in our streets, the empty houses along Hunter-street and in the suburbs, &c., &c. "Thos. Peters" poses also as a most extraordinary objector to having his own means increased, but stands exhibited as a direct hindrance to his fellow colonists becoming more wealthy than at present. Will you, therefore, allow me to make a short reply, so that I may let a little light in on that terrible fiscal blindness of his which makes him to exclaim, "I, as a free-trader, object to pay a premium of £10 per cent. on the cost of articles which by manufacturing here will employ in glass and pottery-ware 3000 men."

No protectionist ever intends that "Thos. Peters" or any other colonist should pay the 10 per cent., as it does not turn out so in practice; but the protectionist gives "Thos. Peters" and all others who, call themselves freetraders, more money than they would otherwise but, by protection, become the possessors of. For instance, the protectionists will remove the 3d. per lb. duty on "Thos. Peters's" tea, which, supposing that gentleman consumes 3oz. of tea per week, will amount to 9¾lb. in a year, the duty on which comes to 2s. 5d. Well, our pottery manufacturers will, amongst other materials, turn out, say, cups and saucers, and one pair of these will last you a year or two with care, and the 10 per cent. duty to enable the article to be manufactured here might increase the cost to 10d. the first year, instead of 9d., as at present., the duty on which of 10 per cent. scarcely amounts to 1d., giving "Thos. Peters" 2s. 4d. a year profit on this one transaction. The 2s. 4d. now gained on the tea transaction will enable "Thos. Peters" to bear the temporary 10 per cent. on many other articles he requires, and when that is exhausted the protectionists can throw off another and another duty now collected under the freetrade policy, and continue to put money into his and his fellow freetraders' pockets. But, Mr. Editor, wherein "Thos. Peters" stands out as a block and a hindrance to his fellow colonists increasing their wealth is as follow. On every £1000 worth of glass and pottery-ware produced in the colony the freetraders would not only have his glass tumbler, his flower pot, and his cup and saucer secured to him when manufactured here, but they would have the whole thousand sovereigns in solid gold. This £1000 is a simple representative of hundreds of thousands secured to our colonists, which would enable our prosperous business men to have profits enough to hire the carriage builder, and the carriages would appear in our streets and parks instead of in London and Paris or New York. Again, the hundreds of thousands would employ so many men that our houses would become occupied, and the property holders amongst us would draw rents instead of having their houses empty as at present. Again, the constant accumulations of the employment amongst ourselves of our hundreds of thousands of pounds—the ordinary profits of trade—would enable our own people to buy up our own debentures, if we required public loans, and the interest on these debentures would be spent amongst our own fellow colonists, instead of, as at present, sent out of the colony. A lot of meaningless rubbish about upas trees, American sectional exceptions, protection unpatriotic conduct in accepting payment, &c., is scarcely worthy of notice, especially as no protectionist member of Parliament can be proved to be unpatriotic, unless that member accepts an appointment for pay, and resigns his seat in Parliament for a profitable billet. "Thos. Peters'" figure of speech concerning the tobacco plant ultimately bearing cigarettes is such a good one that protection by his own illustration is now absolutely certain. I am, &c.,

ALDERMANIC APATHY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—We are now closing the municipal year of this great and promising city of Sydney; a memorable year, inasmuch as it witnesseth the opening of the great Centennial Hall, with a fitting demonstration of the completion of a long-talked-of, long-wanted requirement of our growing population. At this time, also, the citizens are called upon to elect representatives for the different wards of the city, whose duty it will be to cultivate and develop the great facilities nature has bestowed upon us for the advancement of our social, moral, and political life. The occasion is a fitting one for a citizen to ask himself whether those who have accepted, eagerly accepted, the dignities and responsibilities of our civic representatives have been faithful to their trust, and if not, whether it is not now the time they should be brought to task, and an account of their stewardship be insisted upon. To me this appears to be especially the case. I claim that the ward in which I happen to be commercially interested has been seriously neglected. I ask the ratepayers for a crucial examination of the various highways and byways of that ward, perhaps the most important of all the wards of the city, and say whether my charge cannot be sustained. Why should the avenues of trade be choked? Why should our civic rights be so ignored as they have been, having as our representatives three aldermen returned year after year to their present position, and who have therein grown grey? Is it that the advancement of years has brought with it infirmity of body, incapacity of intellect, or simply a cool and an impertinent independence of the will of the electors? They, with their compeers, have given us our beautiful Town Hall, and exhausted by their labour would appear to have slept. After hybernating for a tolerably long period, they have awakened again and given us a Centennial Hall, but with what sort of approaches? Fortunately, George-street—the only respectable street in the city—happens to front the Town Hall, while Druitt-street, the slum, flanks it—a lively street. Not long since we read in your columns about certain contemplated improvements to the surroundings of the Town Hall, viz., resumption of 50ft. in Druitt-street, the removal of sundry dwellings in Kent-street, with a view to the reservation of a most desirable front to the Centennial Hall; and we, who did not know better, began to congratulate ourselves that muddle was in its death-throes, and from its ashes should arise adornment to our public buildings and justice to the ratepayers generally.

Possibly all these good things are being held in reserve for the celebration of our next centennial year, but as in all probability I shall be buried before then, I should like to know what our aldermen are going to do in the meantime. I am, &c., CIVIS.

THE ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—"Euterpe" asks me to account for the failure of the last season of orchestral concerts, albeit they were given on Saturday afternoons. I am not omniscient, but several good reasons can and shall here be given, so that one so versed in concert giving and the bent of the Sydney playgoers' mind as "Euterpe" claims to be may be enlightened. First of all, Sydney has hitherto had scanty education in instrumental combinations; then the concerts were not inaugurated under political or sectarian patronage. Next, the hall in which the concerts were given was new and its locale comparatively unknown, and having been built for rinking purposes, it appeared incredible that it was acoustically adapted for musical performances; add to this that the concerts followed on a surfeit of big musical affairs which drained our pockets in these bad times, and conclude with the fact that instrumentation has hitherto been regarded here simply as a capital umbrella held over conversation at concerts, and few other reasons (if any) can possibly be adduced.

The fact that outdoor sports are indulged in on Saturday afternoons can have very little to do with small concert audiences, for the athletic mind is seldom musical, if even intellectual. It is almost as hard to find artistic or literary inclination at sports as in a dancing saloon, and so outdoor amusement is not a factor in the matter.

I do not know why "Euterpe" should designate my plain truths as "wild statements." How ungenerous it would be for me to suggest that "Euterpe" is afraid to sign a proper name because "Euterpe" is manager of, or interested in, some venture which would suffer if the orchestral concerts were a success (and they can only be a success if given on Saturday afternoons), or if I hinted that "Euterpe" was fixed so that the concerts were beyond "Euterpe's" reach on Saturday afternoons. I will not be so ungenerous, for abuse and insinuation are never sound weapons of argument.

My experience and knowledge of concert giving alone have induced me to endeavour to excite public interest in Signor Hazon's bold venture, and it cannot be too often reiterated, that it will be to Sydney's lasting disgrace if the venture is not a monetary, as well as (as it now is) an artistic triumph.

As to "Euterpe's" demand that we obtain an orchestra outside the list of theatre orchestra players, his vast experience ought to show him two things. Firstly, how impatient and almost impossible of control, how fractious and unreliable amateur musicians are; and, secondly, how few in this solo (vocal and instrumental) loving age and city devote any attention to orchestral work. If "Euterpe" emerges from behind his nom de plume we shall understand his motives better. I am, &c.,

THE CONFERENCE OF 1881 AND FEDERATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of the 23rd instant you publish a report of a speech made by Mr. M'Millan at Orange on the 22nd. Speaking with reference to federation, the Minister is reported to have said:—"The first great impetus of a practical character given to the federal idea was at the opening of the line between Sydney and Melbourne a few years ago. On that occasion a great federal banquet between the two colonies took place. One of the ablest men who took part in the proceedings was Mr. Service, a most consistent freetrader in Victoria. Enthusiastic men to a great extent led the way. Like many movements of a primitive character, it dropped to the ground. The next movement was at the convention which met at Sydney with regard to New Guinea."

I wish, with your permission, to say that this was hardly a complete statement so far as it was intended to describe the origin and growth of the present movement in favour of federation. Nor, indeed, does it do sufficient justice to absent political friends. I have been more or less acquainted with subjects of "practical" political interest in the Australian colonies since 1881, and Mr. M'Millan will, I trust, pardon me if I say that it seems to me very like an omission not to have referred to Sir Henry Parkes' somewhat historical memorandum dated 21st January, 1881, and which he presented to the Intercolonial Conference held in Sydney in that year.

After much debate on the part of the delegates from the other colonies, and in the course of which I, for one, endeavoured to support the cause of federation, Mr. Graham Berry, then Premier of Victoria—and who certainly was not a freetrader, as Mr. Service is described to be—proposed, and I had the honour to second, a motion to the effect that the memorandum in question should be inserted in the proceedings of the conference.

I take the liberty of referring Mr. M'Millan to the published minutes of the proceedings of the conference, and annexed to which he will find, not only the draft Federal Council Bill as then proposed by Sir Henry Parkes, but also a draft bill to establish a Court of Appeal, and which was prepared by the sub-committee of which I was a member. I am, &c.,

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The cable news in your issue of to-day shows unmistakably that Russia and France are determined to go in hit or miss for one of the most bloody wars that perhaps the world has ever known. Will the most ardent advocates of peace say that, after every effort has been made on the part of the peaceably disposed nations to prevent such a dreadful calamity, we ought not, in the name of the Lord, to unsheath the judicial sword for the extermination from the face of the earth of those rebels from whom such offences come, as being not fit to live? They comprise the few, and not the many, of the world's troublers.

Whatever subjects of importance may be occupying the public mind here and elsewhere, they sink into utter insignificance compared with the desirability of doing all that can be done to prevent the peace of the world being disturbed at the fag end of the nineteenth century. I am, &c.,

NETTING IN THE WATERS OF THE UPPER RIVERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Evidently with kind intentions, but with a mistaken zeal, Mr. F. Farnell is endeavouring to influence the Premier to override the decision of the Fisheries Commission in its wise decree to keep closed the upper parts of the Parramatta River as against net fishing. It appears that Mr. Farnell, instigated by a number of fishermen (?), is agitating for the opening of this river as far up as the railway bridge. I trust Sir Henry Parkes will resolutely resist this ill-advised attempt to reverse one of the few wise things that ever emanated from the Fisheries Commission. These river crawlers and mud-scrapers are continually craving for "more water." Well, there is plenty of water available for them if they will only go to it. What sort of fishermen are these who confine their exertions to the quiet and secluded waters of the upper rivers? Surely there is an abundance of sea room for them, wherein they can successfully exercise their calling without continuing in the destruction of the spawning and breeding beds of the upper waters of the rivers. For years past I have, through your columns, advocated the necessity of closing all the upper tributaries of Port Jackson permanently against net fishing. In no other part of the world would such license be allowed to so-called fishermen as they obtain here. In Victoria not only is the Yarra closed against netting in its entirety, but the lower waters surrounding its mouth nearly as far as Williamstown are protected against netting. And something similar should be the law here. Netting should not be permitted to the westward of Bradley's Head, taken in a line southerly to Double Bay. For such a suggestion as this, doubtless I shall be subjected to any amount of anathemas from the river-scrapers, from whom will be heard the oft-repeated cry of "our living is being taken from us." In reply to this, I should say a far better living is in store for them if they had the courage to remove further afield and nearer to the sea. But apart from this aspect of the case, shall it be permitted, in order that 10 or 20 men should be suffered to gain an easy subsistence, the fish-producing powers not only of the Parramatta, but all the other numerous inlets and tributaries of Sydney harbour, should be sacrificed, and at the same time the recreation and other rights of a whole community be made to suffer for the advantage of a few? I am, &c.,

LATE TRAMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—On Saturday last I had occasion to go to Enmore, and on looking over my time-table I found that a tram left Enmore at 11.15 p.m. I waited for that, and got into it, and I was surprised to see it passing the stopping-places without stopping at any. I asked the conductor would he stop at Forbes-street. He said yes, and when the tram got to Forbes-street it did not stop, so I got off while the tram was going. Now, I say if the public are to be guided by the Government tramway time-tables, should not this mistake be rectified? And, furthermore, what is the use of wasting coke, time, &c., by letting late trams run if they don't stop and pick up passengers who are waiting for them. I am, &c.,

SALT REGAL PATENT RIGHTS PROTECTED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

SALT REGAL CHANGES COLOUR and DEVELOPS OZONE in WATER SUPPLIES A

SALT REGAL REFRESHING, APPETISING, EFFERVESCENT DRINK.

SALT REGAL All who value their Health and Comfort will do well to give this New Discovery a trial.

SALT REGAL is a high-class Antiseptic Salt possessing hygienic properties hitherto unknown to Science. A grateful, cooling cup, developing Ozone (the principle of life). Will cleanse the mouth, clear the throat, sweeten the breath, and maintain a natural condition of the system. Correct all the impurities arising from errors of diet—eating or drinking. Salt Regal has the special property of purifying the water in which it is mixed.

SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL prevents and relieves Flatulency, Nausea, Giddiness, Heartburn, Acidity, Palpitation, Feverishness, Irritation of the Skin, Weariness, Lassitude, General Debility, Diarrhœa, Dysentry. It is a powerful antidote against Blood Poisoning, Typhoid, Cholera, Malaria, and Diphtheria.

SALT REGAL, when regularly used, is a certain guarantee of Health. One draught per week will maintain Health, while a daily draught will restore health to the debilitated.

SALT REGAL revives and never depresses. Every Traveller or Voyager should carry a Bottle of Salt Regal. It relieves the torture of Sea-Sickness.

SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL should be used daily in every family. Invaluable in the Nursery. A boon to Ladies. Maintains a clear, healthy condition of the skin, and by purifying the system removes all humours from the body, and destroys the sources of bad complexions.

University of Aberdeen.

I find Salt Regal to be a very carefully prepared saline. Its special feature is that it contains a small proportion of a very useful antiseptic, the value of which in such a preparation must be very great. Its use in warm climates will be found to be most valuable, both on account of its gentle aperient qualities, and of its antiseptic property.

Henry Thomas Jones, F.I.C., Assist. Professor of Chemistry.

SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL SALT REGAL is sold in bottles (hermetically sealed), price 2/9. It cannot be imitated, and stands alone. Be careful to observe Salt Regal is a delicate white powder, but it turns the water to a beautiful Rose Pink; unless it does this it is not genuine, and its sale should be at once reported to the Secretary, Salt Regal Co.

A Real Royal Patent, not a Patent Medicine. Patent Rights Protected in every civilised country. All London and Provincial Wholesale Houses regularly stock it.

The Sydney Morning Herald

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1889.

In a letter dated Kafurro, August 5, Stanley describes his journey to Emin Pasha. His followers suffered terrible privations from smallpox and shortness of rations and water. The expedition was bristling with incident, not the least of which was that Stanley himself lay at the point of death for 28 days.

Lord Carrington has accepted an invitation to open the Town Hall and Free Library and instal the electric light at Young on December 11.

Sir Henry Parkes has promised to deliver an address on federation at Albury. It is anticipated that the Premier's visit to the boundary town will be made on Saturday next.

Parliament will be opened by His Excellency the Governor at noon to-day. It is understood that the Government's intention is to devote a brief session to financial matters.

The Public Works Sectional Committee, who are inspecting the proposed improvements to the entrances to the Richmond and Clarence rivers, the Breakwater at Byron Bay, and the railway from Grafton to the Tweed, took evidence at Lismore last night.

Notwithstanding that next Wednesday has been proclaimed a public holiday, the Sydney Exchange and Custom House will remain open. Numerous business firms have determined not to observe the holiday.

S. Taylor, formerly of the Sydney Grammar School, has commenced his scholarship residence at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge.

Nominations of candidates for aldermanic elections are to be made to-day.

Lord Hopetoun, on arriving at Adelaide to-day, will be greeted by the Earl of Kintore, the Premier, Major-General Downes, and members of the South Australian Ministry. His Excellency's welcome to Adelaide will be purely informal.

Yesterday the Parliamentary Committee on Public Works inspected the route of the proposed Marrickville-Burwood-road railway.

Mr. J. Portus has been elected hon. secretary of the New South Wales Cricket Association vice Mr. D. Gregory, resigned.

H.M.S. Egeria arrived in Sydney yesterday after a seven months' cruise along the proposed cable route to Vancouver Island. In Sydney she will pay off and refit, and it is estimated that surveying operations will be resumed about two months hence.

There was a fair attendance of buyers at the Homebush fat stock sales yesterday. Anticipations of a heavy supply to be received at Thursday's sales caused a reduction of prices ranging from 10s. to 15s. per head.

A Young Men's Christian Association Building has been opened at Goulburn. The total cost of the site and hall will be £3000, towards which £600 has been raised.

A telegram from Louth announces that "junks of ice as large as cricket-balls" fell there during a hailstorm yesterday. Nearly all the windows in town were smashed, and corrugated iron roofs were perforated. Dogs and other animals about the streets were killed, and trees were stripped of leaves and fruit. It is estimated that rain fell at the rate of five inches within half an hour.

It has been resolved to form an Engine-drivers' Union in Newcastle and district, which will be open to winding, hauling, locomotive, and fan-colliery enginemen.

The dispute between the surface men and the directors of the Greta Colliery has been settled, and the men will resume work this morning.

There was a fairly large attendance of the trade at the Darling Harbour sales yesterday morning. An unusually heavy supply of forage was forward, for which a steady demand prevailed.

The s.s. Echuca, from Sydney September 30, has arrived in London.

Yesterday, the prorogation of the Victorian Parliament was delayed an hour owing to a discussion on the Council's Amendments to the Education Endowment Commissioners Bill. Eventually the bill was withdrawn, and Parliament was prorogued until January 12.

The Kaipoi woollen mills strike has terminated, the employees having resumed work yesterday.

Heavy rain falling yesterday threatens to mar the opening of the Dunedin Exhibition to-day. Ostensibly with a view of attending the opening ceremonies, 10,000 persons are reported to have arrived at Dunedin last night.

In the Victorian prorogation of Parliament speech the hope was expressed that the colonies would be able to join in a more complete organisation without sacrificing any of the results already achieved.

Inquiries made at Whagunyah by a medical officer sent from Melbourne and the police, result in the assertion that the passenger alleged to have contracted smallpox on the steamship Yarra is not affected with that disease.

At the Melbourne wool sales yesterday business was brisk, there being 4800 bales offered and 4500 sold at exceedingly good prices.

A man named William Elliot attempted to commit suicide yesterday by jumping from the Victoria-street bridge, Melbourne, into the Yarra. He was rescued by a blacksmith, and lodged in the lockup. While there he made a second attempt to kill himself by battering his head against the wall.

During her surveying trip between Fiji and the Navigator Islands H.M.S. Egeria reached the deepest soundings ever made by a British ship, namely, 4,530 fathoms, or a little over 5 miles. This bottom was reached in latitude 17·04 S., 172·14½ W.

The previously quarantined steamer Yarra, with her original crew, 95 passengers transhipped from the Tanais, and 10 passengers from Sydney, sailed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Marseilles via Melbourne and Adelaide.

The S.S. Kaiser Wilhelm, the largest merchant vessel that has visited Australian waters, arrived at Sydney yesterday. She will leave on Monday next for Bremen.

Late news from China states that a feeling of great uneasiness exists in Pekin as to the stability of affairs in China. The young Emperor and Empress are believed to be unlucky, as there has been nothing but disaster since the Emperor's accession.

The barque Hattie E. Templey has been wrecked at San Mun Islands, near Hongkong. The barque was the property of Mr. Finlayson of this city.

Operations in the Sydney mining market were brisk yesterday. Broken Hill scrip was easier, but Junctions were steady.

Seats on the Melbourne Stock Exchange continue to be sought after, the admission fee of £1650 not proving a deterrent.

Thursday has been proclaimed a general holiday within the city and suburbs of Melbourne in honour of Lord Hopetoun's arrival.

The Victorian railway revenue between July 1 and November 14 of this year was £1,184,892 shewing a deficiency of £60,000 as compared with the corresponding period of last year.

From many parts of this colony reports are to hand of severe thunderstorms, accompanied in some instances by phenomenally heavy rain.

The opening of a Parliamentary session is too often a leap in the dark, because it cannot be seen beforehand into what vortex the House may be plunged, with what currents its members may find themselves struggling, and in what directions they may be swept. On the present occasion the future is more than usually uncertain. The only thing to be counted upon with assurance is the speedy advent of conflict and trouble. It is much to be desired that public business should be conducted in a more regular and punctual manner than that which has been the rule for some years past. This would be possible if party controversy were suspended, and a united effort were made to pass the Estimates for 1890, so that an early prorogation might lead to a timely recess and the reassembling of Parliament at a seasonable period of the coming year. We are glad that the Government has at last come to a determination to this effect. Failing this, it is desirable that Parliament should proceed to deal earnestly with such matters of legislation as are of urgent importance, as, for instance, a Local Government Bill. It seems, however, that the opening of the session will be immediately followed by an attempt to procure a trial of strength upon the question of protection or free trade. Of this, at least, we have been warned by the leader of the Opposition in terms that cannot be misunderstood.

It is natural, in view of what is to take place to-day, to revert to the proceedings of nine months ago when the present Assembly, newly elected, met for its first session. The present leader of the Opposition was then the head of the Government. He had appealed to the electors to enable him to "recast the fiscal policy of the country." He met the representatives of the country fresh from their constituents, and ready, if not eager, to deliver the message with which they had been charged. Instead, however, of asking them to deliver that message, the question of the fiscal policy was deliberately set aside. The Government shrank from the possibility of receiving an adverse answer. It was suggested on that side that it would be "a questionable proceeding to attempt to disturb the fiscal policy without grave and due consideration." It was said that if the question of party against party, freetrade against protection were raised, "the general welfare of the country must suffer." Having regard to the condition of the country, it was suggested as "more desirable that we should have some useful and much-needed legislation." "Surely," it was added, "the battle between free trade and protection is not so bitter as not to permit of a temporary truce, to enable such a measure as a Local Government Bill to be passed into law." These were the earnest pleas put forward to justify the action of the Government of the day in evading for the time in the Assembly the issue which it had placed before the country at the general election, and in endeavouring to stave off a declaration by the Assembly that the appeal upon this issue of recasting the fiscal policy of the country had been a mistake. We all know what the result of that dilatory policy was.

In looking back upon the proceedings at the close of last February and the beginning of March, it is somewhat surprising to find the attitude of apprehension and timidity of those days exchanged now for one of confidence and determination, and language in deprecation of hostilities for threatenings of desperate attack. It is difficult, as we have said, to foresee the course of events in such confused and troublous times; but it is equally difficult to discover why, after neglecting at the opening of the first session so obvious a duty as that of placing before the representatives of the country the question which the country had been asked to decide, the sense of obligation to do this should now be felt pressing with irresistible force. Is it because the situation was simple then and is complicated now? Is it because the introduction of the question of federation has tended to disturb some of the old landmarks? Such a speculation as that may possibly be found to cut both ways. A certain amount of uncertainty and discouragement has been imported into the ranks of free trade; but it is clear that the application of the test has already developed divergent views on the side of protection. Is it supposed that with a Parliament which has only run one-third of its course, members of Assembly, who are now paid for their services, and may be doubtful about their seats, will be more eager than before to give critical votes against the Government of the day? Is it supposed that under the new circumstances members will be more unwilling than before to see that the public interest should predominate over party interest, and that before all things it is necessary that the Government should be carried on? These are nice questions to answer, and perhaps the inquiry should not be made too close. But it is plain that when the new Parliament met there was a calculation of probabilities, and the course founded upon it proved to be a mistake. What should have been done then was left undone. Is the mistake likely to be remedied by attempting to do it now? The answer will probable come in the course of a few days.

In the debate nine months ago one ingenuous supporter of the Government of the day, who approved of its action in evading the issue of the general election, said that "speaking personally he should prefer to go to the country again and again until they obtained a sufficient majority on their side to carry any measure they chose to bring forward." Under the peculiar circumstances this was a somewhat remarkable confession of faith. In the interests of the country it may be hoped that the pleasing daydream is not about to be realised. It may, however, be pointed out that in one important respect the situation is altered. It was really inopportune to talk about dissolutions immediately after the close of a general election, and at a time when it was practically proposed to make that general election meaningless and void. Now, however, if a vote were carried against the Government, the contingency referred to could not be shut out of sight; and whilst this must be admitted as a fairly certain thing, it is not to be taken for granted that another appeal to the people would be answered as this candid member desired. Upon two things we may reckon with some security. There will be a crowd of candidates when the next general election takes place, and the influences that will go towards determining the results will be more mixed up and confused than they were at the beginning of the year. At the same time some of those which tended to favour the cause of protection have lost in strength.

Under ordinary circumstances we should at this moment be speculating, not upon the possible consequences of a general election, but upon the direction and character of the work about to be commenced. Such a line of thought would be far more gratifying and hopeful, but unfortunately the signals of a coming storm have been hung out too prominently to pass unseen. We must prepare even for the worst, whilst indulging in a secret hope that the clouds may prove to have been thin vapour after all, and that they will be dispersed.

As our readers will have noticed, the Divorce Extension Bill has been passed through both Houses of the Victorian Parliament by very large majorities. The bill is substantially the one that was passed by our own Parliament in 1887, and reserved for the Queen's pleasure. Her Majesty's Ministers did not recommend the disallowance of the Act; they simply declined to give any advice regarding it. They thus placed it in suspension, and, according to the law which governs colonial Acts reserved for the Queen's pleasure, the measure has now been disallowed by the effluxion of time. The question, settled for a time in this unsatisfactory way, has been re-opened by the action of the Victorian Legislature. It is to the credit of this colony that in this matter it took the initiative; and it is also to its credit that it has persevered in spite of opposition here and discouragement in the mother country. In Victoria, however, the proposed reform was received with much more cordiality than it has met with in New South Wales. The bill was passed in the first instance here by a comparatively small majority in the Assembly, while in the Council it was carried by only one vote. In Victoria, where the question was taken up after it had been well threshed out here, the majorities were not only large, but larger than could have been anticipated. They were decisive, crushing majorities. In the Assembly the second reading was carried by 28 to 3; and reckoning pairs, the vote was 41 to 16. Attempts to weaken the bill in committee were defeated by large majorities; and taking the whole strength of the House, there were three members to one in favour of the measure. In the Council, which is an elective body like the Assembly, the decision was still more conclusive. The second reading was passed on the voices, and it has been ascertained that the majority in favour of the bill is something like 5 to 1. It is seldom that a measure meets with such general support in Parliament. The fact that the two representative Houses in Victoria are so strongly in favour of amending the divorce law is an indication of the state of public feeling in that colony. It is evident that Victoria, like New South Wales, recognises the defects of the existing law, and is anxious to have them removed.

But those who were instrumental in carrying the bill through the Legislature are, not unnaturally, anxious as to its ultimate fate. Our bill was practically vetoed, and what, it may be asked, will prevent the Victorian enactment from meeting with the like treatment? There can be no doubt that it will be looked upon with anything but a friendly eye by the authorities at home. Conservatism in the marriage laws is rigidly maintained, and the reluctance that is felt to see alterations made in the colonies may be readily understood. The question, however, is not in the position in which it stood when our Divorce Bill was sent to England in 1887. That measure had been passed by an indecisive majority in the Assembly, and by a majority of one in the Council, and it was quite open to the Imperial Government to say that it did not conclusively represent the feeling of the country. Other reasons justified the Queen's advisers in acting cautiously. In the despatch from the Secretary of State, dated January 27, 1888, in which the reasons which guided Ministers in declining to advise Her Majesty to assent to the bill were given, the inconvenience of having in the colonies a law that diverged from the law of England was pointed out, but this was not regarded as a sufficient ground for interfering with colonial legislation. The Government was of opinion, however, that in order to reduce to the lowest possible point the inconvenience which this change in the law would produce, three precautionary conditions should be satisfied before it was adopted. 1. In the first place, so far as possible it should be ascertained that the change was the deliberate resolve of the people of New South Wales, and was not likely to be modified by any accidental alteration in the balance of political parties; and it would therefore be, in the opinion of Her Majesty's Government, more expedient that the Queen's assent to such a measure should be deferred until it had been again passed by another Parliament after the occurrence of a general election. 2. It appeared to Her Majesty's Government to be exceedingly inconvenient that a different law on this subject should prevail among the different colonies of Australia. 3. Her Majesty's Government were of opinion that the operation of the change should be confined to those who were really inhabitants of the colony in which the new law was made, and should not be extended to persons whose residence was transitory. They were of opinion, therefore, that, in place of a two years' residence, a legal domicile should be required as the condition of a capacity to obtain a divorce under the measure. It cannot be said that there is anything unreasonable in these conditions; but it is important to point out that they have been practically complied with, both in the Victorian bill and in the measure which was introduced last session in the New South Wales Parliament, but not finally dealt with. The bills are practically identical, and they were submitted to the Assemblies of the respective colonies after a general election had taken place. In the Victorian Assembly the majority in favour of the bill is, as already stated, very large. In the New South Wales representative House a test division was taken upon the motion to send the bill to the Council, when there were 43 votes for the bill and only 24 against, the majority being thus nearly two to one. It is apparent, therefore, that if there has been any change in opinion here, the change has been in favour of the bill. As to the second point, the Queen's advisers cannot fail to notice that the two most populous and influential of the Australian colonies are now rowing in the same boat. When opinion runs so strongly in one direction in these two colonies, it is more than probable that the other colonies, where the conditions are the same, and the same reasons for altering the law exist, will before long follow suit. As to the question of domicile, that point has been conceded, so that the conditions laid down in the Secretary of State's despatch have been largely if not completely met.

It is difficult to see under the circumstances how the Queen's Ministers can advise the disallowance of the Victorian bill. There can be no doubt that the measure represents public feeling both in Victoria and New South Wales. There is also reason to believe that it represents public feeling in the other colonies; and judging from the tenor of the despatch which has been quoted, it is not the desire of the Imperial authorities to stand in the way of legislation which represents the views of the Australian communities, even though it may run counter to English conventions, English prejudices, and English laws. At the same time, it must be remembered that strong influences are at work in England in opposition to the alteration in the divorce law which the Australian communities wish to make. Co-operation on the part of the colonies is therefore highly necessary. Perhaps the best thing that New South Wales could do would be to send home another bill to accompany the Victorian measure, but the exigencies of Parliament will scarcely allow that to be done. Action, however, may be taken in other ways. If the Home Government can only be made to realise the state of public feeling in this and the other colonies on the subject of the divorce law, it will scarcely venture to place further obstacles in the way.

While to-day we face the work of a new session of our Parliament, the Victorians may look back on the work of a session ended. The Parliament of the sister colony prorogued yesterday. Its work during the session ended has not been very weighty, but it has been in many respects effective. The Acting-Governor in his speech mentioned in this connection the appointment of commissions for the best means of developing the goldfields of the colony, and for the purpose of securing a thorough scheme of drainage for Melbourne; the revision in the tariff; encouragement to agriculture and new industries by a system of bonuses; the passing of a public health bill; measures for reform of the Public Service Act; Patent laws, and some new rules in probate. Though the session has not been a tempestuous one, it did not end without a storm. The Education Endowment Commissioners Bill was dropped owing to a discussion arising at the last minute on an amendment of the Legislative Council that a clause permitting members of Parliament to act as commissioners be omitted. The bill came down to the Assembly shortly before the Acting-Governor arrived and a hot discussion ensued, the Government being disposed to accept the Council's amendment, while some of their supporters and a large portion of the Opposition were arrayed against the action of the Council. A division was prevented, and thus the bill dropped. There can be little doubt about the soundness of the position taken up by the Council. The bill was necessitated by the action of the Government in setting apart land for school purposes. Commissioners were required to administer the endowment, and the Ministry brought in a bill to provide therefor, with the result stated. The position of a commissioner is one of trust and emolument, and being in the gift of the Government the appointment of members of the Legislature would strike a blow at Parliamentary independence. That is a principle which in new countries like these should be established from the beginning, and then no evil precedents would hamper its application in the future. The opposition to the Council's amendment could not be based upon a principle. In its best light it could only appear a conflict for a freedom which, when closely inspected, is spurious; in its worst light it seems but another effort to place positions of advantage within the reach of members of Parliament, and like a premium to log-rolling. We have had enough of that here and elsewhere. The power to give these functions to members of the Legislature would in its exercise be dangerous to the country, both through its representatives and through the Government. We have stretched the principle of independence to the furthest point in the appointment by Parliament of paid members to committees such as the Public Works Committee. Neither our Parliament nor any other can safely go further.

There was a change of tone in the remarks of Cardinal Moran on Sunday afternoon last. We have been used to hear opinions regarding our Public school system from dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church which were not couched in the same gracious language that the CARDINAL used. As for the bearing of those remarks, while the form has changed the substance remains the same. The real attitude of the CARDINAL and his people can be little different from what it has been in the past, though his statements in all probability would tend to reassure those who look upon the attitude of the Roman clergy and people towards our Public instruction scheme as being one of aggressive hostility. The CARDINAL said it was not the intention or desire of his Church to undermine the State schools; that, on the contrary, it should be their wish to improve them in every way, having a vital interest in them by reason of the 25,000 Roman Catholic children that attend them. These words of peace are fitting; how far they are intended to go would, perhaps, need further explanation from the CARDINAL. As to undermining, the day of that has gone by. The struggle is over, and our Public school system is on a basis—so far as denominational religion is concerned—that time and the good judgment of the people will only further establish; not weaken. The movement throughout the world is towards undenominational schools, and in a democratic age it is only to be expected that the feeling in favour of them would increase. The Roman Catholics have a right to educate their children in their own way, but so far as this country is concerned national contribution towards this special instruction is impossible. The State provides its schools and its scheme of instruction for the benefit of all without cognisance of creed or condition, and if a section of the public refuses to accept the common fare set forth, that is a misfortune, but it is not the fault of the State. The Roman Catholics have performed good service in New South Wales in the cause of higher education. The pupils from their colleges and intermediate schools have done remarkably well at the Junior and Senior Examinations. This speaks much for the religious zeal of the people, and the devotion of their teachers, but it is only what would be expected of those who are working for a principle, and whatever may be said one way or another, the Roman Catholics are thoroughly earnest in their efforts to have denominational schools; or at least to have their schools partially supported by the State. Their higher schools are fed to a large extent by that nucleus of 25,000 children attending the State schools, so it may be seen the system is not considered so bad that Roman Catholic parents keep their children away from them. As to the future the CARDINAL may be sure, providing the proportion of the religious population remain as they are, that the State schools cannot be undermined, and that the highest service his body can render to the general good and to itself is to accept our scheme of primary education as it is, and labour in it and for it on the ground that more can be accomplished in working with a permanently established cause than by working against it.

The MINISTER for PUBLIC INSTRUCTION made a conclusive reply to the deputation which waited upon him yesterday to protest against the regulations issued requiring teachers to abstain from public discussions on political and religious topics, from public controversy on the merits of the Public school system, and from acting as local preachers, lay readers, or local correspondents of newspapers. Mr. CARRUTHERS stated that the regulation was not new, that in fact as far back as 1849 the then existing Board of National Education ruled that teachers should not take part in political meetings. The Board of Technical Education in 1853 announced that it would appoint no one to the position of teacher who was a minister of religion, or who acted as a religious instructor. In 1861 also a circular was issued from the National Education office requiring that teachers should remain neutral in politics and religion, so far as the exercise of any public function or controversy was concerned. The late Council of Education also pronounced against the assumption of the office of religious instructor or minister by a Public school teacher. And finally in 1883 the regulation which is now being enforced was issued. When the discussion occurred on the subject a short time ago we favoured the action of the MINISTER for EDUCATION, and we cannot see sufficient argument in the remarks of the deputation to warrant any change of opinion. When a teacher accepts his position he accepts also disabilities connected with it. There is no place of responsibility in life in which freedom is not to a considerable extent restricted. The Judge on the bench, the editor, the magistrate, the minister of the Gospel, and officers in all the different departments of life, up to the position of the Chief Magistrate of the nation, accept certain limitations of freedom which are necessary to the reasonable discharge of their functions. And it cannot be helped, so complex is society and so difficult is it to administer in any office to the mixed elements of the general population. As the MINISTER for EDUCATION pertinently says, if we were to consider the question of freedom alone then a great blow was struck at the principle when the State compelled individuals to send their children to be educated up to a certain standard. A school teacher is placed in a delicate position. He is an officer of the State which is trying to provide a scheme of education to benefit all and offer no unnecessary violence to the feelings of any. Politics and religion are matters on which most people feel strongly, and it is quite natural they should require of the teacher of their children that he should not by conspicuous example influence the minds of the children in any given religious or political direction. One would think that the Public school teachers would be glad to get rid of the turmoil of politics and the public jealousies of denominational religion, and that they would accept the position of the neutral thinker in preference to that of the aggressive worker. It is possible the regulations may press heavily in certain instances, but that must be expected of all laws and all regulations. The general good is the thing to be considered.

PARLIAMENT will be opened by the Governor at noon to-day, and the ceremony will be attended with the customary formalities. A meeting of the Cabinet was held yesterday, at which the speech to be read by his Excellency to-day was approved. It was decided by Ministers yesterday that the session should be devoted to financial matters, the object being to transact the business proper to this year, and thus avoid temporary supply bills.

THE President of the Legislative Council (Sir John Hay) entertained a very large company of gentlemen at dinner at the Parliamentary refreshment-rooms last evening. Altogether about 130 gentlemen responded to the invitations that had been issued, including the Premier, the Colonial Treasurer, the Minister of Public Works, the Minister of Lands, the Minister of Justice, the Minister of Mines, the Minister of Public Instruction, the Postmaster-General, the Attorney-General (Hon. G. B. Simpson, Q.C.), the Hon. W. H. Suttor, M.L.C., the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly (Hon. J. H. Young), Sir Alfred Stephen, Sir William Manning, Sir William Macleay, the Hons. J. F. Salomons, Q.C., E. Barton, Q.C., Peter Faucett, A. H. Jacob, John Lackey, H. Mort, Ms.L.C., the Chief Justice (Sir Frederick Darley), Mr. Justice Stephen, Mr. Justice Windeyer, Mr. Justice Manning, Mr. Justice Foster, Mr. Justice Owen, Mr. Fosbery, Professor Liversidge, Professor Anderson Stuart, Professor Gurney, General Richardson, C.B., Mr. Curnow, Sir John Robertson, Mr. F. Ward, Mr. Santley, Professor Stephens, Colonel Roberts, C.M.G., Mr. Eddy, Captain Holbert (private secretary to the Governor), Mr. G. R. Dibbs, M.L.A., and Mr. G. H. Reid, M.L.A.

THE Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Works visited Marrickville yesterday, and went over the route of the line which it is proposed to construct from a point leaving the Illawarra line at or near Marrickville station to Burwood-road, on the direct route to Liverpool. The members of the committee were driven to various points in the locality of the section, and, without taking evidence, had the salient features pointed out to them.

IT is believed that the proposed extension of the city railway, the salaries to be paid the gentlemen who are to constitute the Land Court, and some matters bearing upon the proposed Department of Agriculture were considered by Ministers sitting in Cabinet yesterday. It is reported that some method of settlement has been arrived at in reference to the extension of the city railway. Some of the Ministers were at one time inclined to insist upon the adoption of the Hyde Park route, but a proposal was brought forward for leaving Hyde Park intact, which proposal was favoured by those who advocated the preservation of that reserve.

WE understand that in response to a numerously-signed requisition received from residents of Albury the Premier has consented to visit that town and deliver an address on "Federation" on Saturday, December 7. The requisition sent to Sir Henry Parkes was in these terms:—"To Sir Henry Parkes, G.C.M.G. Dear Sir,—The residents of Albury and district, having noticed with considerable gratification your proposed establishment of a federation or dominion of the colonies, would respectfully solicit that you would favour them at an early date with a lecture or address on the great and momentous question at Albury."

THE Minister for Public Instruction has decided that, as an experiment, two classes for the study of shorthand shall at the beginning of next year be established in connection with the Technical Education Branch of the Department. One of these classes will be held at Fort-street school on Mondays and Wednesdays, the period of instruction being from 4 to 5 o'clock; and the other at the High School on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the time of instruction being from half-past 3 until half-past 4 o'clock. The term of the proposed classes will be three months, and their continuance will depend upon the amount of support they receive. The fee for attending the classes will be but little more than a nominal one.

IN connection with the extension of Technical Education, the Minister for Public Instruction has resolved to appoint visiting teachers and lecturers to give practical instruction in agriculture and horticulture to students at the Hurlstone School, and also in country districts. The subjects will include bee farming wherever it may be found necessary to teach it. Mr. Carruthers has appointed as one of the lecturers Mr. Albert Gale, of the Gordon Public school, who has had a considerable amount of experience, and is the possessor of excellent credentials.

THE Postmaster-General contemplates the immediate making of some improvements which will enable the telegraphic employees to work under more favourable conditions than prevail at present. The operators, whose work is of a peculiarly trying nature, have at present to perform their duties in the most ill-adapted part of the Post Office building, the portion allotted to them being a very low-roofed room, in which 80 men are constantly employed. An iron roof is distant from the heads of the operators only a few feet. There are very small windows on the north and south sides of the room, but except on very rare occasions these cannot be used for ventilation, a northeasterly generally rendering it impracticable to open the northern windows, and a southerly rendering it desirable to keep the windows on that side closed. Mr. O'Connor intends to have all the operators removed without delay to a spacious well-lighted and well ventilated chamber, and he intends to have erected for the benefit of the post-office telegraph employees a spacious kind of balcony, to be used as a smoking and recreation room. This balcony will resemble one at the Melbourne post-office, which is 200ft. in length by 120ft. in width, is ornamented with ferns, and fitted up as a recreation ground.

IT is considered probable that the Railway Department will defer the opening of the Hornsby to St. Leonards railway line until after the further extension to the Lane Cove-road has been completed.

THE Railway Commissioners have, we understand, accepted the tender of Messrs. Goodlet and Smith to supply a considerable quantity of pitch pine (over 1,0000,000ft.) to the Railway Department. The Commissioners have also accepted the offer of Messrs. R. T. Ball and Co., of Goulburn, to manufacture 400 8-ton iron coal-hopper waggons. Amongst the tenders received by the Commissioners yesterday were a number for the completion of the duplication of the following railway lines:—Adamstown to Teralba, Strathfield to Ryde, Campbelltown to Picton, George's River to Hurstville, Sutherland to Waterfall.

A DEPUTATION waited upon the Railway Commissioners yesterday, and urged that a platform should be erected at Mortdale. The Commissioners promised to cause inquiries to be made as to the necessity for what was proposed.

THE representatives from this colony to the Intercolonial Stock Conference held in Melbourne returned last week. It is not unlikely that they will await the receipt of official reports of the conference before sending in their report to the Minister for Mines.

NOMINATIONS of candidates for aldermanic election are to be made to-day. The Town Hall offices, with the exception of the Town Clerk's office, will be closed to-day, and the whole of the departments will be closed on Wednesday for the opening of the Centennial Hall.

"THE undermentioned undergraduates, who have just commenced residence, have been elected to scholarships at Corpus Christi College (Cambridge):—O. R. Dawson, S. Taylor, H. G. Warren. Additional sizarships to C. F. M'Grath, and L. Byrde."—Morning Post (London) University Intelligence, October 14, 1889. It may encourage colonial youth to know that S. Taylor was educated at the Sydney Grammar School, which he left in June last for Cambridge University.

AN article elsewhere deals with the relative cost of carriage on the tramways and the suburban railway, and goes to show that in 1887 on the tramways, the average cost per mile on the working only was 1·01d. per mile, while on the suburban railway it was 0·84d., or a third of a penny per mile. And if the cost of construction of the two works is considered, tramway travelling cost per passenger per mile 1·11d., while the railway cost ·60d. The working cost of the tramways per passenger was three times as great as that of the railway, and with the cost of construction added in both cases, it was nearly twice as great.

H.M.S. EGERIA, which arrived yesterday, has come here to pay off her present crew, all of whom, with the exception of Captain C. F. Oldham and one of the lieutenants, are to return to England by the steamer, Port Victor, which is bringing out the relief. The Egeria brought no news of any shipwrecked crews at Duke of York Island, the place at which it was reported rockets had been seen by a passing vessel. In connection with surveying work in the Pacific, it is of interest to learn that word has been received here that H.M.S. Penguin is now fitting out at home for service in Australia. The west coast of Australia will probably be the first scene of the Penguin's new commission. H.M.S Rambler, another surveying ship, said to have been ordered, is now reported as likely to return to China coast.

A LARGE amount of interest is taken in the new steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., which, like the Arcadia, Ormuz, Victoria and Oroya, and vessels of that class in the British lines of mail steamers, is the most recent development in the North-German Lloyd line to Australia from Bremen. The steamers hitherto employed in this line are greatly inferior in size, speed and finish to the Kaiser Wilhelm. The steamer will very likely be berthed to-morrow at Circular Quay, and will be open for inspection by the public on Sunday next. It is proposed to make a small charge for admission, the proceeds to be given to some charitable object.

ANOTHER great carrier in a steamship line, the Essen, of the German-Australian line, a new boat, now on her maiden trip, arrived last night and is now at the Circular Quay. The Essen was built in Germany, and has proved herself in this, her first trip straight from the shipwright's yard at Flensborg, a faithfully built and speedy vessel and a good sea boat in stormy weather. She carries about 3500 tons of deadweight cargo, and has received a first-class support here, some 10,000 bales of wool being promised her for Antwerp and Hamburg. It is proposed to load her fully at this port and despatch her direct from Sydney to Europe. The Essen came round the coast at a speed approaching 13 knots per hour, and this speed, says Captain Johannes Shade, can by pushing her be obtained in anything like moderate weather. The steamer has a limited saloon accommodation, tastefully fitted up and ornamentally decorated. The cabins are designed for a total of 15 passengers, and are unusually commodious. The electric system is duly installed on board. It is on the Siemens-Halske principle, and carried out by L. Von Bremen, of Kiel. The light is essentially useful in the discharge of cargo. At each hatchway there are revolving lights with reflectors, and each hold can be lighted with arc or glow lamps, showing a light almost equal to that of day. There is also a search light on the forecastle for effecting the passage of the Suez Canal by night. A powerful light is provided for a mast-head light, or for illuminating the deck.

THE s.s. Yarra, having on board her original crew, numbering 163, besides 95 passengers transhipped from the Tanais and 10 passengers from Sydney, sailed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Marseilles via Melbourne and Adelaide. The Sydney passengers by this vessel are still in quarantine. The ordinary bill of health was withheld from the Yarra, and the health authorities at Melbourne, Adelaide, and Albany have been advised as to the sanitary condition of the vessel. Some of the Yarra passengers for Sydney who came overland are still under medical surveillance, having to report themselves to the Board of Health daily, when they are seen by a medical officer.

THE s.s. Tanais, from New Caledonia, arrived at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, having on board a crew numbering 89, with 45 passengers for Sydney, 95 passengers for European ports, and 2 stowaways. In consequence of this vessel having had contact with the Yarra prior to her departure for New Caledonia, she was placed in quarantine, where she will remain untill the requisite time has elapsed. The mails brought by the Tanais have been transferred to the Yarra.

MR. SPENCER received a letter from Dr. Lovell, a portion of which read as follows:—"As regards Searle's actual condition, he is in the third week of typhoid, and is suffering from a pretty severe attack, which has been rendered more serious by his having fought against it while it was coming on. At present there is nothing in the case to cause special alarm." Neil Matterson will leave Melbourne for Sydney in the Austral to-day. A telegram received by Mr. Spencer last night from Dr. Lovell stated that Searle was going on as well as could be wished.

TWELVE persons who on Sunday afternoon were found trespassing on the quarantine station were taken in charge. They will be detained until the station has been released from quarantine, which will be on the 29th instant, provided no outbreak of sickness occurs in the meantime. After their release proceedings will be taken against them for the breach of the principal Quarantine Act, under which they become liable to a penalty of £200. These persons are mostly men of the artisan class, and were fishing off Bluefish Point, when they encroached within the boundaries of the quarantine station.

THE inquest upon Henry Blackburn, the victim of the stabbing affray in Devonshire-street on the 16th instant, will be resumed this morning at the Coroner's Court, when Frank Smith and George Paxton, the two men under arrest charged with being concerned in the murder, will appear in custody.

WE have been shown a photograph from Messrs. Kerry and Jones of the members of the Bar who attended the picnic given to Mr. Justice Manning on Saturday last. The 65 gentlemen, including Sir William Manning and several of the Judges, are in one group arranged with a good deal of ease and pleasantness. The faces and figures come out clearly, and the general effect of the photograph is good. It should be a pleasant memento to those who attended the picnic.

THE Full Court yesterday delivered their reserved judgment in the appeal of the plaintiff in the action Fraser versus Phœnix Fire Office. The plaintiff was the proprietor of an hotel at Broken Hill, and sued the company to recover the sum of £3000 under a fire insurance policy which, as he alleged, he had effected in the defendant company through their local agent at Broken Hill. The defence set up was that, although the premium reached the head office at Sydney, the proposal was never received by Mr. Mackenzie, the manager of the company, and the contract purporting to be made by the company's agent was, therefore, not approved or ratified. At the trial a formal verdict was returned for the defendant, with leave to the plaintiff to move the Full Court to enter the verdict for him in the sum of £2750. The Court came to the conclusion that Mr. Mackenzie, as he swore, never received the proposal from his agent, and they were further of opinion that Willamer, the company's agent at Broken Hill, had no authority from the manager of the company to enter into the contract, and, as the proposal contemplated the issue of a policy at a later date, it was the duty of the plaintiff, when he did not receive it within a reasonable time, to apply for it to the head office, in which case he would have found that the proposal had not been received. The application was, therefore, discharged with costs.

In addition to delivering judgment in Fraser v. the Phœnix Fire Office, the Full Court dealt with two other matters. The first was the appeal of the defendant in the action Trustees, Executors, and Agency Company v. Short, in regard to the ownership of certain land at Salt Pan Creek. The defendant claimed title to the land by 20 years' possession, but the jury found in favour of the plaintiff company. The Court considered that, on the evidence, the jury were justified in their verdict, and refused the rule nisi for a new trial. In Porter v. the Municipal District of Leichhardt the plaintiff had obtained a verdict against the body named with £500 damages in an action for alleged negligence by which he was seriously injured. On the evening of the 3rd October last year he took part in a charity entertainment at the Leichhardt concert hall, and while passing out of the dressing-room to get to the rear of the building he fell down some steps and fractured one of his legs. The defendants appealed against the verdict, and the Court yesterday directed a new trial on the ground that no liability had been proved.

AT the Central Criminal Court yesterday, before the Chief Judge and a jury of 12, Richard 'Fulligar was charged that he did, at Sydney, on September 3, before Mr. Justice Windeyer, commit wilful perjury. The accused was a witness in the civil action tried in Sydney of M'Farlane against Lord, which had reference to the disputed title to some land. M'Farlane claimed a possessory title to the land of 20 years, and he called Richard Fulligar to prove that he was living on the land on October 6, 1868. After he had given his testimony, Mr. Justice Windeyer committed him for trial for perjury. The case was not concluded when the Court rose, and the jury were locked up for the night.

IN the District Court yesterday an action was commenced by J. M'Lean, the sculler, against George Hill for £200, the amount of stakes deposited on his behalf with the defendant in connection with a boatrace between M'Lean and Neilson. After the conclusion of the race M'Lean protested against the payment of the stakes owing to a dispute about a foul, but the money was paid over to Neilson. The case was opened and the first witness examined, after which the further hearing was adjourned till to-day.

MR. DISTRICT COURT JUDGE M'FARLAND presided at the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday, when George Cassidy and Hugh M'Hugh, two youths, were found guilty of assaulting and robbing Alfred Trevett. Cassidy, against whose name there was a previous record, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude with leave to petition at the end of three years. M'Hugh was remanded for sentence, as there were other charges against him. Sardela, an African, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour for inflicting grievous bodily harm. Leave was given him to petition at the end of six months. An application was made on behalf of J. A. Hunter, who, on Wednesday last, was sentenced to three years for stealing the moneys of a co-partnership, for a remission of his sentence, on the ground that solitary confinement would seriously affect his health and mind. His Honor promised to obtain a report from the gaol authorities.

THE Sydney Hospital report for week ended 23rd November is as follows:—Admitted, 27 males, 21 females; discharged, 17 males, 20 females; died, 3 males, 1 female; remaining, 144 males, 85 females; casualties treated but not admitted, 726.

THE report of the Prince Alfred Hospital for the week ended 23rd November is as follows:—Admitted, 32 males, 23 females; discharged, 29 males, 13 females; died, 7 males, 1 female; remaining in hospital on 23rd November, 1889, 125 males, 76 females; number of out-patients treated during the week, 374; number of casualty cases treated, but not admitted, 210. There are at present 12 cases of typhoid fever in the hospital.

THE report for the week ended November 23 of the number of pauper patients under treatment in the metropolitan hospitals at the Government expense is as follows:—Coast Hospital: Admissions, 26 males, 12 females; discharges, 14 males, 8 females; deaths, 1 male; number remaining, 148 males, 47 females. THE SUPPOSED CASE OF SMALLPOX IN VICTORIA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The Central Board of Health has received the following telegram from the medical officer for the Wahgunyah district relative to the alleged case of smallpox:—"Have examined the case of supposed smallpox. So far no symptoms have developed. Shall report by letter as to the history of the ship as described by the patient, who is a fine, strong, healthy young man, 24 years of age. He has no sickness and no eruptions, and there is no necessity at present for any consultation. There is no person living within three miles of the supposed outbreak, and the place is perfectly isolated. Nothing is wanted." The police also telegraphed to say that medical men had examined the patient and pronounced him to be free from small-pox. Under these circumstances unless there are fresh developments no further steps will be taken by the Board of Health.

SENSATIONAL ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

A sensational attempt to commit suicide took place to-day. A man named William Elliott, aged 39, jumped from the Victoria-street bridge into the Yarra. A blacksmith named Henry Pope, employed at the works for widening the bridge, witnessed the occurrence, and soon as Elliott touched the water Pope plunged in and rescued him with considerable difficulty. Elliott recovered sufficiently to be locked up. While in the watchhouse he made a second attempt to take his life, by battering his head against the wall. He avers that his life has been an unfortunate one, and that his other miseries have recently been added to by a girl, of whom he was enamoured, refusing to marry him.

VISIT OF THE PREMIER TO ALBURY.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALBURY, MONDAY.

Replying to a requisition forwarded yesterday asking Sir Henry Parkes to deliver an address on federation, the Premier telegraphed to-day stating that, though much pressed for time, he accepted the invitation with much pleasure, and would send a letter to-morrow intimating the date of his visit. Arrangements are being made for the Premier's reception.

MR. J. HAYNES, M.L.A., AT GULGONG.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

GULGONG, MONDAY.

Mr. J. Haynes, M.L.A., addressed a meeting at Dobbs's Hotel on Saturday night. The Mayor (Mr. Robt. Heard) presided, and there was a fair number present, although the storm prevented many country people from attending. Mr. Haynes stated how he had worked and voted during the past session, especially towards the extension of the railway to Gulgong. His explanation was well received and a vote of confidence was accorded him. After his address a number of townspeople interviewed the member upon local requirements.

FURTHER NEWS OF STANLEY.

PRIVATIONS OF THE EXPEDITION.

ITS RANKS DECIMATED BY SMALLPOX.

DEATHS FROM STARVATION.

REBELLION AMONGST EMIN'S TROOPS.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Nov. 25.

A letter has been received from Mr. Stanley, dated Kafurro, in Africa, August 5, 1889, in which he describes his remarkable journey to Emin Pasha. Stanley, after rescuing the remnant of the rear column of the expedition, who were beset by hostile tribes, started for the rendezvous at Kavalli. His followers suffered terrible privations. The ranks of the expedition were decimated by smallpox, and the men for eight days were in a state of almost absolute starvation. Twenty-one of the expedition succumbed from this cause.

Stanley reached his destination and soon afterwards commenced the return march to Kavalli, which was reached on January 18. Here he received a letter from Jephson, informing him that Emin's troops, at the instigation of the officers, rebelled at Dufile in the previous August, and that Emin was a close prisoner. He was, however, rescued, and in a conflict with the Mahdists Emin captured 1500 of their number. The rebels took to flight, and many officers were killed.

Jephson intimated that Emin was at that time undecided as to whether he would return to the coast. Stanley insisted upon his returning, and urged Emin not to hesitate, saying that he would not wait long. Jephson reached Kavalli on February 6, and Emin Pasha arrived there a week later.

A private letter from Stanley states that during his return from Wadelai he lay at the point of death for 28 days.

PROROGATION OF THE VICTORIAN PARLIAMENT.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The prorogation of Parliament was delayed for more than an hour to-day. It was originally intended that the ceremony should take place at noon, but on the Assembly meeting at 11 o'clock a long discussion arose over an amendment of the Council in the Education Endowment Commissioners Bill, insisting on the rejection of the provision allowing members of Parliament to act as Commissioners. The Government wanted to accept the amendment, but the Opposition and several Ministerial supporters strongly objected. At times the discussion waxed warm the opponents of the amendment, being determined to prevent a division, which they succeeded in doing, as at 11.50 a.m., the arrival of the Acting Governor was announced, and members adjourned to the Council Chamber, the bill thus being dropped.

There was a numerous gathering of the public in the Council Chamber; but the proceedings were not of a lengthened character. After giving assent to a number of bills, his Excellency read the prorogation speech, expressing his pleasure at being able to relieve members from the work of the session at a comparatively early date. Speaking of federation, the speech proceeds: "The idea of Australian federation, which has from the first been eagerly welcomed in Victoria, is winning more and more acceptance upon this continent. The feeling that it is inevitable, and that it is near, has become general. It may reasonably be hoped that the federated colonies will be able to join in a secure and complete organisation without sacrificing any of the results that have been already achieved." The speech refers with satisfaction to the state of the defences. It states that two important commissions have been appointed to examine the best means of developing the goldfields and coalfields of the colony, and for the work of obtaining a thorough scheme of drainage for Melbourne. The other matters referred to are the establishment of a penny post; the improvement in attendance at the national schools; the continued prosperous condition of the revenue; reform of the tariff, which has settled many disputed questions; the encouragement to agriculture and new industries by a system of bonuses; the passing of the Public Health Bill, and measures to reform the Public Service Act, the Patent Laws, and to relieve small estates from payment of probate duty. The speech concludes:—"It is significant of the great prosperity of the country that the provision made for the rolling-stock and the railways which seemed inordinate some years ago, is already found inadequate. The country will welcome the determination of Parliament to carry on these important works vigorously, and European capitalists will respond to the needs of the country which in 30 years' borrowing has scarcely made an unprofitable investment. I now, in her Majesty's name, declare this Parliament to be prorogued to the 12th January, 1890."

THURSDAY ISLAND, MONDAY.

The s.s. Airlie arrived from Hongkong yesterday, and sailed during the afternoon. From China papers to November 8 it appears that a feeling of great uneasiness exists at Pekin as to the stability of things in China. The young Emperor and Empress are believed to be unlucky, as there has been nothing but disaster since the Emperor's accession.

The British barque Hattie E. Tapley was wrecked at San Mun Islands, near Hongkong, during bad weather. The barque was owned by Mr. Finlayson, of Sydney.

The German barque Oscar Mooyee was wrecked on the Pratas Reef recently.

WIRE NETTING.

Wire netting may be used for such an infinite number of purposes that it is almost indispensable to every householder. Lassetters sell hundreds of miles of it for squattings, farmers' and garden use. It may be had in a few feet or in miles. The price is low, and Lassetters are the best people to purchase it from—they can buy cheaper than others on account of paying cash and ordering in large quantities.—[ADVT.]

Up to the present time the Works Department has issued 204 free passes to the unemployed.

The barque Scottish Wizard left for London to-day with the largest cargo of wool yet sent from Brisbane by a sailing vessel, viz., 5833 bales. She also takes a quantity of other produce. The Cynisca will leave shortly with about 4000 bales.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, MONDAY.

Although supervision is still kept over the passengers from the Yarra and over those who had communication with Parker prior to his removal to quarantine, little further danger is to be feared. It is reported that one of the attendants on Parker at quarantine has shown symptoms of fever.

Lord Hopetoun will arrive to-morrow. Lord Kintore, accompanied by the Premier and Major-General Downes and the members of the Ministry, will leave Adelaide by train for Largs Bay, and will board the Britannia about 9 a.m. It is expected that the city will be reached about 10. The welcome will be purely informal. No addresses will be presented.

Mr. John Martin, of the well-known firm of drapers, Martin and Company, Rundle-street, died this morning, aged 48.

Captain Alfred France, sen., one of the first presidents of the Stock Exchange of Adelaide, has been elected vice-president.

The local branch of the Australian Natives Association has passed the following resolution regarding the federation movement:—"The time has arrived when it is desirable to provide for the establishment of a Federal Parliament for Australasia. This branch heartily supports the proposal that a convention of Australian natives be held." A number of resolutions, which were submitted by the board as a sort of indication of the way in which the delegates would be expected to act were in effect agreed to, though not put to the vote.

This evening an association was formed under the title of the Producers' Defence League, in opposition to the single tax movement. The Taxation Reform League, which was recently started, held a meeting in the Town Hall this evening. A motion embodying the league's objects was adopted.

A BRAVE RESCUE FROM DROWNING.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, MONDAY.

On Saturday a jockey named M'Rae, whilst bathing near Bullock Island Bridge, got out of his depth and was swept away by the current. A man named M'Mahon endeavoured to rescue him, but he was seized upon by the other, and the two were in great danger of being drowned. A bystander jumped off the bridge and succeeded in rescuing both. M'Rae was exceedingly exhausted when brought to land. The name of the brave rescuer has not transpired, as he quickly went away.

FINDING OF A BODY IN THE MURRAY.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALBURY, MONDAY.

Soon after daylight this morning a fisherman a few miles down the river went out as usual to examine his lines, and on hauling in one found a great weight attached, which he supposed to be an enormous fish. It turned out to be the body of a man that had evidently been some weeks in the water. The body has not yet been positively identified, but is supposed to be that of a man who disappeared some weeks ago from the local hotel, where he had been staying. He was then in search of work, and seemed in rather a despondent condition.

THE DISPUTE IN THE MELBOURNE SHIPPING TRADE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The work connected with the intercolonial shipping trade was carried on in the usual manner to-day. F. Humphries, secretary to the Steamship Owners' Association, and also secretary to the Employers' Union spent the morning interviewing the representatives of the Wharf Labourers' Union, and making proposals in the hope of bringing about an amicable settlement. His efforts were to a certain extent successful, and in the afternoon the general feeling was that there would be no strike. A conference between the representatives of the Steamship Owners' Association and the Wharf Labourers' Union was held, and the demands of the labourers considered seriatim. Representatives of the labourers were asked if they would subscribe the rules and regulations of the Victorian Board of Conciliation and agree to a conference on other demands conditionally on an increased pay of 1s. 3d. per hour being granted. They seemed disposed to fall in with this proposal, and later on a combined meeting was held of the Steamship Owners' Association, the Victorian Stevedores' Company, Messrs. Close and Laureus, master stevedores, and others interested in the shipping trade. It was resolved that the demand of the wharf labourers for 1s. 3d. hour should be conceded, provided that they signed the rules of the Board of Conciliation, and agreed to refer the other matters in the manifesto to the conference. A mass meeting of wharf labourers held to-night agreed to accept the wages offered, but declined at present to sign the rules. The Board of Conciliation agreed to submit the other requests to the conference, and elected five members to represent them at the conference. Pending the result of further negotiations, work will be continued till the matters in dispute are finally settled.

TERRIFIC STORM AT LOUTH.

HAILSTONES AS LARGE AS CRICKET BALLS.

GREAT DAMAGE TO PROPERTY.

PHENOMENAL RAINFALL.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LOUTH, MONDAY.

The weather the last few days has been intensely hot, the thermometer reaching over 100 in the shade. About noon to-day a heavy storm could be seen rising from the south. At half-past 2 the wind blew very hard for a few minutes, when the largest hailstones ever seen in this district commenced to fall. During the storm junks of ice as large as cricket balls fell in the streets. Nearly every window in the Post and Telegraph Office was smashed to pieces. Thirty windows were broken in the Post-office Hotel, and nearly all the windows in the town suffered in like manner. One end of the Telegraph Stores was blown down. Great damage was done to the stocks in this and other stores in the town. Nearly every sheet of iron in Matthew's Hall, which has only just been completed, is perforated with holes. The Courthouse, Royal Hotel, Telegraph Hotel, and all buildings covered with iron roofs were perforated by the falling hailstones. A number of dogs and other animals about the town were killed during the storm. The gardens in town are stripped of every vestige of fruit and leaves. The damage cannot yet be estimated. The Chinese gardeners alone consider their loss to reach fully £800. About 3 o'clock the wind turned round to north-east, when rain fell down in torrents for about a quarter of an hour. Fully 3in. of rain fell within half an hour. The river rose over 3ft. in less than half an hour. A man in attempting to cross the street was knocked down by the hailstones. Every tree about the town bears a very barren appearance through the limbs and leaves being stripped off. The hailstones after the storm were piled up twelve inches high on some of the verandahs. Several houses, including Henry Grimes's boarding-house, were unroofed. On Saturday night a very heavy thunderstorm passed over Louth. Twenty-five points were registered, but the oldest hands in this district consider that nothing approaching to-day's storm has ever occurred in this district. There is every appearance of another storm. Over seven inches of rain have fallen here this month.

NEWCASTLE ENGINE-DRIVERS' UNION.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, MONDAY.

A meeting of the Newcastle and district engine-drivers was held at Tattersall's Hotel, Newcastle, on Saturday night for the purpose of forming a union. Fifty persons were present, and Mr. Thomas Richardson occupied the chair. It was resolved that a union be formed, the name of the association to be fixed at a future date, and that the union comprise all winding, hauling, locomotive, and tan-colliery engine men. Mr. T. Richardson was elected president, Mr. F. Turner secretary, and Mr. G. T. Rogers treasurer. All present were enrolled as members, and the meeting adjourned to next Saturday.

ARRIVAL OF A FRENCH STEAMER AT NEWCASTLE.

ESCAPE OF CONVICTS FROM NEW CALEDONIA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, MONDAY.

The French steamer Ville de Saint Nazaire, which reached port this afternoon from Noumea, brings a relief crew and military from the war vessels at Noumea. She loads coal for the voyage.

Captain Dano reports that on the 1st instant three convicts—an Italian and two Frenchmen—escaped from the Isle of Pines in a boat painted white. The captain left Noumea on the 21st instant, and up to that time there were no tidings of the escapees. The vessel had a fine passage. She leaves here for Colombo to await orders from France. She carries 18 saloon passengers.

Armytage owner; 287 mixed fats, Arooch to Sydney and Melbourne, W. Sly owner; 22nd, 98 stud cows and calves, Widgegoara, E. and J. Bignell owners; 23rd, 5000 ewes and lambs, Nocoleche to Bourke, W. K. M'Millan owner; 1015 bales of wool. Patchy rain was reported. This morning 70 points fell in half an hour at Bourke. Another thunderstorm is threatening. Probably over an inch of rain will fall before dark. Yesterday the river was 4ft. and rising; at Brewarrina it is 1ft. 10in., rising; at Goodooga 107 points of rain fell, river low; Walgett, 81 points; Barwon, 20ft.; Namoi, 14ft.; Mogil, 34 points, low; Mungundi, river 2ft. 6in., falling; Collarenebri, 27 points rain; Tilpa, 16 points; river 6ft. 3in., falling; Wanaaring, 140 points; Louth, 30 points; river 8ft. 6in., stationary. Reports from various coaches which have arrived, state that exceptionally heavy rain has fallen in patches along the various roads. Though beneficial those violent storms are not so good as steady rain, which, even of a less amount, would be of more service.

THARGOMINDAH (Q.), MONDAY.

Sheep passings are limited. Three hundred fats, mixed sexes, from Thargomindah station for Broken Hill, Armytage and Powell; 300 rams from Springfield Victoria, to Mount Margaret, Moodie, Donaldson, Inglis, and Co.; 600 fat bullock, from Bulgroo to Bourke, Willis and Company.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

ALBURY, MONDAY.

Captain Morse, of the steamship Alameda, and Professor Donaldson passed Saturday night and Sunday morning here, and, under the guidance of a member of the borough council, visited various objects of interest. They expressed themselves as much pleased with the town. Captain Morse said he was surprised that the Murray is not more largely utilised for irrigation.

An inquest was held this evening on the body of the man found in the Murray. The evidence pointed strongly to the probability of the body being that of a groom named Brunskill, recently employed at Wallandoon station. As, however, identification was not positive, the inquiry was adjourned for a week to allow of an investigation being made concerning Brunskill.

A man named Wells, a well-known farmer at Gerogery, has been missing for several days. He was found dead to-day in a paddock on the Gerogery run.

BEGA, MONDAY.

Bishop Higgins arrived here on Friday. Services were held in the church yesterday, and were largely attended. One hundred and twenty-six were confirmed. The Bishop goes on to-morrow through the district.

A complimentary concert was tendered the other night to Miss Josephine O'Reilly, of Sydney. It was very largely attended.

The weather is moist, and hardly a day passes without misty showers. The grass is good, and a splendid season is assured.

CAMDEN, MONDAY.

Mrs. Dennis Hickey, a very old resident of the district, expired here suddenly shortly after noon yesterday.

The weather is still unsettled. The country is now looking splendid. A good deal of hay has been damaged by the recent rains.

CONDOBOLIN, MONDAY.

A Reserve Rifle Company has been formed here, with a large membership.

Considerable alarm has been occasioned in the district by the great increase of rabbits.

All the principal stations have finished shearing with splendid results.

DUBBO, MONDAY.

Satisfaction is expressed at the action of the Railway Commissioners in abolishing the position of locomotive inspector at Wellington and appointing Mr. Hubbard as inspector for Dubbo and Wellington. Inspector Hubbard now controls the line from Wellington to Bourke. It is anticipated that all the engines will be removed to Dubbo, thereby saving the expenditure of the engine sheds at Wellington.

The weather is still stormy; 72 points of rain fell on Saturday night. Comboogle head station suffered much by the wind storm.

FORBES, MONDAY.

Several heavy showers fell here on Saturday afternoon, registering 80 points. Yesterday and to-day were very close and muggy. Appearances at present denote a further downpour.

GILGANDRA, MONDAY.

A terrific thunderstorm burst in this neighbourhood on Saturday evening, 59 points of rain falling here in 20 minutes. Berida station reports 2in. in some paddocks.

GOULBURN, MONDAY.

There were more thunderstorms yesterday; heavy rain fell at night.

GRAFTON, MONDAY.

A Land Court was held at Woolgoolga on Saturday, at which seven conditional purchase applications were confirmed. One was ordered for survey, five were disallowed, and one postponed. One selector was granted exemption from fencing, another extension of time to complete fencing, and four were granted permission to substitute other improvements for fencing.

Splendid rain fell throughout the district yesterday. The grass and early maize crops are looking well. The late potato crops will benefit by the rain.

The Harbour and Railway League is preparing evidence to place before the Sectional Committee, who are expected to arrive here on Friday.

GULGONG, MONDAY.

On Saturday night at 7.30 a heavy thunderstorm with rain occurred, which lasted until after midnight, giving 102 points.

The weather to-day was cloudy and close. It is now threatening a thunderstorm.

INVERELL, MONDAY.

Mr. G. A. Cruickshank, M.L.A., has finished a 10 days' tour of this electorate. He was enthusiastically received all round.

KEMPSEY, MONDAY.

Splendid showers fell yesterday here. The district at present bears a delightful appearance. There is an abundance of grass. The young maize crop is growing apace.

The Quarter Sessions opened this morning before Judge Murray. Messrs. Mann and Browning were the barristers present. There were only four criminal cases, all of which resulted in acquittals. To-morrow the District Court opens. The civil list is not heavy this time.

Messrs. Hogan and Dangar visited the northern portion of this electorate during last week, and were received enthusiastically throughout. They held meetings at Macksville, Fernmount, Strathford (Boat Harbour), and Coff's Harbour, and were banqueted at Bellinger and Coff's Harbour. Thence Mr. Hogan proceeded to Grafton, leaving Mr. Dangar to hold meetings at Raleigh, Bowraville, and Taylor's Arm, and other places. Mr. Dangar returned to Kempsey yesterday. He proceeds to Sydney to-morrow to attend the opening of Parliament.

LITHGOW, MONDAY.

A complete change in the weather occurred on Saturday. A thunderstorm, accompanied by heavy rain, broke over the valley about midday. The weather somewhat cleared during the day, but early in the evening heavy rain again set in, and continued during the night. 150 points were registered this morning. To-day has been fine and dull, and present appearances indicate more rain.

NEWCASTLE, MONDAY.

An Indian named William Roberts was charged with placing a quantity of stone on the tramline, and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment in Maitland gaol. The accused was formerly a soldier in India.

The body of James Pleasant, who was drowned on Sunday evening near Tomago, was recovered by the water police to-day.

Last Wednesday a wheeler, named John White, at the Stockton mine, was sitting on the front of a skip. The latter ran off the rails and injured him. It was not thought important at the time, but has since necessitated his removal to the hospital. An operation was performed, from the result of which the poor fellow died this afternoon.

OBERON, MONDAY.

Heavy rain has fallen here since Saturday, 232 points being recorded. The country looks splendid.

PENRITH, MONDAY.

At a meeting of the council last Monday night the tender of H. H. Kingsbury and Co. for introducing the system of electric lighting for the town of Penrith, at £6500, was accepted. A special meeting was called for to-night, and the following motions were passed:—"That application be made to the Governor, under the 165th section of the Act, for permission to borrow £7000 for the electric light;" "That, as soon as permission is granted, tenders be called for a loan, not to exceed 30 years;" "That the offer of Alderman T. Smith of a piece of land in Belmore-street, adjoining the railway, for a term of 10 years, free of rent, and at the end of that time to purchase the same if desired, be accepted." The estimate of the returns for the electric light for the town is about £1600 annually.

Rain has been falling here almost daily. On Saturday there was a very heavy storm, flooding the lower portion of High-street.

RYLSTONE, MONDAY.

Heavy storms have been frequent during the past two days. The amount of 115 points of rain has fallen since Saturday night. The storms are injuring the growing crops.

TEMORA, MONDAY.

Mr. W. B. Lucas, who contested the Young electorate last year, addressed a numerous audience on Saturday last, upon political matters. He dealt with the new Land Act, federation, and matters affecting gold-mining leases. He censured the new Land Act in respect of its provisions for Central and Western leases; also for the facilities it afforded to runholders of monopolising land in the Eastern division. He declared himself in favour of federation, as tending towards railway extension and the land settlement of New South Wales. He said the Crown had no power to grant leases of any alluvial land, except under special circumstances, and he condemned the granting of mining leases at Peak Hill, or any other new goldfield. He contended that Temora is entitled to railway extension, and recommended the miners to avail themselves of the new 10-acre leases.

There was a thunderstorm here on Saturday.

THARGOMINDAH (Q.), MONDAY.

A frightful duststorm occurred in the town to-day, lasting for a quarter of an hour, followed by slight rain. Good rains are reported Kyabra and Eulbertie way, 2 inches on the average having fallen.

Mr. Thomas Bishop, of Tamworth, died at the hospital last Wednesday, from an accident at Bingera station. It is said that he dived into a water-hole only 3ft. deep, his head sticking in the mud, injuring the spinal cord.

WAGGA WAGGA, MONDAY.

A thunderstorm occurred this afternoon with heavy showers. Thirty points were registered. The wet weather will do a good deal of damage to the crops.

Shearing is reported to be proceeding satisfactorily at all the union sheds where operations have not ceased. The secretary of the local branch reports that there are over 2000 sheds in the colony this season worked under the union rules. Of these 372 are in the Wagga district.

The gross receipts from the bazaar held last week in aid of St. Michael's Church amount to over £700. It is expected that the net profit will be £600. The bazaar was a great success.

WILCANNIA, MONDAY.

The Quarter Sessions were held to-day, Judge Fitzhardinge presiding. Mr. J. Armstrong was Crown Prosecutor. Thomas Nunn, charged with forging and uttering, was found guilty of uttering and sentenced to 12 months' hard labour in Wilcannia Gaol. John Crane, charged with feloniously and maliciously wounding, was found guilty and sentenced to 12 months' hard labour in Wilcannia Gaol.

Twenty-five points of rain fell here yesterday. A sharp shower fell this afternoon. The weather still looks threatening. Light rains fell up the river yesterday. The following are the reports to hand:—Mogil, 34 points; Collarendabri, 27; Walgett, 81; Goodooga, 107; Bourke, 7; Louth, 30; Tilpa, 16; Wanaaring, 140. The River Barwon at Walgett this morning was 20ft., falling.

The steamer Ethel passed Menindie up stream. The Golconda passed Menindie down stream. The Moira passed Pooncarie down stream. The Gem left Wentworth for Morgan.

WINDSOR, MONDAY.

Mr. F. Howard has been elected trustee for St. Matthew's Church of England, in the room of the late Richard Coley. Mr. T. Primrose was the other candidate.

Mr. A. Bowman, M.L.A., returned to Windsor on Saturday night by steamer, and went back to Sydney.

Heavy rain fell yesterday. The weather has now cleared up for the present. The farms are all in splendid condition. The early apricots sent into the market by Mr. J. Ezzy realised £2 per case.

YOUNG, MONDAY.

The weather is very unsettled. Heavy storms occurred in different portions of the district yesterday, occasioning damage to the crops at Marengo and Memagong. A smart thunderstorm passed over Young this afternoon. The hay harvest is delayed, although the rainfall has not seriously injured the crops. The wheat is looking splendid, and is ready for harvesting within the next fortnight.

THE OPENING OF THE CENTENNIAL HALL.

OFFICIAL ARRANGEMENTS.

A complete programme of arrangements has been prepared to govern proceedings on the occasion of the opening of the Centennial Hall to-morrow. The formal ceremony of the day will take place at 12 o'clock. Doors will be opened at 11 o'clock, reserve ticket-holders alighting and entering at the Druitt-street gates, and ordinary ticket-holders alighting and entering by the George-street gates. No vehicles will be admitted within the George-street enclosure. The choir, numbering about 400, will occupy a specially-built gallery within the organ chamber, while Signor Hazon's orchestra and a number of the chorus will be placed on a platform directly in front. A smaller platform is to be placed in front of the orchestra, seats upon which are to be provided for the following invited guests:—Dean Cowper, Cardinal Moran, Rear-Admiral Lord Charles Scott, Rev. Dr. Gilchrist, Rev. R. Caldwell, Rev. C. Bright, Rev. J. C. Frazer, Sir Henry Parkes, the Premier of Queensland, Major-General Richardson, Sir Wm. Manning, Sir F. M. Darley, Sir Alfred Stephen, and Rev. A. B. Davis. Programmes of the proceedings are to be distributed at the doors.

The musical arrangements and the opening were left to a committee of management, consisting of Messrs. A. E. Harper (chairman), Otto Bohrsmann, W. Briggs, A. W. Green, and S. Churchill Otton. The choir will comprise the members of the Sydney Liedertafel, the Philharmonic Society, the Metropolitan Liedertafel, the University Musical Society, and the Young Men's Christian Association Musical Society. The programme prepared is as follows:—"Old Hundredth," by united chorus; opening address, the Mayor; overture, "Jubilee" (Weber), orchestra, conducted by Signor Hazon; "Festgesang" (Hymn of Praise, Mendelssohn), chorus of male voices, conductor Mr. J. A. Delany; "Ode to the Sons of Art" (Mendelssohn), chorus of male voices, conductor Mr. G. Rivers Allpress; "Hallelujah chorus" (Messiah), united chorus, conducted by Signor Hazon.

The ball opens at half-past 8 in the evening, and the Mayor and Mayoress (Miss Harris) will receive guests until the arrival of the Government House party. Guests will enter by the George-street gates. Cloakrooms for the ladies will be situated to the left of the entrance, and rooms for gentlemen on the right; and from the cloakrooms the guests (who are particularly notified that their cards of admission must be presented) will meet in the vestibule prior to entering the Great Hall. The cards of admission must be first shown at the outer door—no admission will be otherwise granted—and then retained until the reception by the Mayor and Mayoress, when they will be used as ordinary visiting cards, so as to expedite press arrangements. A special train is timed to leave Redfern station at 2 a.m. on Thursday morning. It will proceed as far as Parramatta, calling at intermediate stations as required. Special trams will start from the corner of Park and Elizabeth streets on Thursday morning for different localities as follow:—For Redfern station, to meet the 2 a.m. special train, at 1.45, Waverley 2 a.m., Woollahra 2 a.m., Glebe Point 2 a.m., Marrickville 2 a.m., Leichhardt and Bridge streets 2 a.m.

The ball programme has been specially designed by John Sands, and it contains some eighteen dances without extras. Mr. E. Needs will be master of ceremonies and director of the orchestra. Baskets for the reception of lost programmes will be placed at each end of the hall. It is requested that at the close of the opening ceremony the hall may be cleared as quickly as possible to facilitate the arrangements which have to be made for the ball. The whole of the vehicular traffic will be controlled by the transit commissioners under directions to be notified by advertisement.

OPENING OF THE GOULBURN Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

GOULBURN, MONDAY.

The opening services in connection with the Y. M. C. A. new building were continued this evening, when the annual tea and public meeting was held. An encouraging report of the work done during the year was presented. It stated that the total cost of the site and building was £3000, of which £600 had been raised. Mr. D. Walker and Mr. Southwell, general secretaries of the Sydney and Melbourne Y. M. C. A's, and others, addressed the meeting.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

The weights for the handicaps to be run at Warwick Farm to-morrow were declared before noon yesterday, and will be found in our present issue. The running of Rapid on the flat has attracted so much attention that he has been awarded top weight in the Hurdle Race, and even with 11st. 3lb. he is not badly off, though Voltaire at 9st. 9lb. has a somewhat better appearance. Hengist and Speculation are also nicely handicapped, and Vacy has been properly placed, so that the contest should be a good one. The Flying Handicap has Bernardo in the post of honor with the very complimentary impost of 9st. 3lb., but as he is quite at home over six furlongs, and, moreover, has a penchant for this particular course, he could hardly have received less. The Gift and Pastmaster have been raised considerably, and on recent form, the best in seem to be Re, Gaytime and Melissa. The handicapper has done well with those engaged in the principal event of the meeting, the Centennial Hall Handicap, for which Steel Arrow heads the list, and has been left with a fair chance at 8st 7lb.; and among the others that have been nicely suited as regards weight are Melissa, Fairfield, Colenso and Audacious. The weights for the Pace Welter have also been aptly apportioned, and those that should have most to say in the matter appear to be Bellringer, Melissa, Pretty Kate and Blucher.

The following race meetings were granted registration by the A. J. C. authorities yesterday:—Mossgeil New Year's Day, Gosford Jockey Club, and Stannifer race meeting.

Mr. T. S. Clibborn announces in another column a sale of racing stock at Fennelly's Bazaar, Pitt-street, to-day, commencing at 2 o'clock p.m. Among the horses to be brought under the hammer are Hugo, by Derby from Millicent; Artisan, by Captivator from Ariadne, &c.

To-morrow having been proclaimed a public holiday, in accordance with Rule 38, the general entry for the A. J. C. Summer meeting will not close until 4 p.m. on Thursday, and, at the same time, first forfeit for the December Stakes will fall due.

The adjustment of wagers over the Canterbury Park November meeting took place at Tattersall's Rooms yesterday, and passed off satisfactorily. The layers of odds had all the best of the deal. During the afternoon a little speculation took place on the A. J. C. Summer Cup, for which a line of 1000 to 80 was booked about Lava, and 100 to 6 was available bar one.

The programme issued by the Rosehill racing authorities for their December meeting attracted large nominations yesterday, the lists closing with 156 entries, as follows:—Empire Handicap, 55; Selling Hurdle Race, 11; Nursery Handicap, 31; Disposal Stakes, 15; December Handicap, 44.

The scratchings posted yesterday in connection with the Rosehill Trotting and Race Meeting, which takes place to-morrow, are as under:—Opening Handicap: Vade. First Selling Race: Una. Miniature Handicap: After Dark, Lillydale. Time Handicap Trot: Blanche.

The lists for the Liverpool Pony and Galloway Club's meeting on the 4th proximo closed yesterday, with 78 entries, as follows:—Flying Handicap, 17; Auction Stakes, 13; Liverpool Handicap, 16; Tom Thumb Handicap, 16; and Welter Handicap, 16.

The balance of ponies and galloways taking part in the Sydney Driving Park Club's meeting at Moore Park to-morrow, and not already measured, must be in attendance at noon on the day of the gathering to pass under the standard.

The withdrawals from the Sydney Driving Park Club's meeting are as follows:—Club Handicap: Calm. Auction Stakes: Lazy Girl, Little Nell.

Lamond was yesterday struck out of all engagements in connection with Brisbane Tattersall's Spring Meeting.

The following scratchings were posted at Tattersall's Club yesterday in connection with the annual meeting: Lady Carrington Prize: Grey Gown. Carrington Stakes: West Lynne, Sophy. All engagements: Arline.

The Deepwater sportsmen have made an arrangement to hold their annual race meeting on New Year's Day, when a six-event programme will be played out, and nearly £90 will be distributed in prizes.

A general meeting of the members of the Deniliquin Amateur Turf Club was held on the 19th instant, when the following office-bearers were appointed for the ensuing year:—President, Mr. Rupert Clarke; vice-presidents, Messrs. C. C. M'Culloch and W. J. Davies; hon. treasurer, Mr. A. Llewellyn; hon. secretary, Mr. A. J. Mayger; committee, Messrs. C. H. Emery, G. Rowe, S. Fox, H. Hawkins, W. Brophy, W. Tindale, A. B. Rae, C. B. Jones, W. Heriot, M. J. Carew, J. G. Evans, A. Jameson, J. Macaulay, W. Austin, J. F. Carmichael, J. D. Webster, W. Jones, C. Finney, J. Oddy, A. Brown, J. Baxter, W. Rock, J. Moitine, A. L. Clarke, H. J. Poynter and James Byers. Messrs. H. Hawkins and C. C. M'Culloch each promised a donation of a bracelet value 10 guineas towards the programme for the annual races. The bill of fare was drafted and comprises eight items, including flat racing, hurdle racing, pony racing, and trotting, and the added money amounts to £141.

A day's sport will be provided under the auspices of the local Jockey Club at Orange on New Year's Day, when £120 will be distributed in stakes over five events.

Nominations will be received up to 8 p.m. to-day for the four principal events comprised in the programme of the South Grafton Jockey Club, to be played out on December 26 and 27.

Race meetings will be held in the Northern district as under:—Colley Blue on December 13, Coulston and Nundle on Boxing Day.

A seven-event programme has been drafted by the Balranald Racing Club for their Boxing Day meeting, but the prize list is not such as to attract more than local competition.

An attractive programme has been framed by the Lithgow Jockey Club for their Christmas meeting on December 26 and 27. Five events fill the card for each day, the added money amounts to £240, and the principal events are the Christmas Gift of 30 sovs., and the Visitors' Handicap of 50 sovs.

The Moruya Jockey Club have fixed the dates of their annual race meeting for January 27 and 28, when the leading events will be the Opening Handicap of 20 sovs, Moruya Cup of 50 sovs., Town Plate of 40 sovs., and Hurdle Race of 35 sovs.

The annual reunion of the Bathurst Turf Club takes place on February 12 and 13, when a liberal programme will be submitted.

The members of the Junee Racing Club held a meeting on evening of the 20th inst., when the election of members of committee resulted as under:—Messrs. T. C. Humphrys, A. M'Kinnon, J. Egan, C. J. Roberts, F. W. Walker, J. Hopkins, D. Oswald, J. Hannon, M. H. Davies and M. Davoren.

NEW SOUTH WALES CRICKET ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the committee of the New South Wales Cricket Association was held last night at the Oxford Hotel. Mr. Gibson occupied the chair, there being also present Messrs. D. Gregory, Sheridan, Harris, Docker, Halligan, C. Richardson, Fairfax, Shepherd, Bevill, Faithfull, Cohen, Beal, Clayton, Smith, Knox, and Elliott. Mr. J. Portus was elected hon. secretary, vice Mr. D. Gregory (resigned), without opposition. A vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Gregory for his past services. A letter was received from the Queensland Cricket Association, stating they were afraid they would not be able to send a team to Sydney to play on the 14th of December, as was previously proposed, and suggesting some other date in February or March. It was decided to inform the Q. C. A. that it would be advisable to try and play on the 14th of December. The South Australian Cricketing Association wrote stating that if the N. S. W. C. A. sent a team to Adelaide this season, South Australia would return the visit next season, the following to be the terms:—The N. S. W. C. A. pay the expenses of their own team when travelling and in Adelaide, the S. A. Association to take the gate-money and pay expenses of the match; on the return match South Australia to pay travelling expenses, &c., and New South Wales to take the gate-money. It was decided to acknowledge the receipt of the letter, and not to take further action upon it at present. The following correspondence relating to the conduct of the intercolonial matches with Victoria was read to the meeting:—From Mr. B. J. Wardill, secretary of the M. C. C., to Mr. E. D. Heather, secretary of the V. C. A., dated 15th of November,—"I have to-day received a letter from Mr. Gregory, and I shall be glad if you will place me in a position to reply to the inquiries contained in the letter with as little delay as possible. I also enclose a copy of the agreement entered into with the N. S. W. C. A. by the M. C. C." From Mr. E. D. Heather to Mr. B. J. Wardill, dated 22nd of November,—"I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letters re the transfer of intercolonial matches with N. S. W. from the M. C. C., also copy of agreement. In reply to your communication of 15th of November requesting to be placed in a position to reply to Mr. Gregory's letter of the 12th of November, I have the honour to inform you that a meeting of the V. C. A. was held last evening and the following resolution was carried unanimously,—'That this association reply to the M. C. C. agreeing to fulfill the terms of agreement between the M. C. C. committee and the New South Wales Cricket Association.'" Mr. Wardill to Mr. Gregory, dated 23rd of November.—"I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 12th instant, asking in what terms and on what guarantee your association is requested to transfer the matches from the M. C. C. to the V. C. A. I forwarded a copy of your letter, with the enclosed copy of my letter, to the secretary of the V. C. A. and have received the reply also enclosed. With regard to the terms, you have a copy of the agreement entered into between the M. C. C. and the N. S. W. C. A., and with regard to a guarantee that the terms of the agreement will be carried out by the V. C. A., I can only presume that if that body fails to complete the agreement, the Melbourne Cricket Club will be called upon to do so." Considerable discussion ensued on the question. The chairman and several other members pointed out that the M. C. C. had not yet uttered any express wish to have the control of the matches on behalf of Victoria handed over again to the V. C. A., and on the motion of Mr. Bevill the following resolution was carried:—"That the secretary write to the M. C. C. to the effect that the New South Wales Cricket Association are willing to transfer the matches to the V. C. A., but before doing so the N. S. W. C. A. desire a definite expression of opinion from the M.C.C. as to their wishes in the matter." An application for admission to the association was received from the Sydney C. C., and it was ultimately postponed for the present, Mr. Cohen giving notice of motion for next meeting of his intention to ask the secretary of the club on what terms it received the use of a wicket on the Association Cricket Ground. The meeting then adjourned.

CRICKET.

I Zingari and Incogniti started their match on Saturday, on Rushcutters' Bay oval, but after a few overs, play had to be postponed owing to rain. For the former, A. Hayes obtained 14 not out. W. Hughes fell a victim to a splendid catch made by Wade off Farnell. The wicket, as usual, was in perfect order. The following are the scores:—

I ZINGARI.

A. Hayes, not out ...	14
W. Hughes, c Wade b Farnell ...	6
H. H. Barton, not out ...	2
Sundries ...	4
Total for 1 wicket ...	26

On Saturday Sydney Grammar School met St. Ignatius College, the match being drawn. Scores:—The Grammar School, 129 (J. MacPherson 33, Trickett not out 22, Mansfield 17, E. Robison 15). St. Ignatius College, 59 for four wickets (Farrelly 14, O'Donnell 13 not out, Davidson 10 not out). J. Mooney, O'Donnell and H. Mooney took the wickets for the college, and Trickett and MacPherson for the school.

The Petersham Clarendons and Kenilworths met on the latter's ground at Croydon, and the match resulted in a draw greatly in favour of the former. Scores: Kenilworths, 102 (N. Wilshire 33, R. Wilshire 21, and Pownall 17); Clarendons, four wickets for 87 (Furness 34, Young 25, and Luland 20). For the Clarendons Young and Luland bowled best, while N. Wilshire and Pownall did the same for the Kenilworths.

AQUATICS.

KOGARAH BAY ROWING CLUB.

A meeting of the above-named club was held at English's Hotel, Kogarah, on Friday, 22nd instant. J. B. Carroll, J.P., occupied the chair, and there were also present Messrs. F. Parks, Balcombe, Crane, Leeder, Lippmann and English. The secretary read a letter from Mr. T. Eldridge, relating to the punt lately erected at the boatshed, and stating that he had done more than was specified, by putting several coats of copper paint upon it. The matter was deferred till the next meeting. Mr. Hodgkinson wrote, resigning his position as a committeeman, in consequence of having to leave the district. A letter was directed to be sent, thanking the gentleman named for his past services. The secretary stated he had taken upon himself to collect subscriptions to the amount of £6 15s., with the intention of purchasing trophies for a regatta. The matter having been confirmed, it was resolved that Messrs. Balcombe, Leeder, Lippmann, and Carroll be appointed as a sub-committee to carry out the whole arrangement in connection with the regatta, which was fixed to take place 7th December next. The sub-committee intend to meet at an early date and arrange the programme.

Judging from present appearances it seems probable that the Inter-University eight-oar race originally arranged for the 14th December will not take place. After this date had been fixed the Melbourne crew wished to row on December 21st. The Sydney eight cannot row on the last-named day, owing to the examinations taking place at that time. Negotiations are now proceeding between Melbourne and Sydney with a view to having the Inter-University race rowed some time in January. Sydney is agreeable to meet the Melbourne and Adelaide crews in January, 1890.

PEDESTRIANISM.

The first round of Slowgrove's 21st Star Handicap will be run off to-day. A special tram leaves Bridge-street for the grounds at 2 p.m.

The Sir Joseph Banks proprietary have endorsed the disqualification of W. Whittaker by the Oddfellows' sports committee, Maryborough, Queensland, and the disqualification of J. M. Malone by the Norman Sheffield Handicap committee, Brisbane.

The first round of the Carrington 75 Yards Handicap will be run through to-night, commencing at 8 o'clock, when about 40 heats will be disposed of.

SIR JOSEPH BANKS HANDICAP.

The running in the Sir Joseph Banks 23rd Grand Handicap was concluded yesterday, the result being a win for C. Werry, off the limit, in 10 1-10 seconds, equal to two yards over even time. Werry was fairly supported by the public, and in the final was second favourite. R. W. Turner was disqualified for two years as his running was not considered satisfactory by the committee. The following are the details of the various heats:—

SECOND ROUND.

First Heat.—H. Murray, 43½ yards, 1. Other starters: J. Dooley 49½, R. Stokes 48, W. Black 47½.

Second Heat.—C. Werry, 51 yards, 1. Other starters: D. Hart 45, H. Darling, 45½, M. J. Learhinan, 46½.

Third Heat.—J. Sullivan, 45½ yards, 1. Other starters: Joe Price 41½, S. Wooler 51, J. Farrell 49.

Fourth Heat.—T. G. Agnew, 44½ yards, 1. Other starters: W. Neilsen 48, W. Willey 46, H. Samuels 49.

Fifth Heat.—R. W. Turner, 49½ yards, 1. Other starters: T. Pringle 47, C. Sharpe 49, J. Butler 45½.

Sixth Heat.—G. N. Warn, 46 yards, 1. Other starters: T. Budd 45, E. Lazarus 46, W. Widders 47.

Seventh Heat.—W. Bartlett, 47½ yards, 1. Other starters: C. Linden 45, J. R. King 42½.

Eighth Heat.—H. J. Harris, 43 yards, 1. Other starters: E. Prince 45½, R. M'Donald 45½.

THIRD ROUND.

First Heat.—G. N. Warn, 1. Other starter: R. W. Turner.

Second Heat.—C. Werry, 1. Other starter: J. Sullivan.

Third Heat.—T. G. Agnew, 1. Other starter: H. Murray.

Fourth Heat.—H. J. Harris, 1. Other starter: W. Bartlett.

Final.—C. Werry, 51 yards, 1; G. N. Warn 46, 2; T. G. Agnew, 44½, 3; H. J. Harris, 43, 4. Won by two yards. Time, 10 1-10 seconds. Betting: Evens Werry, 6 to 4 on Warn.

LAWN TENNIS.

ARTHURSLEIGH v. DEVONSHIRE B.

These two clubs met last Saturday on the former's court, and after an evenly-contested and most enjoyable game, the Arthursleigh proved themselves victors by three games. The Devonshires, though thus suffering their first loss this season, feel that by the kindness and courtesy of Mr. North defeat has been robbed of its sting, and eagerly anticipate another meeting between the two clubs.

Messrs. Ballentine and Horman v. Messrs. Rice and Weeler ...	3-6	6-1
Messrs. Ballentine and Horman v. Messrs. Callaghan and Yates ...	6-4	6-1
Messrs. North and Davey v. Messrs. Rice and Wheeler ...	7-5	1-6	2-6

CYCLING.

The Speedwell Bicycle Club are arranging a smoke concert, to be held at Rainford's Club Hotel on Thursday evening, December 12.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

Open sweepstake shooting will take place at the New South Wales Gun Club grounds to-day.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE ALHAMBRA.

There was a crowded audience at the Alhambra Music Hall last evening, when a new programme was presented. Mr. W. Downes sang "Click at the garden gate" in a very pleasing manner, and was followed by Mr. Delowery, who contributed a comic song. Miss Amy Blackie's singing was up to her usual standard, and for her fine rendition of "Bonnie Scotland" she received a demonstrative encore. Mr. W. King put much expression into "Sally Horner," and Mr. W. Johnson's singing of "The Blacksmith" was much admired. "When the robin nests again" was rendered by Miss Ada Maven, and Miss Kate Carey sang "I'll take you back again, Kathleen," in a very touching style. The funny element was contributed by Messrs. T. Delowery, W. C. Cotter, J. Cowan, and S. Keenan. After the usual interval, the Connor Bros. displayed their cleverness in acrobatic feats, and Mr. J. Cowan appeared in his specialities. Miss Ada Maven also appeared to advantage in her serio-comic songs, "Moonlight" and "Georgie." A sextette (vocal), in which Messrs. King, Downes, Johnson, Thomas, Lawler, and Ryan took part, was well received. The entertainment concluded with a laughable sketch, entitled "The Volatile Miller."

HAYMARKET MUSIC HALL.

There was a complete change of programme at this popular hall last evening, which was welcomed by a large audience. The minstrelsy was good, and the singing of Messrs. Chas. Washington, H. Copeland, H. Wesley, W. Saunders, J. Sayles, and W. H. Speed was received with many tokens of appreciation. In the second part of the entertainment the Dancing Dervishes executed a number of military evolutions with great rapidity. Mr. Irving Sayles then appeared in his darkey impersonations, and the audience applauded his efforts to the echo. Messrs. Griffen, Wesley, Dixie, and Speed contributed an amusing musical sketch entitled "The Kentucky Home." "Orange Grove," a musical sketch, in which Messrs. Johnson, Copeland, Washington, and Sayles took part, was well received, after which the Frietse Sisters executed some daring aerial feats on the trapeze. A burlesque, entitled "The Toffs' Banquet," brought a very enjoyable entertainment to a close.

The Adelphi Dramatic and Musical Society gave an entertainment last night at the School of Arts, Pitt-street, when the hall was crowded by friends and supporters of the society. The performance commenced with a one-act comedietta entitled "Hook and Eye," by Mr. Eille Norwood, in which Messrs. Speers, Passe, Preddey, and Miss Cissy Brown took part. This was followed by an olio in which songs and recitations were conspicuous, concluding with the Bible Brothers' neat song and dance. The second part consisted of "The Harvest Storm," a domestic drama, with characters by Messrs. H. A. Probert, C. Ritchie, C. Boulais, Jack Wallace, H. Harris, E. Corston, Fred. Gordon, W. Bruce Passe, A. Pallister, and Miss Alice Dalton. A pleasant evening was spent. The society has not yet been 12 months in existence, and, considering the disadvantages incidental to its incipient stage, has done well.

A dramatic performance was given by the members of the Catholic Young Men's Association, in the Sydney Catholic Hall, Grosvenor Hall, last evening. The hall was crowded with a most enthusiastic audience. The first part of the entertainment was F. W. Broughton's sparkling comedietta, "Written in Sand," with the following cast:—Frank Seaton (an artist), Mr. M. Fitzpatrick; Fairfax Randal, Mr. A. J. Sullivan; Tom Potts, Mr. T. Maguire; Kate Shirley, Miss F. Hoseman; Sister Winnifred, Miss A. Murphy. The play went very smoothly. A very pleasing ceremony took place during the intermission, when the Rev. P. Le Rennetel, the founder of the association, was presented with a number of photographs of the members some 50 in number grouped together and elegantly framed. Mr. W. J. Spruson made the presentation in a few well-chosen words on behalf of the young men. He gave a resumé of the growth of the association, which was now in its sixth year, and as a body of its kind it was second only to that of the Young Men's Christian Association. The presentation being made, Rev. P. Le Rennetel suitably responded, and thanked the donor most heartily for the very handsome gift. The performance concluded with the production of B. Bernard's farce "The Irish Attorney." The Coldstream Band gave its services, and rendered some excellent music.

Thiodon's Wonders and Theatre of Arts, an exhibition of artistic and mechanical effects which was shown at the Crystal Palace for some years, and which, later on under Mr. John Bennett, was a great success at the Sydney School of Arts, will, after renovation and improvement, be placed before the public again in the Gaiety Theatre on December 7.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs as follows:—At the Theatre Royal "The Shaughraun," after a successful season, was replaced on Saturday night by the "Irish Detective," with Grattan Riggs in the title rôle. He was supported by the company, and there was a bumper house. "Little Lord Fauntleroy" still holds sway at the Princess's. Mr. J. C. Miln's Shakesperian season at the Opera House is proving a great success—"Antony and Cleopatra" is proving a great attraction. "The Sultan of Mocha," played by the English and Comic Opera Company at the Alexandra, has obtained a good hold of popular favour. Cogill Brothers are doing good business at St. George's Hall. The World's Novelty Company are attracting large houses at the Victoria Hall.

The All Nations Bazaar at the Trocadero continues to draw a large number of visitors. The attendance was good on Saturday, and last night the number of visitors was large.

ARRIVAL OF EARL OF HOPETOUN, GOVERNOR OF VICTORIA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It may not be generally known that one of the noblemen attached to the Earl of Hopetoun's staff, before leaving England, chose the title of Lord Rosehill, in honour of the beautiful racecourse of that name, where races are to be held to-morrow, Wednesday.

Thorpe, for London, via ports.

The barque Ottolina is to be towed from the stream to Russell's Wharf to-day.

To-day the ship Aristides will be floated out of Mort's Dock, where she has been cleaned and painted, and come up to Dalgety's Wharf to complete her loading for London.

The steamer Glanworth left Brisbane at midnight on the 23rd instant, rounded Cape Moreton 3.10 a.m. on the 24th, passed South Solitary 8.50 p.m. the same date, Seal Rocks 9.25 a.m. 25th, entered heads 7.45 p.m. Experienced light variable winds to Smoky Cape, from thence to arrival fresh S.E. winds, with moderate sea.

The steamer Corinna, Captain J. P. Sharpe, left Launceston at 2.40 p.m. on the 23rd, cleared heads at 6.20 p.m. on the 23rd, abreast Gabo Island at 7.30 p.m. on the 24th, arrived at Eden 11.30 p.m. on the 24th, left Eden 6.40 a.m. on the 25th, and entered Heads at 9.30 p.m. on the 25th. From Launceston Heads to arrival had light variable winds, smooth sea, with dull showery weather.

Captain Gerritt Smith, steamer Konoowarra, left Melbourne on Saturday November 23 at 3 p.m., passed Gabo on November 24 at 5 p.m., passed Cape St. George on November 25 at noon, and arrived at Sydney at 7.30 p.m. on November 25. Experienced light variable winds to Gabo, and from thence light southerly to arrival.

Captain J. Banks, of the Barcoo, reports thus of the trip from Melbourne:—The Barcoo left Williamstown at 2.15 p.m. on the 23rd instant, rounded Wilson's Promontory at 11.40 p.m. same date, passed Gabo Island at 1.20 p.m. on 24th instant, and arrived at Sydney at 7.30 a.m. on the 25th instant. Experienced light southerly winds to Gabo Island, thence moderate and fresh southerly winds to arrival.

The steamer Wellington, Captain Papilin, Bellinger River, via Port Macquarie, arrived this morning. She left the latter place at 8.45 a.m. on the 24th, arrived in Sydney at 5.45 a.m. on the 26th. Experienced variable winds to Bird Island, thence to port strong S.W. winds and cloudy weather. Cargo: 704 bags maize, 31 hides, 67 pigs, 15 coops poultry, 62 cases eggs, 1 bale wool, 12 logs and 32 pieces cedar, 20 cases jam, 22 bags oysters, and sundries.

The s.s. Tonki arrived at Richmond Heads this morning. The steamers City of Grafton, Australian, and Fiona, arrived at the Clarence River. The s.s. Woodburn arrived at the Macleay River, and the Fernmount at Nambuccra River, all from Sydney.

The Buster was to leave Wollongong last night for Noumea and the Solomon Islands.

The steamer Janet Nicoll is expected to leave here to-day for Newcastle to coal, and return to Sydney to load up for a cruise to the islands.

The French barque Automne arrived from Melbourne yesterday, under charter to Messrs. Gibbs, Bright, and Co., to load for Mauritius.

The Sir John Franklin, from Melbourne, arrived yesterday.

THE WRECK OF THE BUNYIP.

FURTHER DETAILS—SALVAGE OPERATIONS.

Our correspondent sent brief particulars of the sinking of the steamer Bunyip, near the Manning River bar, and in yesterday's Herald it was stated that the steamer would probably become a total loss. Further particulars are now to hand:—The steamer Bunyip, commanded by Captain Davis, and owned by Mr. Matthew Johnston, left Newcastle for the Manning River last Sunday morning week with a full general cargo. Having encountered rough weather, she had to put into Port Stephens, where she remained until the Monday morning, when she resumed her journey. All went well until about half-past 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, when a short distance south-east of the Old Bar she lightly struck something—which the captain supposed to be a piece of floating timber or some wreckage, as the steamer was about the usual distance off the coast. This was about the spot where the late steamer Murray struck something. The vessel at once commenced to make water rapidly when all steam was put on, and the pumps kept going, with the intention of trying to reach Harrington and obtain the services of the tug. The water, however, increased so rapidly in the hold, that the steamer had very little way in the water, and her fires were being put out. It was therefore decided, in this dilemma, to run the Bunyip over the Old Bar, which she was close to. She crossed in without much trouble at about half-past 5 o'clock on Monday evening, during the thunderstorm which passed over the district about that time; but owing to the uncertain light after crossing the bar the channel of the river could not be properly discerned, and the steamer ran aground on a sandbank close to the north shore, in smooth water, about 200 yards inside the breakers, where she settled down, it is believed by the owner, on a firm bottom. Mr. Johnston, who has just recovered from a serious illness—having recently had several of his ribs broken by falling down the hold of a vessel in Newcastle—happened to be on board, and when the Bunyip grounded he sent for Mr. Graham's cutter, in order to unload the cargo. This craft arrived shortly after, and no time was lost in removing the greater portion of the cargo, to lighten the steamer. Some of this was damaged by salt water, while other portions appeared none the worse. The crew of nine hands camped on the beach near the cargo. On Tuesday more goods were taken out of the hold, and placed on deck ready for transhipment, when the steamer gave a lurch toward the south beach, and they were precipitated into the water, some of the cases carrying away a portion of the Bunyip's bulwarks. Some of the cargo which went into the water has since floated up the river, and has been found on the banks—this consisting principally of flour and chaff. The remainder of the cargo consists of iron, fencing-wire, kerosene, &c. The Bunyip was lately in dock, and had a new boiler put into her, and other repairs and improvements effected, at a considerable cost. She was insured for the nominal sum of £800, so that the accident, under the most favourable circumstances, will be a serious loss to Mr. Johnston. The greater part of the cargo—which was the largest she ever had since trading to the Manning—was shipped at Newcastle, and several residents of the district will be heavy losers. As mentioned above, a telegram that more cargo was recovered, but the vessel was apparently a total loss, has been received.

THE N.S.S. COMPANY'S SYDNEY.

The Newcastle Steam Ship Company's steamer Sydney's overhaul was completed yesterday and the vessel was swung for adjustment of compasses and made the usual engineer's trial trip for passenger certificate. The Sydney is in first class order, and the company anticipate an active commission for her during the current summer season. She resumed her trips to Morpeth last night under the command of Captain R. J. Skinner.

THE ESSEN.—ANOTHER NEW STEAMER FOR AUSTRALIAN TRADE.

The second of the German-Australian line of steamships from Hamburg arrived last night. The Essen, like the Kaiser Wilhelm, is a specimen of German skill and industry in the matter of shipbuilding and engineering, but is of a different class. The Essen has been constructed mainly for cargo-carrying, although space is set apart for 12 or 14 passengers in a comfortable saloon, and for 300 or 400 third-class passengers, if necessary, in the long poop. The inducements to place so many fine steamships—there are six or eight others to follow—in the direct trade between Hamburg, Antwerp and Australia must have been something considerable, and, as the vessels appear to be of a superior class, it is evident that they are not intended for a casual or makeshift business. The Elberfeld, though unfortunate as the pioneer of the fleet with regard to her propeller, was an excellent specimen of British shipbuilding, and Sir William Armstrong, Mitchell and Co.'s yard on the Tyne is noted for the good work turned out there. The Essen, like the Elberfeld, is also a steel screw steamship, and the material of which she is constructed is of Essen manufacture. The Essen was built and engined at Flensburg by the Flensburg Shipbuilding Company, and pains appear to have been taken in carrying out the draughtsmen's ideas with regard to proportions. The entrance is sharper than is generally the case with cargo carriers, and the lines altogether are finer than usual. This gives the steamer a smart appearance. The hull is 333ft. in length between perpendiculars, and the beam is 40ft., while the depth of hold is 27ft. The gross measurement is a fraction over 2984 tons, and the net register is 1911 tons. The hull is built in watertight compartments, of which there are seven, partitioned off by six bulkheads reaching to the upper deck. The bottom is constructed on the cellular principle and bracketed, and in the various compartments for water ballast there is an aggregate space of 503 tons. The carrying capacity of the Essen is equal to 3400 tons of dead weight and measurement, and this she can carry at 11-knot speed on the small consumption of 22 tons of coal per day. On a trial trip, with 62·64 revolutions, the speed recorded was a fraction over 13 knots. The engines are on the triple expansion principle, surface condensing and direct-acting, and they are of 1500 horse-power effective. The cylinders are 23in., 35in., and 60in. respectively in diameter, and the piston stroke 42in. There are two cylindrical multitubular steel boilers, 3ft. 4in. long and 15ft. in diameter, for the generating of steam, and there is also a donkey boiler. The furnaces are arranged on Fox's corrugated system. The machinery is of the best material and workmanship, and is compactly erected in a well-kept engine-room. Steam is in use on board for the receiving and discharging of cargo, for steering the vessel, and also for working the windlass, &c. The saloon is underneath the bridge deck, and is elegantly fitted up with dark and light polished woods, in which walnut and Hungarian ash, maple, &c., are employed. The state cabins are in the wings, and besides being spacious they are well fitted up and furnished. Under the great, long spar deck, stretching to the break of the bridge, there is ample space for emigrants, and this portion of the vessel, which is generally utilised for saloon accommodation, has been set apart for emigrants. The officers' quarters, messrooms, lavatories, and lockers, hospitals, &c., are all under the bridge, and a large portion of the space on deck amidships is taken up by the engineroom skylight. The latter is of good size, in order to secure plenty of ventilation. The Essen, like the Elberfeld, is schooner-rigged, and in a case of difficulty with regard to the engines, her canvas would be of considerable use. A portion of the Essen's equipment consists of six large lifeboats, two of which are iron. The decks are steel, sheathed with wood, and the house on the spar-deck, in which is the chartroom, is of teak. The Essen was built under special survey of Lloyd's and Veritas, and she is on the highest class in each. The Essen is under the command of Captain Schade, who has had a previous acquaintance with this port. Some years ago he was in command of the steamship Europa, which was amongst the first of the steamers coming here having refrigerating machinery. There have been considerable improvements effected in meat-freezing and in refrigerating machinery since then. The Essen has brought out a number of passengers in the third class, and there was ample space for them. Their health was good during the voyage, and there was only one death, that of a passenger who was far advanced in consumption when he joined the vessel. The Essen, after embarking passengers, left Hamburg on September 15 for Antwerp, where she remained until September 26, taking in cargo. The steamships of the line are apparently receiving substantial support from Belgium. Leaving Antwerp on September 28, the Essen had an experience of rough weather in the English Channel, whence the weather generally was fine across the Bay of Biscay and through the Mediterranean to Port Said, where the steamer arrived on the 9th instant. There was considerable delay at Port Said taking in several hundreds of tons of dried fruit for Australia and New Zealand. The canal was entered on the 12th ultimo, and a departure was taken from Suez on the 15th for Adelaide. On this long, unbroken stretch of straight steaming the Essen behaved well, although strong head winds and seas were encountered in the S.E. trades. The equator was crossed on the 23rd ultimo, and adverse weather was encountered to lat. 30° S., and lon. 90° E. Variable winds, with a high easterly sea, were fallen in with afterwards until passing Cape Leuwin on the 10th instant. Fresh easterly winds were next met with until arrival off Adelaide on the 15th instant. After discharge of cargo the Essen left on the 19th instant, and calling at Melbourne, arrived here as above.

DEPARTURE OF THE YARRA.

The visit of the Messageries Maritimes fine steamer Yarra terminated yesterday, the vessel leaving the Quarantine Station direct for sea. Naturally, dealing with a large steamer subjected to delay in quarantine, added to which was a detention by having to go into dock, the representatives here have had their hands full during the brief period allowed the ship in port. The agents do not complain at the action taken by the Board of Health, under the belief of serious sickness such as smallpox having occurred on board. The Board of course adopted the measures they deemed to be necessary and in the interest of the public, but the agents were the sufferers so far as the time left to them in which to despatch the ship. It may be mentioned that all correspondence with the ship's passengers and crew was prohibited, and any statement from Captain Bouvard or those on board as to the alleged cases of sickness was therefore an impossibility. A letter from the Colonial Secretary of South Australia was received by the agent here as to the information given the health-officer when the steamer first arrived at the Semaphore, and yesterday opportunity was afforded the ship's officials to reply. It is but due to them to say that they claim that the fullest answers were given and all opportunity afforded for inquiry and investigation at Adelaide, so that they do not consider they were in any way to blame for what followed. In connection with the Yarra's stay here, this time and the untoward circumstances attached thereto, a word as to what was accomplished may be given. Mr. A. Conil, who was a passenger by the steamer, overcame all the obstacles and succeeded in getting the ship away to ordinary appointed date. Mr. Jewett was untiring in his exertions looking after the cargo despatch. The Yarra came into port on the 10th, and was not handed over to the agents by the health authorities until the 14th. After that it was a very busy time, and at one stage looked as though Mr. Conil's arrangements, complete though they seemed, would scarcely be equal to keeping the time-table date. The Marseilles cargo was put out the same night the Yarra fell into the agents' hands, and the steamer next day was in Mort's Dock for cleaning and painting, and to have a new blade affixed to her propeller. She was floated out of dock on Sunday week last, and at daylight on Monday was at the Company's wharf. By Wednesday at daylight 1500 bales of wool were on board and stowed, and the ship was taken down to quarantine to receive her crew and the transhipment cargo and passengers from the Noumea branch line steamer Tanais. This vessel came in early yesterday morning, and transhipped 150 tons of cargo and transferred close upon 100 passengers to the Yarra, and at a few minutes past 4 o'clock the Marseilles bound mail steamer was under way out between the heads on the homeward trip.

ARRIVAL OF THE TANAIS.

The steamer Tanais, the branch line vessel of the Messageries Maritimes, arrived yesterday from Noumea, New Caledonia. She went into quarantine, and transhipped passengers and cargo there to the homeward bound mail steamer Yarra, which took her departure for Marseilles shortly after. The Tanais has 45 passengers for Sydney, and she is awaiting permission of the Board of Health to come up to the wharf.

TRADES MOVEMENTS.

A large meeting of the Seamen's Union was held last evening in the Maritime Hall, Sussex-street. About 150 members were present. The president (Mr. W. Musto) occupied the chair. The nominations for officers, which have been open for a week, closed at the meeting. The following were elected unopposed:—Vice-presidents, Messrs. J. Butler and J. Dixon; treasurer, Mr. Daniel Small; secretary, Mr. J. M. Davis; trustees, Messrs. D. Fletcher, W. Nichols, P. Anderson, C. Gwyer, H. Doudney, A. Fordyce. The ballot for other officers will take place at next meeting. Messrs. Twoomey, Davis, and Butler were appointed delegates to the Maritime Council.

The Plasterers' Association of Australasia met at the Swan-with-Two-Necks Hotel last night. About 50 members were present. The president (Mr. A. Voisey) occupied the chair. A letter was read from the Trades and Labour Council, asking for pecuniary aid on behalf of the Greta Colliery surfacemen, who are on strike for eight-hours. The matter was adjourned until next meeting. Messrs. Culy, Foster, and Osgood were appointed auditors.

The Master Painters held their second meeting last night at the Temperance Hall. They proceeded with drafting a code of rules, and decided to meet on second Thursday in each month.

A meeting of the United Furniture Trades of New South Wales was held last night at the Temperance Hall. Mr. F. Kruger (president) occupied the chair. It was decided, after some discussion, to federate with the South Australian association. At the last meeting it was decided to federate with the Queensland society, and it is intended to endeavour to form a strong union amongst all similar societies in Australia. A deputation was appointed to wait upon a firm of furniture manufacturers to ask them to extend the privilege of the eight-hour system to their workmen. A letter was read asking for aid on behalf of the Greta Colliery surfacemen, but it was pointed out at the meeting that the strike had satisfactorily terminated.

The United Labourers met last evening at the Trades Hall, Mr. Procter, president, in the chair. The sum of £10 was voted to a member on account of the death of his wife. Reports from delegates to the Trades and Labour Council were received. The question of devoting the society's share of the profits of the Eight-hour Demonstration to shares in the Trades Hall was postponed until next meeting. A number of members were nominated for vacant positions on the committee.

The Stonemasons met at the Trades Hall last night. Mr. Cremin was in the chair. Two new members were elected. Two sick visitors were appointed. It was decided to forward a copy of the rules to a firm of contractors at Garden Island, who, it was stated, are working their men more than eight hours per day. A letter was received from the Broken Hill Stonemasons' Society suggesting affiliation. It was decided to inform them that, in their opinion, it would be more beneficial for them to form a separate union. A letter was read from the Immigration Office, Westminster, asking for information respecting wages of stonemasons in the colony. The matter was left in the hands of the secretary.

The Tailoresses met last night at the Temperance Hall. Mr. P. Strong was voted to the chair. Accounts were passed, and revision of rules was then proceeded with.

The Stewards and Cooks held a meeting last night at the Maritime Hall. There was a very small attendance, and no business of general interest was dealt with.

THE NEW SOUTH WALES EMPLOYERS' UNION.

THE GRETA MINE DISPUTE.

The secretary of the New South Wales Employers' Union reports that at the end of last week the dispute existing between the proprietors of the mine and the Surface Men's Association was reported to him, when it was represented that the association was acting under the advice of the Trades and Labour Council of New South Wales in the position it had taken up. He at once communicated with the secretary of the Trades and Labour Council on the subject, the result being that a conference was arranged between representatives of the council and the Surface Men's Association and the proprietors of the mine and representatives of the Employers' Union, with a view of settling the dispute. The meeting took place yesterday at the rooms of the Employers' Union, the result of which has been in every way satisfactory. The negotiations occupied about three hours, and were conducted in the best possible spirit. It was shown that the dispute was not of a very serious nature. A settlement was arrived at as follows:—"That the employees of the Greta Coal Company be paid on the same terms of time and wages as exist at a leading colliery in the Newcastle district, the men on strike returning to work to-morrow (Tuesday) morning." The delegates representing the Trades and Labour Council expressed great satisfaction at the formation of the Employers' Union as a medium through which disputes and disagreements might be settled without recourse to such measures as strikes. Telegrams were forwarded yesterday to the district interested, stating that the matters in dispute had been arranged. A notice to that effect was also posted in the Merchants' Exchange.

THE EIGHT-HOUR SYSTEM.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALBURY, MONDAY.

This afternoon Albury was visited by Mr. William Hurrell, delegate from the United Millers' Engine Drivers and Mill Employees' Association of Victoria, who has been making a tour of Victoria, in order to bring about a uniform adoption of the eight-hour system. He reports having interviewed a large number of millowners, all of whom expressed their willingness to adopt the system if the alteration became general throughout the colony. He was, however, in several instances, met by the statement that two large Victorian millers who also have mills in Sydney, work 12 hours per day in Sydney, though posing as advocates of the eight-hour system in Victoria. He was also assured that the same firms were large employers of foreign labour at a very low rate of wages. Mr. Hurrell reports having interviewed Mr. J. Burrows, who owns mills at Albury, Chiltern, and Barnawartha, with the result that he said he would adopt the system in his Victorian mills, and also at Albury if the change were generally adopted, otherwise he would be a loser by so doing. The delegate also waited on Hayes Brothers, at Albury, but Mr. James Hayes, the managing partner, did not seem inclined to discuss the question. The delegate states that the society intends opening a crusade in New South Wales as soon as the Victorian canvass is completed, and that manifestos are now being prepared.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER OF THE SYDNEY MAIL.

Christmas Stories by the most popular authors of the day, beautifully illustrated, together with magnificent coloured presentation picture. Single copies throughout Australia, 6d; United Kingdom, 7d. Remit to Head Office, Pitt and Hunter streets.

The number of recruits inspected for the regular army at St. George's Barracks, London, during the four years 1885-88 was 23,477, of whom 12,392, or little more than one-half, were passed. London recruiting, of course, embraces men from various parts of the country; but about 63 per cent. belonged to the four home counties.

The Custom-house is withdrawn from the operation of the holiday proclamation, as we learn that a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Employers' Union by the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade states that it will be open for the despatch of business on Wednesday.

The calling up of the new shares in the Australian Gaslight Company, to which we referred yesterday, is contingent upon the purchase of the Parramatta Gas Company's property being approved.

In the Import markets to-day business generally was quiet, although a certain amount of trade, necessitated by the requirements of the season, was transacted. Flour in moderate request. The European markets are, if anything, rather better. News from our country districts shows that our wheat crops are everywhere heavy, but there are some fears as to their being successfully harvested. With fine weather it may be hoped they will be got in satisfactorily, though the great length of the straw constitutes a special difficulty. Never before have the grain stalks been so high in the principal districts as they are reported to be this year; and this remark has a wide application, for in other colonies the height of the growing grain has been generally commented on. Locally there was some demand for tea, chiefly for good medium grades. About 200 half-chests were quitted at full rates. To-day there was quite a demand for sleme, with inquiries for Melbourne, and a good many have been bought up for that market: 6¼d. to 6½d. per lb. is now asked. Sultanas are quoted at from 6¼d. Currants in steady request at 5d. Sugar is moving off at late rates, with no very special feature in the market. The European position continues weak. As will be seen from the following extract from the Produce Markets Review of October 12, it seems to be thought that the "bears" are now at work, and that by-and-bye there may be an advance. The decline of beet from 28s. in the middle of June to 11s. 3d. on the 5th August was one of the phenomenal features of the market during the year. As we have said, the position was thus viewed by the Produce Markets Review:—

"The depression of the last month or so in the sugar market has lately deepened into a panic, and successive falls in value, now unprecedentedly heavy for so short a time, seem only to add to the feeling of distrust instead of relieving it. The decline has made further progress during the past week, but a decrease rather than an improvement in business has followed, and, like another abyss, it would appear as if for each remove the sugar market would find a deeper still. The speculators a short time since were calculating wildly on what would have to be done to obtain sugar when beet, as it certainly would, exceeded 30s. They now feel equally positive, and within three short months, that it will fall to something like a third of their recent valuations, and that we are about to be inundated with sugar. Lugubriously as these prophecies may seem to be made, are they altogether disinterested, or are they made to pave the way for a coup which shall help to redeem recent losses? In fact, may not the present depression be exaggerated for the same reason for which the recent speculative excitement was inflated beyond all reasonable limits? The old advice to distrust Greeks when they bring gifts may be extended to include speculators when they talk of a glut of sugar."

In liquids we note sales of two shipments of William Younger's new brew bulk ale at agents' quotations. Business is also reported in Robert Younger's ale. Geneva is firm at 12s. 6d.; Burnett's old tom at 11s. 9d. A parcel of Balmoral whisky, flasks and half-flasks, quitted at agents' prices. In metals we note sales of fencing wire at £12 and £13 for Nos. 8 and 10 respectively. Tin plates are rather dearer, up to 19s. 6d. being now asked for I C Coke's. A freer trade in cornsacks at 5s. 10½d.; bran bags also selling at 4s. 10½d. In oils, China is now worth 4s. 6d. in small lines, stocks being light. Kerosene is held for 1s. 5¼d. to 1s. 5½d. for low test, and from 1s. 7¼d. for high; to arrive, 13d. in bond accepted for high test. Owing to the diminution of stocks, which on Saturday amounted to 37,890 cases, the market has a hardening tendency.

Messrs. Harris and Ackman advertise for sale to-morrow (Tuesday) 3500 pockets of sugar and other groceries.

At to-day's wool sales there was no abatement of the active competition ruling in the market for the past fortnight or more. All classes of buyers were present, and the biddings could not have been more active. The catalogues comprised 7653 bales, and the total sales reported, including a few clips quitted privately since last report, amounted to 7744 bales. Good greasy well skirted wool sold to 12d., scoured to 20d. The following reports have been supplied:—

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report as follows:—For our weekly sale we submitted a catalogue of 5188 bales wool. The selection embraced well-known clips from all parts of the colony, and the standard of excellence was, on the whole, well up to the average of the catalogues hitherto presented. In addition to the usual representative gathering of buyers there were several new faces amongst the foreign section, and the competitors outnumbered the attendance at previous auctions. The foreign buyers competed very keenly for all greasy fleece of average to good quality, and for good fatty pieces and skirtings. The stronger classes of good combing, greasy, washed, and scoureds met with strong support from English operators, and speculators, although bidding freely, bought sparingly. To-day's prices were quite equal to the highest point of the season, and we effected a clearance of almost every lot in the catalogue at extreme values. Notable amongst the sales was the — over JF, 111 bales of bright, free wool, of good quality, which brought 12d, from the Young district; 61 bales marked Tumbleton, from Narandera, also reached 12d; this clip was in good condition, of fine quality, and well skirted. JM over Emu Park, 47 bales of bright shafty wool, from Gunbar, well skirted, sold for 11½; and Shiel, 104 bales of well-bred wool, from near Corowa, sold at the same figure. AH, 29 bales of fine quality wool, in splendid condition, from Grenfell, realised 11¼d, at which figure the well-known AIAB over Dollar Vale clip of 111 bales also sold; this was a wool of fine quality, but carrying a fair quantity of yolk; R over Trungley, 71 bales fine, silky wool from Narandera sold at 11½d, and Mumbledool, 218 bales from Narandera realised 11¼d; 126 bales of the GC over Cudgelo clip from Cowra, a well-bred wool carrying a fair quantity of weight, sold for 11d; JR over Kimo, 35 bales from Gundagai, also of nice quality and well skirted, realised 11¼d; FT over Warge Rock, 60 bales from near Dandaloo, brought 11d. This clip was fine in quality, freely skirted, and in good condition. Privately and by auction 5440 bales were disposed of, the following being some of the principal:—Greasy: Tumbleton, 61 at 12d, 22 at 11¼d, lambs 9d, 29 broken 10¼d, from Narandera; — over JF, 111 at 12d, 17 pieces 9d, from Young; R over Trungley, 71 pieces at 11½d, 29 seconds at 10¼d, 15 pieces 10d, 15 bellies 8d, from Narandera; AIAB over Dollar Vale, 111 at 11¼d, from Junee; Mumbledool, 218 1st combing at 11¼d, 81 2nd combing at 10¼d, 26 clo. at 10¼d, 67 1st pieces at 10d, 55 2nd pieces at 8d, from Narandera; Shiel, 104 at 11¼d, from Corowa; JM over Emu Park, 47 at 11¼d, 10 pieces at 9¼d, from Gunbar; JR over Kimo, 35 at 11¼d, 15 ends at 10¼d, [illegible] pieces at 9¼d; J. Morris over G, 48 at 11¼d, from Illabo; GC over Cudgelo, 196 at 11s, 39 pieces at 9¼d, 12 bellies at 8½d, from Cowra; JW over Warge Rock, 60 at 11d, 22 lnds at 10d, from Dandaloo; Y in circle, 167 at 10¾d, 84 pieces at 9¼d, 16 bellies at 7d, from Grenfell; H over Moonbie, 248 bales at 10¼d, from Forbes; GHG Iandra, 104 at 11d, from Young; Wyuna over HCL over Downs, 239 at 9¼d, from Byrock; WC over Walla, 83 at 10¼d, from Forbes; R over A McM, 47 at 10¼d, 14 lambs at 8d, from Eugowra; D&Co over Deepwater, 30 neckpieces at 11d, 72 bellies at 7¼d, 57 locks at 4¼d, from Wagga; 88 over Mungery, 79 at 10¼d, 24 1st lambs at 8¼d, 21 2nd lambs at 6¼d, from Dandaloo; McM over Warry, 25 at 11d; GAL, 10 at 11d, from Wallabadah; McL over C, 13 at 10d from Cooise; KPT, 32 at 10¼d, from Mudgee; — over SL, 17 at 10¼d, from Willow Tree; RSS, 24 at 10¼d, from Bombala; AH, 29 at 11¼d, from Grenfell; Major over MP, 18 at 9¼d; OP over White Rock, 26 at 10d, from Quirindi; — over CO, 14 at 10¼d, from Jugiong; LP over C, 22 at 10¼d, from Cootamundra; ESH over Pump Station, 40 at 11¼d, from Murrurundi; Fairy Land over JB, 24 at 10d, from Queensland; RL, 15 at 10¼d, from Walcha; JE over Balowra, 17 at 11¼d, from Marengo; Windradine, 15 at 10¼d, from Goulburn; BL&CO over Genanegie, 17 at 11d, from The Bogan; CRY over Mudgee, 24 at 10¼d; BRR over Eugowra, 39 at 10¼d, 29 at 9¼d, from Eugowra; FGM over Mikibri, 4 at 10¼d, 13 at 10¼d, from Parkes; CC over BB, 20 at 10d, from Baradine; two squares, 18 at 11d, from Jugiong; NBH, 25 at 11d, from Darlington Point; M over H over Taylor's Creek, 26 at 10¼d, from Murrurundi; JP over Yarraman Park, 42 at 10d, from Yarraman; Young over Mudgee, 20 at 10d; SS over Mungery, 33 at 10d; SO over NE, 23 at 10¼d, from New England; CDOK over Glenoaks, 16 at 10¼d, from Naranders; JD over T, 26 at 10¼d, from Turee; HL over Y, 38 at 9d, 29 at 8¼d, from Coonamble; Bulli W over RW, 26 at 9d, from Warialda; Bulli 24 at 9¼d, from Keep It; FS over Cumboogle, 23 at 10d, from Dubbo; TR over S, 28 at 10¼d, from Cootamundra; MB, 24 at 10¼d, from Cootamundra; B over R over Trungley, 18d at 10d: TM over E, 61 at 10¼d. Washed fleece: HE, 24 at 14½d; U in diamond, 9 at 13¼d; TF over E, 29 at 15¼d; CY over Greendale, 14 at 14¼d; TAC over Gainsborough, 7 at 15¼d. Scoured: WCS over Youngerina, 6 at 18¼d; TC over Egelabra, 53 pieces, &c., to 16¼d; McP & W over West Bogan, 16 at 13¼d; G in triangle, 21 to 15¼d; BL & Co., Genanegie, 13 locks at 11¼d.

Trebeck, Son, and Co. report.—At our usual weekly sale to-day we offered, in conjunction with the New Zealand L. and M. A. Company, 420 bales wool, selling 334 bales, amongst which were—BBB, 11 bales from Havilah at 12d, 16 broken at 11¼d, pieces at 10¼d; NPB, lambs (short) at 10¼d, 3 bales black at 11d; 8 over WW over W over Bando, 106 bales greasy fleece at 10¼d, 20 bellies at 6¼d; — over JR, 21 bales at 9d; JKF in square, 47 bales at 10¼d, 12 at 9¼d, 14 at 10¼d, 6 pieces at 8¼d, 7 lambs at 9¼d; Glenvale at 9¼d; WSB inside strokes, 4 bales pieces at 8¼d; GG over GG, 22 bales at 10¼d, 8 pieces at 8¼d. The attendance of buyers was large, and competition still very keen.

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, report: At our sale to-day we submitted a catalogue of about 2050 bales wool to a crowded attendance of the trade. Continental and Yorkshire competition, strongly supplemented by speculative operators, was sufficient to keep prices well up to the level recently established, and all descriptions of the staple elicited keen bidding. French and German buyers were again by far the largest purchasers, and the enormous quantities now being secured by these sections of the trade indicate, in a marked degree, that the absorbing power of the woollen industries on the Continent of Europe has been materially increased during the past 12 months. Steadfast apathy continues for the most part to mark the operations of American buyers, but some few lines of very superior lambs wool are being secured for the United States trade. Superior greasy wools sold at up to 12d per lb., this figure being secured for the celebrated BBB clip from Mudgee, the broken wool of the same mark being taken at 11¼d. A bright and attractive little parcel, branded JO over Mattavi, from Burrowa, also realised 12d per lb., and a large line of the DON clip, from Mandamar, was placed at 11¼d. Scoured wools were not largely offered, but a sample possessing good combing properties and of a good colour, marked H & AB over Coradgery, from Parkes, brought 20d per lb. Under the hammer and privately the company has sold since last reporting 1950 bales, the following being among the principal lines cleared, viz.:—Greasy: BBB, 11 combing and clothing at 12d, 18 broken at 11¼, 5 first pieces at 10¼d, 7 second lambs at 7¼d; Don, 181 combing and clothing at 11¼d, 21 first pieces at 10d, 22 second pieces at 8¼d; Blenheim Park, 16 combing and clothing at 11d; JH over W, from Cowra, 35 combing and clothing at 11¼d; WW Griddle over Bald Hills, 41 HWK at 11d; JO over Mattavi, 6 at 12d; J over JW, 40 at 11¼d, 5 pieces at 8¼d; T over Parkes, 11 at 10¼d; AH over Pibbon, 14 at 10¼d; H over C, 14 at 10¼d; DR in circle, 14 at 10¼d; JKF, 40 at 10¼d, 14 at 10¼d, 12 clothing at 9¼d, 6 pieces at 8¼, 7 first lambs at 9¼d, 9 second lambs at 7d; B over WW over Bando, 106 combing at 10¼d, 19 clothing at 10d, 20 bellies at 6¼d; WH, 7 at 10¼d; WL over Wollar, 8 at 10¼d; GV over Drumelog, 8 at 10¼d; JG over Blanford, 3 at 10¼d; BR, 6 combing at 10¼d; PMcD over New Bresloma, 22 H and E at 10¼, 8 pieces at 8¼; 5 A lambs at 10¼d; NPB, 5 first lambs at 10¼; MN, 32 combing at 9¼d; 27 pieces at 9d; GH, 8 at 10d; JBAS over Larbert, 17 at 9¼d; — over GS, 10 at 10¼d; JL conjoined, 9 pieces at 7¼d; HH over H, 12 at 10¼d WAL over UAH, 20 bales at 10¼d, 30 ewes at 10¼d; SUD in block, 14 at 10d; JC over Attunga, 11 at 9¼d; MC over GL, 10 at 10d; L over BHE, 5 bellies at 7¼d; HED, 5 combing at 10¼d; JD, 5 combing at 10¼d; JMP over Glenelg, 6 combing at 10d; WT over W, 12 at 9¼d; Quandong Park, 14 combings at 10¼d; JPS over O, 6 combings at 10d; PL, 12 at 10¼d; ARM over Gorman's Hill, 33 at 10¼d, 7 first pieces at 10¼d; RL, 28 pieces at 8¼d; Hednett Park, 24 combings at 10¼d, 9 pieces at 8¼d; GG over GG, 22 at 10¼d, 8 pieces at 8¼d; RDB over Barren, 15 pieces at 8¼d; JG, 10 at 9¼d; JT over 2 over Spring Park, 10 pieces at 9d; IMY over 2, 6 pieces at 9¼d; TW over Bland, 40 combings at 10¼d; C BROS over BELR, 14 combings at 9¼d. Washed Fleece—JAC over E, 9 at 14¼d; W over stroke, 9 at 15d; JH (conjoined), 7 at 15d; Scoured H&AB over Coradgery, 80 fleece at 20d, 9 pieces at 17¼d, 22 bellies at 17¼d, 10 locks at 14¼d; WAL, 11 pieces at 16d, 6 locks at 11¼d; NELL&MA, 5 bellies at 14d; J M COX, 4 skin at 15d.

At the Melbourne wool sales to-day business was brisk, as will be seen from the following:—

Dalgety and Co. report:—Our wool sale to-day attracted a large attendance, and the tone throughout was very lively. We offered 4600 bales, and sold 4500 at exceedingly good prices, the market being, if anything, better than last week. Greasy wool again ranged up to 14¼d for Western district, merino washed fleece realising up to 17¼d, scoured to 26¼d.

Dalgety and Company, Limited, report the receipt of the following cable message:—

"Wool: Market is firm. Wheat is unchanged. Rabbit Skins: Prices are 5 and 8 per cent. higher."

The steamers Kaiser Wilhelm II. and the Essen arrived to-day, the former from Bremen, via ports, and the latter from Hamburg, with general merchandise.

The ship Deveron cleared at the Customs for London to-day, with 6150 bales wool, 120 bales sheepskins, 63 casks tallow, 33 bales leather, 19 casks oleine.

The following was the Customs revenue received to-day:—

COMMERCIAL TELEGRAMS.
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The wheat market is in a rather stagnant condition: a considerable quantity is obtainable at 4s. 10d. There is a moderate local demand for flour, but the export demand is slack. Feed grains are unsettled. Quantities of stout New Zealand oats are offering at 3s. 6d. without response. A few sales were made at 2s. 3d. to 2s. 3½d. in bond. Bran sold at 7d. At the sugar auction the trade was indisposed to buy, and there was little competition. Fine whites were quitted at £25 10s.; manufacturing crystals at £25 5s. to £25 10s.; brewing crystals, £27 10s. On the whole to-day sales showed a slight decline in prices for whites, and manufacturing yellows show firmness. Queensland makers have decided to discontinue manufactures for the present. Brewers' and rations are relatively rather scarce. The tea market is quiet. There is a reaction after the heavy business of the past few weeks. A large business was done in dried fruits. Currants are firmer at 4½d.

There was a fair exchange in investment stocks to-day, mostly at higher prices, the principal being Trustee Executors at £8 2s. 6d.; Tramway and Omnibus, £5 15s.; Silverton Trams, £6, £6 10s.; Hydraulic Power, to 31s. 6d.; Mutual Store, £5 10s.; Castlemaine and West End Brewery, 42s.

ADELAIDE, MONDAY.

The new wheat deliveries are coming forward more freely at the outports, but direct deliveries have not yet set in.

WOOL SALE.

Dalgety and Co., Limited, will submit an attractive catalogue of 2600 bales of wool this day at their saleroom (Chamber of Commerce) at half-past 2, and sheepskins at a quarter past 2. Badgery (Big Hill); Wallarobba (Coolamon); CXC (Urana); M and J over Cudgegong (Rylstone); GJR over Coorabarramma (Young); Anchor over The Rock; HH over Redbank (Cowra); Lue (Mudgee); Callubri (Macquarie); Glen Riddle (Gwydir); Wellengingle over HK Bros. (Brewarrina); S in circle over PB (Brewarrina) VD conjoined over Mudgee (Mudgee); WH over Mount V (Cowra), and other brands.—[ADVT.]

PRODUCE MARKET.—MONDAY.

This morning there was a fairly large attendance of the trade at the Darling Harbour auction sales. An unusually heavy supply of forage was received, consisting of 60 trucks, 41 being of hay, 4 of straw, and 15 of chaff. A steady demand prevailed, although prices for this season's hay were lower than those obtained at last Friday sale. Good old descriptions were firm. Competition for wood again lacked animation. At the wharfs fair shipments were forward from the various Northern rivers and Victoria. Trade opened quietly. Prices of new river potatoes again receded. Medium-quality chaff rather dull of sale. Well saved lucerne hay dearer. At Darling Harbour sales the quotations were:—

Wood.—Ample supplies. Billet ranges from 8s to 10s 6d per ton; bundle, 8s to 12s; foot, 8s to 12s; bakers' 7s 6d to 10s 6d.

Hay.—The supplies received were larger than for some time past, and principally of this season's make. New oaten, in bundles, was disposed of from 2s 3d to 3s 6d per cwt.; old was in strong demand, 4s 3d to 6s; new wheaten, in bundles, 3s 9d to 4s; oaten and wheaten, in bundles, 3s 2d to 4s 3d.

Straw.—Limited consignments. There was a moderate inquiry. Clean and bright wheaten, in bundles, 2s 4d to 2s 6d per cwt.

Chaff.—Moderate stocks. Good coloured lots received fairly active attention at 5s to 5s 3d per cwt.; other sorts, 2s 7d to 3s 3d.

At the wharfs the following were the wholesale quotations:—

Wheat.—Adelaide parcels, 5s per cwt.; New Zealand milling, 3s 9d to 3s 10d per bushel; chickfeed, from 3s 2d.

Flour.—The demand was restricted to immediate requirements. South Australian roller, £12 10s to £13 per ton; stone, £11 10s to £11 15s; Victorian roller, £12 10s to £13; New South Wales, £12 5s to £12 10s; New Zealand kinds, £9 5s to £10 15s.

Maize.—Stocks replenished yesterday and this morning from the various Northern rivers. Best sound lines free from weevil quoted 3s to 3s 1d per bushel.

Oats.—The inquiry for this cereal was very limited. Fred, 2s to 2s 6d per bushel. Values of seed descriptions nominal.

Bran.—Worth 8d per bushel.

Pollard.—Unaltered. 8d to 8½d per bushel.

Hay.—Well-saved lucerne sorts are in small supply, and command strong attention. Quoted £2 15s to £3 5s per ton; other qualities, from 35s.

Onions.—Hunter River kinds are steady, £9 to £10 per ton; American, £9 to £11.

Potatoes.—Additional stocks from the various Northern rivers, especially the Clarence River, created further reduction in prices to £4 to £4 5s per ton; old sorts are dull of sale.

Butter.—Unaltered. Factory made from Illawarra districts, 8d to 9½d per lb.; dairy, 6d to 7d.

Cheese.—1837 from the Southern ports yesterday. Best kinds, 5d to 6d per lb.; second quality, from 3d; loaf, 7d; New Zealand, 6d.

Bacon.—Machine-cured, worth 5½d to 6d per lb.; hand-cured, in steady request, 6¼d to 7¼d; roll, 7d to 7½d. Hams, 8d to 10d.

Lard.—Best, in bladders, again slow of sale, from 4d to 5d per lb.; bulk, 2d to 3d.

Eggs.—Fresh supplies received this morning. Northern rivers lots, 9d to 10d per dozen; Southern districts lines, 11d.

Poultry.—Prices: Fowls ranged from 4s to 5s per pair; ducks 3s 9d to 4s 3d; geese, 6s 6d to 8s; turkeys, 7s to 14s.

FAT STOCK SALES.

At the Homebush fat stock sales yesterday there was a fair attendance of buyers. 904 head of cattle were yarded. The anticipations of a heavy supply to be received at next Thursday's sales caused a reduction of prices amounting to about 10s to 15s per head. The best lot of bullocks averaged £7 1s 11d per head; others from £5 5s; cows ranged from £3 15s to £4 14s. 9600 sheep were penned. Prime sheep were scarce, and commanded active attention. The market was firmer to the extent of 1s per head. The best lot of merino wethers sold to 19s 1d per head; other descriptions from 6s 7d; ewes, 6s 9d to 7s 11d. The following sales are reported:—By Mr. Warden Harry Graves.—7 bullocks, for Thos. Baird, £5 5s, 5 cows £4 5s; 107 wethers, for James Peacock, at 13s, 1178 wethers 11s 8d to 12s 1d, 198 at 10s 9d to 10s 10d, 26 (shedding wool) at 8s 6d; 75, for C. W. Crawley, at 9s 6d, 26 at 9s. By Messrs. Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Limited: 19 bullocks (Western agents), £7 1s 11d; 34 bullocks (G. Baker), £5 8s 7d; 95 bullocks (E. and A. Bowman), £6 6s 9d; 20 bullocks (W. F. Buchanan), £6 6s 6d; 90 bullocks (W. Bowman), £6; 45 bullocks, Cleve, Fink, and Co.), £5 15s 10d, 10 cows, £4 5s; 110 wethers (P. Jamieson), 7s 11d to 8s; 465 ewes 7s 6d, 68 ewes 7s, 9 ewes (culls) 6s 9d; 104 wethers (Cowra agents), 7s 10d to 7s 11d. By Messrs. Hill, Clark, and Co.—340 wethers (Cobb and Co.), 12s 9d to 13s 1d; 1008 wethers, shorn (R. Hill and Son) 10s 3d to 10s 5d, 976 ewes, shorn, 7s 9d to 7s 11d; 110 bullocks (W. W. Richardson) £6, 37 cows £4 14s; 143 cows (R. Skuthorpe) £4 9s 1d. By Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited.—1080 shorn wethers, H. A. Falkenhagen, 9s 3d to 10s. By Messrs. MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

Seats on the Stock Exchange continue to be sought after, the admission fee of £1650 not proving a deterrent. There was a good demand for all leading silver shares at the opening meeting of the Exchange, and a large business was done at higher prices. In the afternoon, however, sellers came freely forward, and the morning advance was lost. In some instances prices fell below Saturday's closing rates. Block 10 shares were especially in great favour, and sold from £7 2s. 6d. to £7 10s. on the report of a favourable development in the mine, but this not being confirmed, they fell back to £7 3s., and after the afternoon meeting of the Exchange they were quoted to £6 19s. Briseis Tin was in demand, and placed up to 89s. Sales: Broken Hill, £88, £89 17s. 6d., £88 10s.; Block 10, £7 16s., £7 10s. 6d., £6 19s.; Block 14, £11 6s., £11 5s.; Junction, £7 16s., £7 6s., £7 4s.; South, paid, £6 3s. 6d., £5 17s.; South, new, £5 2s. 6d., £4 15s.; British, £7 4s. 6d., £7 8s., £7 4s.; Centrals, paid, £13 15s., £14 2s. 6d.; £13 9s.; Centrals, new issue, £13 12s., £13 5s.; Cordillera, 2s. 7½d., 2s. 3d.; Day Dream, 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d.; New North Brokens, 52s., 50s.; Pinnacle Tribute, 13s. 6d., 13s.; Peelwood, 14s. 6d., 14s.; Round Hill, £10, £9 15s.; Victoria Cross, 14s. 3d., 13s. 9d.; White Lead, 9s. 3d., 10s.; Baker's Creek, 40s. 6d.; Long Tunnel, £22 10s.; Mount Morgan, £6 10s., £6 12s. 6d.

BROKEN HILL, MONDAY.

The ore exports for the week were:—Proprietary, 245 tons bullion, £13,761; Block 14, 394 tons ore, £3662; British, 712 tons, £3957; Pinnacle Consols, 20 tons, £174; Pinnacle Tribute, 62 tons, £630; Central, 181 tons, £1818; North, 11 tons, £57. Some excitement was caused to-day by a rumour that a find of good ore had been made in Block 10. One rumour was to the effect that the east crosscut had passed out of hard galena and struck oxidised ore carrying iodide of silver. A rush set in on the telegraph office, and it is said that large buying orders were sent to Melbourne and Adelaide. On making inquiries at the main office I was not at first able to get definite information, but in the afternoon had an opportunity of inspecting the east crosscut, where work is now going on. It is in about 80ft., and still continues in exceedingly hard poor quartzite, carrying occasional specks of galena. The face of the drive looks about as poor as well could be, and there is not the slightest sign of improvement that could have given rise to the exaggerated rumours that were current. Since last shift on Saturday night hardly any rock has been broken down, owing to its extreme hardness. The rock blunts the drills quickly, and the contractors do not get on more than about 5ft. per week. The west crosscut in the same level is also being extended, but the face so far is in pure country rock. Something may be struck in this mine at depth, but the level now being worked could not well look worse, and at present there are no indications of a change for the better. The Junction Mine is much the same as previously telegraphed. At the North Mine and the Central there is nothing fresh. At the War Dance the west crosscut at 250ft. level is in 49ft., and the country, which formerly was extremely hard, has now turned to soft schist, which constitutes a favourable indication. At the Central Blocks a shaft is now being sunk at a point about south-east of the main shaft of Block 14.

ORANGE, MONDAY.

Mr. W. Tanner has successfully formed a proprietary company to purchase Haselhurst's rich claim at Parkes. The price is £30,000.

MANAGERS REPORTS.

Broken Hill Extended, November 19.—Main shaft sunk 10ft. for fortnight; total, 312ft. The ground passed through has not differed much in appearance from what had been sunk through in the previous month. At present there are veins of spar showing in different parts of the shaft.

Star of the East.—No. 1 shaft—152ft. level: Main north drive on course of Star lode driven 14ft., now in from starting point 250ft.; lode 3ft. wide, carrying fair gold. South drive, same level: Extended 15ft.; distant from crosscut 69ft.; width of lode, 2ft., and shows a little gold in breaking. Stopes following level producing payable stone. 142ft. level: No. 3 winze north sunk 15ft.; full depth, 30ft.; lode at foot 3ft., containing good gold. Stoping as usual over back of level in very fair stone. North and intermediate coming south advanced 8ft.; full distance, 498ft.; stone in drive and stopes is small, but of excellent quality. No. 2 shaft—1000ft. level: Western crosscut for Guiding Star lode advanced 12ft.; total from shaft, 176ft. 900ft. level: North stopes overhead without change. Crushed for the fortnight 598 tons from Star lode for 711oz. 4dwt. 12gr.; from Guiding Star, 279 tons for 66oz.; and obtained from 25 tons of pyrites 50oz. Total bar gold, 827oz. 4dwt. 12gr. from 877 tons of stone.

Lewis Ponds Consols Silver-mining Company, No Liability, Orange.—During the past fortnight the tunnel for the Tom's Lewis Ponds lodes has been driven 7ft., total 50ft.; about 20ft. should cut the lode.

Mount Billagoe, Cobar, New South Wales, November 11.—Still stoping and extending westerly from the shaft; ore substance still continuing, some of which looks very well, occasionally showing gold. Carrying drive westerly for about 10ft. high, and are now 21ft. from shaft. Have about three tons ore at surface, and two tons ready below.

South Burrangong Gold-mining Company, No Liability, November 20.—During the fortnight there has been about 23ft. driven. No. 1 drive opened going south has been extended about 15ft. In this drive there is very fair gold, but is difficult to work on account of the body of water that is in it. Have opened out to the north and have driven about 6ft. This drive prospects very well at present.

Caledonian Gold-mining Syndicate, Moruya, November 25.—Finished crushing 30 tons of stone at the Little Gem Company's mill, which gave 148½oz. of amalgam, yielding 58oz. 10dwt. 21gr. of retorted gold.

Rising Sun Extended, Broken Hill, November 16.—Contractors making fair progress sinking main shaft; have sunk about 7ft. for week; total, 283ft.; character of ground without change.

The Locks United Gold-mining Company, Sandy Creek on Loddon, Victoria, November 21.—For the past four weeks we stoped the bottom of the level on the cross lode back towards the winze 11ft.; there is a little gold, but not payable. We have started to rise in back of level on the cross lode. There is gold in the back, but it is narrow. We have since risen in the back at 160ft. level 3ft., and have a small leader in the middle of lode, with splendid-looking stone, carrying blue metal, and gold to be seen occasionally. By ponding up stone we get fairly good prospects. The ground is very hard and bad for blasting, hence our progress is slow.

Albury Company, Albury, November 20.—At No. 2 shaft, have extended the east level to 15ft., breaking down the lode for about 8ft., the lode being only 3 to 7 in. wide. Have also resumed sinking the shaft on the lode, in which the gold shows in several places.

Commodore Vanderbilt Gold and Silver Mining Company, November 20.—Commodore mine—Main shaft: Intermediate drive, north from No. 1 winze, extended 12ft. without change, total 69ft. Main tunnel: In stope, north from No. 2 winze, am breaking ore 6ft. wide, of good quality, carrying fair percentage lead. Have driven the intermediate drive north from No. 2 winze 9ft., carrying payable ore 3ft. wide, with every appearance of widening. Am breaking carbonate ore 8ft. wide on the footwall of intermediate drive. Intermediate drives north and south from No. 4 winze have been put ahead 7ft. and 12ft. respectively, carrying 7ft. wide of payable ore, with good lead average. Upper tunnel: Main drive has been extended 14ft., the last 7ft. in siliceous iron ore of low grade; am stoping over main drive on ore 9ft. wide of good quality. Vanderbilt mine—Work for the past week has been confined to stoping at 181ft. and 60ft. levels, on good grade gossan.

Adeline Gold-mining Company, Fairfield, Limited, November 11.—The lode in the bottom level is now nearly 5ft. thick; last assay, 3oz. per ton. The mine is opening up better than it promised. The winze is producing good stone.

The Major's Creek Proprietary Gold-mining Company, Limited, November 22.—United Miners' reef: Western drive, 120ft. level, extended 6ft.; total, 309ft. Had to stop driving on account of foul air. Started air shaft 244ft. west from main shaft, and sunk it 30ft. This shaft will meet No. 3 west rise, which is now up 25ft. Raised 190 tons ore, chiefly from eastern stopes. Mills: No. 1 mill worked 123 hours, No. 2 mill 120 hours; crushing 208 tons of stone for 34 tons of concentrates; total, 347 tons.

Hargraves Gold-mining Company, Limited, November 23.—Main shaft sunk 5ft. during the week in harder and more difficult country than yet met with; total depth, 227½ft. Preparations are also being made for widening the shaft. There is no change of any importance in the formation in the bottom of the shaft. Bond's main shaft: Have discovered the extension of the main drive, lower level, and have opened out on the north and south lode from the main shaft, at the same time cutting Bond's vein underneath. The crosscut on the main drive, lower level, has been extended 6ft. 6in.; total, 31ft. Heavy patches of mundic are now being met with, which indicate heavy deposits of the same material in the lode.

North-east Mount Morgan Gold-mining Company, Limited, November 18.—Pushing along vigorously in sinking. The country is still diorite, with small veins of quartzite intersecting, although hard boring; depth of shaft to date, 157ft. 3in.

Mr. Randolph Adams has presented a long report on the Webb's Silver-mining Company, Limited, in the course of which he says:—"Viewing the mine in its present condition and state of development, I consider that the first demand is a more extended and systematic exploration. Regarding the reduction of ores, the locality does not offer favourable conditions for smelting, nor the presence of rich lead ores which would be necessary for admixture. For profitable results on such ore as has been shown it is necessary to have a considerable operation—say 50 or 60 tons daily. This requires mining equipment, the construction of a dam for water storage, and erection of stamp-mill arranged for automatic handling of the material. As this involves considerable expenditure, I consider it only proper that mine development should have first attention, so as to render available more extended stretches of payable ore than are at present in sight. In connection with the water question, an approximate survey of main creek bed shows that a dam 40ft. in height, 200ft. long at top, and 50ft. in length at bottom could control a volume of 25 millions of gallons, providing water storage for large work during a dry season. The present milling machinery is not adapted for economical work, or the handling of ore in much bulk, though most of the material on the ground could be employed in part construction of a larger plant. As the surface outcrop of this lode is so extended and the width maintained throughout, I consider the possibilities of the mine when properly explored for large bodies are good, and that the estimates of ore bodies have had a proper foundation, especially when the 250 and 300 were crosscut, showing there unusual width of ore and short driving, representing in proportion large quantity. However, as development has been in depth rather than in length, and as the ore occurrence has shown greater regularity in sinking than in driving, I consider, from a conservative standpoint, that immediate work should be directed in extended opening along the deposit."

Spicer's Lewis Ponds Gold and Silver Mining Company, Limited, November 23.—The level south (104ft.) has been extended 8ft.; total, 112ft. from crosscut.

South Lewis Ponds Gold and Silver Mining Company, Limited, November 23.—In No. 6 shaft the crosscut to the east has been extended 4ft.; total, 80ft. from shaft. The western crosscut (in same shaft) has been driven 5ft.; total, 45ft. from shaft.

The Mount M'Donald Caledonian Extended Gold-mining Company, Limited.—Since last report lode seems more permanent, and compact stone is making its appearance in centre of lode. On Saturday got better prospects than ever before.

The Sunny Corner Silver-mining Company, Limited, November 21.—Three cupola furnaces have worked full time, and one reverberatory furnace has worked full time, and one has worked one day, the total quantity smelted being 463 tons 18cwt. 3qr., producing bullion and matte to the estimated value of £1494 10s. No. 2 stope: Contractors have been timbering stope up during the week, and we are at present breaking sulphide ore of good average quality. New finds: We have made what appears to be an important discovery of gossan ore in entirely virgin ground about 250ft. due east of old reverberatory sheds. At present we cannot say the extent of this, but have traced it for over 100ft.

New Mount Costigan Silver-mining Company, Limited, November 23.—Have produced 11½ tons lead bullion, containing 2025oz. fine silver and 16oz. fine gold.

The White Rock Proprietary Silver-mining Company, Limited.—Clyde Chlorination and Smelting Company have returned 175½oz. of silver and 3¼oz. of gold from 32 tons 14cwt. of ore (seconds) which were sent there for concentration. Another parcel of 27 tons is now at Clyde awaiting sampling, and is to be sold on assay for furnacing. Owing to the large quantity (estimated at 18,000 tons) of ore at grass, mining has been discontinued and the men otherwise employed.

Hero Freehold Silver and Gold Mining Company, Limited, Queensland, November 16.—No 1 tunnel now extended 309ft.; drive north from rise extended 9ft.; total, 16ft. Lode full size of drive, and nice seams of galena ore throughout the whole formation. Drive south, 60ft. level, extended to date 35ft; good lode in face, with rich seam of solid ore of about 1ft. in thickness. Some of the best specimens of native silver I have seen on the mine were taken out yesterday from this level. Drive south, 150ft. level, now extended 22ft.; lode improving. Rise to connect tunnels Nos. 2 and 3 has been driven 17ft. 6in.

Koh-i-noor Gold and Silver Mine, November 22.—The Mine: Work in connection with the removal of gold lode continued, and we are now quite ready for stoping. Smelting Department: No. 2 furnace has run full time, smelting 119 tons roasted ore, 13 tons gossan, total 132 tons, producing 6 tons 12cwt. lead, containing 700oz. silver and 11oz. gold, also 35 tons first matte, value of which will be reported after re-treatment.

MEETINGS.

PROTECTIONIST MEETING AT BALMAIN.

A public meeting was held in the Balmain Town Hall last night, under the auspices of the Balmain Protectionist Association. There was a large attendance. Alderman E. H. Buchanan (the Mayor) occupied the chair, and on the platform were Messrs. J. C. Ellis, W. M. Burns, A. Milne, A. Hislop, S. Ross, and W. G. Cameron. The chairman briefly addressed the meeting, and apologised for the absence of Mr. James Fletcher, M.L.A., which was owing to Mrs. Fletcher being seriously ill. Mr. T. Donaldson, commenced by saying he had a very easy task before him in replying to Mr. Pulsford, who had criticised the articles appearing in the Melbourne Age and Melbourne Telegraph. He then proceeded to quote voluminously from Coghlan's statistics, and particularly referred to the 73 factories which were said to exist in the electorate of Balmain. He explained that he had written to several of the proprietors of factories asking how many hands were employed. Mr. Franki, of Mort's Dock, stated that last year they employed 885, and at present there were 710, a falling off of 175. He thought Mort's Dock should be in a position to give employment to 2000 hands. (Applause.) Mr. Taylor, boatbuilder, had replied that previously he had employed five hands, he was now all alone. (Laughter.) The only one which showed any increase was at Booth's sawmills and joinery works, where in 1888 they employed 139 hands, and they had at present 142. On page 156 Coghlan's statistics showed in the last six years, in the year 1883 there were built in the colony 50 sailing vessels, in 1884 39, in 1885 29, in 1886 27, in 1887 40, and in 1888 only 9, and they built in 1883 52 steamers, in 1884 64, in 1885 36, in 1886 40, in 1887 16, and 1888 11. He quoted statistics showing that protectionist countries had a population of 348 millions, while four free-trade countries, Great Britain, Sweden, Norway, and New South Wales, had only a total population of 46 millions. Mr. Donaldson spoke for two hours, and was frequently applauded. Mr. W. M. Burns, president of the Balmain Protectionist Association, moved,—"That, in the opinion of this meeting, it is imperatively necessary that a protective policy be introduced in order to foster our local manufactures that permanent remunerative employment may be given to our rising generation." This was seconded by Mr. Scott Ross, and supported by Mr. W. G. Cameron and Mr. Price, and was carried unanimously. A vote of thanks was accorded the chairman.

BALMAIN FREE TRADE AND LIBERAL ASSOCIATION.

The monthly general meeting of the above met in the Friendly Societies' large hall, Beattie-street, Balmain, last night. There was a large attendance. Mr. J. Ferguson, vice-president, occupied the chair. A motion by Mr. Allerdyce,—"That Mr. Henry George be invited to address a Balmain audience as soon after his arrival in the colony as possible," was, after considerable discussion, postponed. Several new members were enrolled.

An interesting meeting in connection with the Independent Order of Oddfellows, Manchester Unity, was held on Tuesday evening, the 19th instant, at the Loyal Crown Lodge, Surry Hills, for the purpose of presenting Bro. John Bell, past provincial grand master, with a testimonial for his long and valuable services as secretary of the lodge. The presentation consisted of a very handsome hunting watch. The room was filled, among those present being the officers of the order and district, several directors and past grand masters of the order, together with visiting officers and brothers from the various lodges within a radius of several miles from the city. The presentation was made by the grand master of the order (Bro. A. Wines).

On Sunday afternoon a special meeting in connection with the Aborigines' Protection Association was held in the Wesleyan Church, Newtown. The church was well filled. Mr. J. Salmon occupied the chair. The following gentlemen were also on the platform, and delivered addresses advocating the claims of the association:—Messrs. James Green (hon. treasurer), G. E. Ardill (general secretary), C. E. Wigzell, and P. J. Braine (travelling agent). The feature of the meeting was an address by Martin Simpson, an aboriginal, who described the work as done by the association, and concluded by an earnest appeal to the Christian public to support the association in the work carried on at their various mission stations.

THE CENTENNIAL HALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I am sure my fellow-citizens will agree with me that it was only right and proper that the Government should have proclaimed Wednesday a public holiday in honour of the opening of the noble Centennial Hall; but as the ceremony will only take up a short time, some subsequent amusement for the holiday-makers should have been provided.

However, the Rosehill people with their usual forethought have stepped into the breach, and provided a day's sport at their beautifully situated course, and I hope my fellow-citizens will accompany me in one of the special trains, have a pleasant day's outing, give the Rosehillers a bumper house, and get back to town in time for the Mayor's ball.

[ADVT.] I am, &c., GEEBUNG.

SYNOPSIS.

Western Australia.—Fine, with light E. to S. winds.

South Australia.—More or less cloudy and sultry; in places thunderstorms.

Victoria and Straits.—Generally fine inland; cloudy and gloomy on coast.

Tasmania.—Unsettled; N.E. to S.E. winds.

New South Wales.—Fine in S.W.; cloudy and unsettled and in places thunderstorms and rain elsewhere.

Queensland.—Cloudy and unsettled generally; heavy rain places over the Peninsula.

Central and North Australia.—Fine, with scattered clouds; variable, chiefly N.W. to N. winds.

New Zealand.—Fine; N. to N.E. winds or calm.

Forecast.—New South Wales: Light and variable winds generally; S. to E. on the coast; weather warm and more or less cloudy and unsettled with thunderstorms and rain in places.—H. C. RUSSELL. Victoria: Moderately fine and in parts thundery; S.E. to E. winds.—R. L. J. ELLERY. South Australia: Warm and oppressive; more or less unsettled and thundery, especially over the north and interior; barometers oscillating; S.E. to E. and N.E. winds.—C. TODD.

Rain has fallen in previous 24 hours.—New South Wales: Generally light to moderate and heavy, but none in extreme S.W. parts: heaviest on the high lands and on or near coast. Kiandra, 2·50; Tamworth, 1·78; Bowral, 1·64; Warialda, 1·50; Taralga, 1·57; Bendemeer, 1·45; and other stations over an inch. MUNICIPAL CONTESTS.

FITZROY WARD.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the electors of Fitzroy Ward was held at Keary's Hotel, William-street, last evening, when Mr. H. Chapman, the opponent of Alderman MacMahon, delivered an address devoted to municipal matters. Dr. Maurice O'Connor, the chairman, in a few words introduced Mr. Chapman to the electors. The candidate said that if elected he would do them justice. He was not the nominee of any individual, and would go into the council perfectly untrammelled. Being a local man the ratepayers could always have access to him, and not have to send him a letter when they wanted him. He had been acquainted with Alderman MacMahon for a number of years, and had nothing to say against him as a private gentleman, but in his capacity as alderman, the speaker was compelled to say that Mr. MacMahon had neglected his duty. The state of several of the streets of the ward were referred to. Alderman Poole had had in three years £10,970 spent in the ward; Alderman Bear in two years had had £5732 spent in the ward; while Alderman M'Mahon in the three years of office had only obtained £2318. False economy was shown by the City Council in reducing a staff of men who were all wanted. Of the £300,000 loan for street purposes, Fitzroy Ward had only obtained £4000. A radical change was badly required at the Town Hall. The water and sewerage rates should have belonged to the City Council. If the aldermen did not shake off their apathy, the Government would have to step in and appoint commissioners to manage the city affairs.

On the motion of Major Parrott, seconded by Mr. J. M'Elhone, a vote of confidence in Mr. Henry Chapman was carried.

PHILLIP WARD.

The retiring alderman for Phillip Ward, Mr. John Meeks, addressed a number of electors from the Q. C. E. Hotel, Abercrombie-street, last evening. The chair was occupied by Mr. Sheridan Moore.

Mr. MEEKS, in addressing the meeting, reviewed the many privileges that he had obtained for the citizens, notably the breaking down of the gas monopoly. He denied that the council was £170,000 in debt. The overdraft at the bank only amounted to £5400, and if the council received the license fees and other revenue properly belonging to the city revenue, the city rate could be reduced from 1s. 6d. to 1s. in the £.

A hearty vote of confidence in Mr. Meeks was proposed by Alderman Beale, seconded by Mr. Purcell, and carried unanimously.

WHAT SHALL I DRINK?—The Lancet says:—"We have tasted the Montserrat Lime-Fruit Juice, and found it sound and free from adulteration. It is a far more wholesome drink than any form of alcohol." Caution.—Beware of imitations. Sold by all storekeepers. Sydney—Jamieson and Co., or Elliott Bros.—[ADVT.]

PEARS' SOAP for toilet and nursery, specially prepared for the delicate skin of ladies and children, and others sensitive to the weather, winter and summer; prevents redness, roughness, or chapping. Sold everywhere in tablets, 1s each; larger sizes, 1s 6d and 2s 6d; a smaller tablet, unscented, is sold at 6d.—[ADVT.]

CAMPERDOWN.

WEDNESDAY, 4th DECEMBER.

HILL, CLARK, and CO. have received instructions from Wm. Ritchie to sell by auction, at Camperdown, on WEDNESDAY, 4th December, 20 head high-class well-bred light harness and saddle horses, from the Gwydir River and adjoining Bangate, from whence the famous ZR horses come.

FENNELLY'S BAZAAR.

ALTERATIONS AND ADDITIONS TO PREMISES.

CLEARANCE SALE
VEHICLES and HARNESS, including
NEW ABBOT BUGGIES,
and about
40 SETS of JAS. R. HILL and CO.'S
Celebrated
CONCORD HARNESS.

SPLENDID SHOWCASE, OFFICE FITTINGS, FURNITURE, &c.

W. GARLING wishes to notify that in consequence of Alterations and Additions to be made to the Bazaar, it is necessary, for want of room, to clear out a number of Buggies and a lot of Harness, all of which will be sold on the premises, THIS DAY, TUESDAY, 26th instant, at 2 o'clock.

Among the Vehicles are the following from the famous Abbot Downing Company, which are new, and will be sold
WITHOUT RESERVE,
thus giving intending purchasers an opportunity to secure these well-known traps on conditions which will not occur again:—
One buckboard, for station use
One hawker's waggon
Three single-seat buggies, no tops
Two single-seat hooded buggies
Two double-seat buggies
All the buggies and the hawker's waggon have poles and shafts.

Six new light hooded American buggies.

Thirty sets Hill's best Concord harness
Ten sets Eureka harness.

Also, a number of
Second-hand buggies, park phaetons, sociables, two-wheeled traps, &c., as follows:—
20 single-seated buggies
1 trotting sulky
1 Putnam sulky
1 pony cart
1 village cart
1 jaunting car
1 double-seated hooded buggy, by Woodman and Collins
1 dogcart, by Angus
1 lady's basket phaeton
1 London built victoria, pole and shafts
1 four in-hand drag
1 carryall (hooded)
1 C. spring barouche.

And
Second-hand harness, single and double
Fifty new American collars, bridles, &c.
Splendid showcase (made for Exhibition purposes), office fittings, and sundries.

It is scarcely necessary to draw attention to the importance of this sale, for to anyone requiring buggies and harness of the best manufacture, the advantage must be plain, and it is only on account of the alteration of premises compelling a clearance that such goods as Abbot Buggies and Hill's Harness are to be sold by auction. Such a thing has not been known before, and will not occur again.

FENNELLY'S BAZAAR.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.
VALUABLE CATTLE STATION in NORTHERN QUEENSLAND, with 10,000 MIXED CATTLE.
PITT, SON, and BADGERY, Limited, have received instructions from Messrs. THOMAS HUNGERFORD and SONS to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, at an early date, 1000 miles of their well-known Dunbar station, with 10,000 head of well-bred shorthorn mixed cattle, situated on the Mitchell River, county of Cork, Northern Queensland.
The Mitchell River country is well and permanently watered, and admirably suited for cattle. The proximity of this station to the Croydon, Table Top, Etheridge, and Charters Towers Goldfields is of great advantage, the fat cattle being always saleable at good prices. The prospective value of this run is assured, for Northern Queensland gives unmistakable promise of being the great gold-producing country of Australia, and there can be no question of the ultimate worth of stations so well situated as Dunbar.
The rainfall is so reliable that the proprietors estimate the run will carry, one year with another, from 25,000 to 30,000 head of cattle.
